Resources in Education, 1999-10

Handbook of Research in Education Finance and Policy Helen F. Ladd, Edward B. Fiske, 2012-08-21 Sponsored by the Association for Education Finance and Policy AEFPP this groundbreaking new handbook assembles in one place the existing research based knowledge in education finance and policy thereby helping to define this evolving field of research and practice It provides a readily available resource for anyone seriously involved in education finance and policy in the United States and around the world The Handbook traces the evolution of the field from its initial focus on school inputs and the revenue sources used to finance these inputs to a focus on educational outcomes and the larger policies used to achieve them. It shows how the current decision making context in school finance inevitably interacts with those of governance, accountability, equity, privatization and other areas of education policy. Because a full understanding of the important contemporary issues requires input from a variety of perspectives, the Handbook draws on contributors from a variety of disciplines. While many of the chapters cover complex state of the art empirical research, the authors explain key concepts in language that non specialists can understand.

First Among Equals James Martin, James E. Samels, 1997-10-31 Each chapter of First among Equals explores a different aspect of the chief academic officer's primary responsibilities including relations with the president and the board, academic governance, curriculum development, new instructional technologies, financial planning, enrollment management, legal affairs and faculty development.

Financing Public Universities Marcel Herbst, 2007-05-16 Financing Public Universities addresses newer practices of resource allocation which tie funding to indicators of performance. The gist of these efforts is to raise the quality of institutional systems. Performance based budgeting and funding of public universities is part of broader efforts to reform public management and it is being promoted and implemented by various government agencies around the globe. In particular, European universities with their normally strong governmental ties or higher education systems molded on European universities are prime targets of such reforms. Performance funding has made its inroads in attempts to grant university systems managerial autonomy; autonomy was to be granted in exchange for funding modes which are tied to the measurement of performance indicators. Unfortunately, performance based budgeting or funding measures cannot meet the various expectations; they do not raise the quality of teaching or learning, they do not raise research performance, they take back a great deal of managerial autonomy which is commonly judged to be essential for the well being of higher education institutions, in particular research universities, and they act as automata in place of proper governance and management. Financing Public Universities addresses policy makers, higher education administrators, scholars and students of higher education management. After an introduction to the theme and to the book, Chapter 1 Financing Public Universities covers the evolution of mass higher education and the associated curtailment of funding. Chapter 2 the public management reform debate, Chapter 3 within which performance based budgeting or funding evolved, Chapter 4 sketches alternative governance and management modes which can be used instead, Chapter 5 and epitomizes inertia or challenges, Chapter 6. Four appendices cover more technical matters such as a comparative exposition of the research performance of universities by nation, Appendix C and examples of funding systems in the UK and in the USA, Appendix D.
