

'Who could be here?
This is a jungle.
There are no street-lights, no houses,
no shops,' said my daughter.
My son, aged six, looked out of the car window and announced, 'I'll stay in the car for the next fifteen days.'

When Bulbul Sharma first sees Shaya, she sees it at its worst. So what makes her return to the tiny, hidden hamlet in the hills again and again until she finally makes it her home?

Is it the incredible beauty of the changing seasons and the birds and beasts they usher in? Is it the convivial company of robust hill folk, like Thakur, the conspicuously hands-off handyman, and Bua, who ages before our eyes and grows younger and younger in her outlook, and the lives they lead unspoilt by urban sophistication? Or the sheer flavour of Shaya, embodied in its rhododendron wine and apricot chutney on hot chapattis? Sharma whips out her famous sketch pad and writing paper to record all things bright and beautiful in Shaya. Hers is a keen but humorous eye, and reading the observations she makes from a simple two-roomed cottage in the mountains, it is easy to believe that paradise resides there.

Shaya Pb 2004:

Palaeoproterozoic Supercontinents and Global Evolution Steven Michael Reddy, 2009 The Palaeoproterozoic era 2500 1600 Ma is a critical period of Earth history with dynamic evolution from the deep planetary interior to its surface environment Several lines of geological evidence suggest the existence of at least one pre Rodinia supercontinent named Nuna or Columbia which formed near the end of Palaeoproterozoic time Prior to this assembly there may have been an older supercontinent Kenorland or perhaps only independently drifting supercratons The tectonic records of amalgamation and dispersal of these ancient landmasses provide a framework that links processes of the deep Earth with those of its fluid envelope The sixteen papers in this volume present reviews and new analytical data that span the geological record of Palaeoproterozoic Earth The volume is useful as a reference book for students and professional geoscientists interested in this important period of global evolution

Krivolutsкая, 2015-12-09 This book addresses fundamental problems in the evolution of magmatic and ore forming processes in the Noril'sk area of northern Central Siberia Based on data on the geology and geochemistry of rocks obtained by the author in the course of fieldworks and new analytical studies applying XRF ICP MS microprobe analysis ion probe analysis and studying melt and fluid inclusions in olivine as well as stable and radiogenic isotopes in the rocks it was proposed a new scheme for the evolution of magmatism including two episodes rift and trap per se The ultramafic mafic massifs are classified into three geochemical types the most important of which the ore bearing Noril'sk type was formed in post Nadezhdinsky time as an independent pulse of magmatic activity The primary melts

for ore bearing intrusions had tholeiitic composition with elevated MgO 8 wt% and low volatile contents data from melt inclusions in olivine and pyroxenes in combination with numerical simulations using the COMAGMAT program package The assimilation of host rocks by the parental melts was studied in the contact zones of the Maslovsky and Talnakh intrusions It was shown that it had taken place only in narrow zones about 1-2 m and did not play sufficient role in ore formation It was suggested that the source of the material was lower crustal rocks in long lived rift zones where sulfides accumulated in several stages The book offers a valuable resource for specialists in the geology of ore deposits and petrology as well as for advanced Geology students
