Regional Perspectives in Archaeology Richard Tabor, 2004 This book inspired by the author's work on the South Cadbury Environs Project considers the extent to which regional narratives derived from archaeological survey are conditioned by techniques and sampling strategies Its principal sources are reports of fieldwork in Africa North and South America and Europe as well as recent technical and theoretical publications Recognising the hermeneutical process which informs every stage of the archaeologist's work the author attempts to trace through the transformation of data towards higher social and ideological accounts A means for conceptualising archaeological space on a regional scale is constructed to optimise the efficacy of the choice and distribution of techniques and the subsequent analysis of data To this end aspects of several surveys are scrutinised This culminates in a method for classifying surveys according to their distribution of resources their spatial resolution and their chronological resolution Venta Belgarum: Prehistoric, Roman, and Post-Roman

Roman and Medieval Exeter and their Hinterlands Stephen Rippon, Neil Holbrook, 2021-03-23 This first volume presenting research carried out through the Exeter A Place in Time project provides a synthesis of the development of Exeter within its local regional national and international hinterlands Exeter began life in c AD 55 as one of the most important legionary bases within early Roman Britain and for two brief periods in the early and late 60s AD Exeter was a critical centre of Roman power within the new province When the legion moved to Wales the fortress was converted into the civitas capital for the Dumnonii Its development as a town was however relatively slow reflecting the gradual pace at which the region as a whole adapted to being part of the Roman world The only evidence we have for occupation within Exeter between the 5th and 8th centuries is for a church in what was later to become the Cathedral Close In the late 9th century however Exeter became a defended burh and this was followed by the revival of urban life Exeter's wealth was in part derived from its central role in the south west's tin industry and by the late 10th century Exeter was the fifth most productive mint in England Exeter's importance continued to grow as it became an episcopal and royal centre and excavations within Exeter have
