Vettraino, Warren Linds, 2015-07-27 This book explores the concept of reflection through a dramaturgical lens as practitioners in a wide range of disciplines hold up the mirror to their own practice using theatre and theatricality as a way of unpacking their individual and collective practice. Editors and authors consider the use of drama as the vehicle through which learning takes place for the leader, facilitator or manager of an experience rather than the use of drama and theatre as a tool for learning subject content. Reflective practice is an often cited term in the professional thesaurus of educators, social work practitioners and health care workers. It is perhaps less commonly thought of as the purview of leaders of industry, marketing managers and scientists. We define reflective practice in this context as the development of capacities to reflect on actions, behaviours and attitudes that impact on your own practice or on the way others engage in their practice so as to be part of a process of continuous learning. It is therefore crucial for any professional to understand how and why we behave and interact with others the way we do. SAGE Qualitative Research Methods Paul Atkinson, Sara Delamont, 2010-11-17 SAGE has been a major force shaping the field of qualitative methods not just in its specialist methods journals like Qualitative Inquiry but in the empirical journals such as Social Studies of Science. Delving into SAGE's deep backlist of qualitative research methods journals, Paul Atkinson and Sara Delmont, editors of Qualitative Research, have selected over 70 articles to represent SAGE's distinctive contribution to methods publishing in general and qualitative research in particular. This collection includes research from the past four decades and addresses key issues or controversies such as explanations and defences of qualitative methods, ethics, research questions and foreshadowed problems, access, first days in the field, field roles and rapport, practicalities of data collection and recording, data analysis, writing and representation, the rise of auto ethnography, life history narrative and autobiography, CA and DA and alternatives to the logocentric such as visual methods.

Audience Participation in Theatre Gareth White, 2024-12-28 This new textbook edition of Audience Participation in Theatre: Evolutions of the Invitation situates the text in evolving theory, emerging practice and changing contexts, re-establishing itself as the key reference point in its field. An updated review of the literature and a new chapter develop its original argument with respect to historical change in how audiences and their expectations are constituted and changes to how participation is invited, mediated and valued. Emancipatory Practices: Adult/Youth Engagement for Social and Environmental Justice, 2010-01-01 Adults and youth who are engaged in social and ecological justice in community and educational work will find this book a critical overview of the role played by adults in the joint endeavours of adults and youth. Through various case studies, the book offers a glimpse into the work being undertaken by a wide range of international educators and community development workers where common themes emerge across the different sites. The book explores the development of and the internal and external constraints upon adult and youth emancipatory practices as well as the effective adult and youth beliefs and actions that facilitate collaborative leadership in issues of social and ecological justice. The authors offer a critical examination of the degree to which youth are able to participate in decision making processes or to the extent to which they were given space and power to truly explore democratic and dialogic partnerships With an emphasis on the power dynamics inherent in adult youth relationships and the potential of these relationships to engage in democratic transformation the book examines the patterns benefits and limitations of the youth adult connections New Creative Community Arlene Goldbard, 2006-10 An inspiring foundational book that defines the burgeoning field of community cultural development An inspiring foundational book that defines the burgeoning field of community cultural development Through personal stories rousing accounts detailed observation and histories Arlene Goldbard describes how communities express and develop themselves via the creative arts This comprehensive photographically illustrated book which covers community based arts such as theater grounded in oral history and murals celebrating cultural heritage will appeal to the curious non specialist reader as well as the practitioner and student Author Arlene Goldbard is one of the best known authors on community cultural development Her seminal books and essays are widely read in the US and other English speaking countries among them Community Culture and Globalization and this book s antecedent Creative Community
