

LOST CHRONICLES

The title 'LOST CHRONICLES' is rendered in a highly decorative, gothic-style font. The letters are a deep red with a thick, ornate gold outline. The text is integrated with a complex arrangement of decorative elements: a large, detailed green butterfly with gold spots is positioned above the 'ST' in 'LOST'; several light blue flowers with yellow centers are scattered around the text; and a small, dark, vine-like branch with a single blue flower is located below the 'CHRONICLES' portion. The entire graphic is set against a blurred background of a mountainous landscape with a small village in the distance.

After Alfred Pauline Stafford, 2020-07-02 The vernacular Anglo Saxon Chronicles cover the centuries which saw the making of England and its conquest by Scandinavians and Normans After Alfred traces their development from their genesis at the court of King Alfred to the last surviving chronicle produced at the Fenland monastery of Peterborough These texts have long been part of the English national story Pauline Stafford considers the impact of this on their study and editing since the sixteenth century addressing all surviving manuscript chronicles identifying key lost ones and reconsidering these annalistic texts in the light of wider European scholarship on medieval historiography The study stresses the plural chronicles whilst also identifying a tradition of writing vernacular history which links them It argues that that tradition was an expression of the ideology of a southern elite engaged in the conquest and assimilation of old kingdoms north of the Thames Trent and Humber Vernacular chronicling is seen not as propaganda but as engaged history writing closely connected to the court whose networks and personnel were central to the production and continuation of these chronicles In particular After Alfred connects many chronicles to bishops and especially to the Archbishops of York and Canterbury The disappearance of the English speaking elite after the Norman Conquest had profound impacts on these texts It repositioned their authors in relation to the court and royal power and ultimately resulted in the end of this tradition of vernacular chronicling

Porter, David Lavery, Hillary Robson, 2009 Lost's Buried Treasures is the ultimate unauthorized guide to the ideas that have influenced the show and its writers Septuagint: History, Volume 1 Scriptural Research Institute, 2023-03-13 In the mid 3 century BC King Ptolemy II Philadelphus of Egypt ordered a translation of the ancient Israelite scriptures for the Library of Alexandria This translation later became known as the Septuagint based on the description of the translation by seventy translators in the Letter of Aristeas The History section of the Septuagint contained the books that told the history of the Israelite and Judahites from Joshua's conquest of Canaan circa 1500 BC until the establishment of the Hasmonean dynasty in Judea in 140 BC Septuagint History Volume 1 is composed of modern non theological translations of the books of Joshua Judges Ruth and the four books of the Kingdoms which spanned 1504 BC to the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 BC Most of the era is not well documented in the historic records of Canaan however some limited correlations are found in the Amarna Letters which are cuneiform correspondences between the Egyptian government and various officials in Canaan and Mesopotamia By the final book 4th Kingdoms the historic records of the Assyrians Egyptians and Babylonians confirm the general history recorded in the book although the theological interpretation is unique to the Judahites of the era The Septuagint's translation differs significantly from the later Masoretic version of the books as it uses a different dating for the events such as Joshua's invasion of Canaan just before 1500 BC as opposed to the 1200s or 1300s BC depending on interpretations of the Masoretic texts and the Talmud The Septuagint's dating correlates significantly with the dating of major Egyptian events according to Egyptologists It is unclear if the Septuagint's dating was altered by the translators in Alexandria to correlate with Egyptian history however that seems unlikely as the Greek historians 2200 years ago do not seem to have had any records of the era of Akhenaten when Aten became the dominant god of Egypt yet the prophetess Deborah sang a song to Aten during the same era in the book of Judges As the Septuagint was based on the once common Aramaic version of the books and not the priestly Judahite version it is likely that the dating in the Septuagint is a more accurate reflection of the histories as both Judahite version of the books appear to have been edited by astrologers at some point which is generally acknowledged by historians to have ruined any historical value to the texts The consensus is that the astrological edits must have happened fairly late likely in the Hasmonean Dynasty which also produced the first official Hebrew translation of the older Judahite version of the texts One of the complaints the Romans had regarding the Judeans of the Hasmonean dynasty is that they were astrology to confuse the weak minded which supports the concept that they made the astrological edits when they created the Hebrew language translations This altered timeline continued into the Talmud and is known as Rabbinical History however it not taken seriously by historians Septuagint: 1st Kingdoms Scriptural Research Institute, 2019-12-15 The four books of the Kingdoms are believed to have been translated into

Greek and added to the Septuagint around 200 BC when a large number of refugees fled from the war in Judea and settled in Egypt. The four books of the Kingdoms would later become two books in the Masoretic Texts: the books of Samuel and Kings. Subsequent Latin and English translations of the Masoretic Texts labeled these books as 1 and 2 Samuel and 1 and 2 Kings. The Septuagint's 1 Kingdoms is the book called 1 Samuel in most Catholic and Protestant Bibles and 1 Kingdoms in Orthodox and Coptic Bibles. This version differs slightly from the later Masoretic book of Samuel, although all three are generally similar. Unlike the Masoretic version, Saul does not repeatedly meet David for the first time, meaning that either the Greeks simplified the Aramaic texts they translated or the Masoretic version is based on a different version of 1 Kingdoms. While a Greek simplification of the text is the simplest explanation for the less confusing narrative, it cannot explain why the Masoretic version has Saul meeting David for the first time in three unique stories or why the Greek translation has transliterated Hebrew words that are no longer in the Masoretic version. The origin of 1 Kingdoms, along with the other five books of Kingdoms and Paralipomena, is a matter of great debate among scholars. The Bava Basra tractate of the Talmud reports that the first 25 chapters of Masoretic Samuel and therefore the first 25 chapters of 1 Kingdoms were written by the prophet Samuel, and the rest of Masoretic Samuel, which would be chapter 26 through 31 of 1 Kingdoms, and the entire book of 2 Kingdoms were written by the prophets Gad and Nathan. Samuel, Gad, and Nathan are all mentioned in 1 and 2 Kingdoms, however, most biblical scholars have rejected the idea that they had anything to do with the authorship of these books for the past few hundred years. Almost all scholars in every era have agreed with the idea that the six books were based on the older, now lost books of the Chronicles of the Kings of Samaria and Judea mentioned in the later books of Kingdoms. These six later books are generally accepted as having been written in the Babylonian or Persian era and then redacted in the Greek era or Hasmonean dynasty, however, the origin of the earlier works is a matter of debate. The language of 1 Kingdoms is archaic, and early sections dealing with Eli and Samuel read like a continuation of Judges, implying the original book of Judges continued until Saul seized power in 1037 BC.

Septuagint: History Scriptural Research Institute, 2019-12-22. In the mid 3rd century BC, King Ptolemy II Philadelphus of Egypt ordered a translation of the ancient Israelite scriptures for the Library of Alexandria. This translation later became known as the Septuagint, based on the description of the translation by seventy translators in the Letter of Aristeas. By 132 BC, the Septuagint included all the books later adopted by the Byzantine Orthodox church as the Old Testament section of the Christian Bible. Some of these books were rejected by the Hebrew translators during the Hasmonean Dynasty of Judea and never formed part of the Masoretic text. The Septuagint of 132 BC included four sections: the Torah, History, Wisdom, and Prophets sections. The History section includes the books of Joshua, Judges, Ruth, Kingdoms, Paralipomena, Ezra, Tobit, Judith, Esther, and Maccabees. One of the problems with academic translations of the Septuagint is the use of unfamiliar names or terms, as the Septuagint was written in Greek and therefore many names are unrecognizable to modern readers who are used to Hebrew-derived names. This project uses the more commonly understood

Hebrew derived names instead of their Greek translations such as Canaan instead of Chanaan and Melchizedek instead of Melchisedec Common modern names are also used instead of either Greek or Hebrew terms when geographical locations are known such as the archaeological name Uruk instead of the Greek Orech or the Hebrew Erech and the archaeological term Sumer instead of Shinar or Senar While this could be argued as not being a correct academic procedure it does fulfill the goal of making the translation easy to read and understand The Lost Chronicle of Barnstaple 1586-1611 Todd Gray,1998
