Hit the Ground Kneeling Stephen Cottrell, 2021-08-31 When someone hits the ground running there is all the superficial attraction of movement and progress But there is no guarantee that they are going in the right direction In Hit The Ground Kneeling Stephen Cottrell takes common statements about leadership statements that we often take for granted and challenges them in the light of the Christian faith and Christian perspectives on leadership Wherever you exercise leadership at work organizing a home or doing something like coaching a local football team the author playfully suggests some models of leadership that can help you whether or not you reckon you re a Christian

EBOOK: Enhancing Learning, Teaching, Assessment and Curriculum in Higher Education Veronica Bamber, Paul Trowler, Murray Saunders, Peter Knight, 2009-03-16 Higher education is a particularly complex site for enhancement initiatives This book offers those involved in change a coherent conceptual overview of enhancement approaches of the change context and of the probable interactions between them The book sets enhancement within a particular type of change dynamic which focuses on social practices The aim is to base innovation and change on the probabilities of desired outcomes materializing rather than on the romanticism of policies that underestimate the sheer difficulty of making a difference Following a theoretical introduction to these ideas there are case studies from the UK Australia New Zealand South Africa and Norway at the national institutional departmental and individual levels illustrating the argument that enhancement is best achieved when it works with social practices in real institutional and organizational settings In a final section the authors link the case examples and theoretical frameworks inviting readers to consider their own enhancement situations and apply the frameworks for action offered in earlier sections of the book The book doesn't offer quick fix solutions but aims to support change with practical examples conceptual tools and reflexive questions for those involved in change at all levels It is key reading for higher education lecturers managers educational developers and policy makers The Career Game Loop Jessica Lindl, 2025-04-22 Design a more fulfilling resilient career for the new world of work In The Career Game Loop Learn to Earn in the New Economy veteran gaming education and social impact executive Jessica Lindl delivers an exciting playbook for navigating today's dynamic career landscape inspired by an unlikely source gaming Drawing parallels between gaming and career advancement you'll explore why learning earning and advancing are continuous interwoven and life long processes and how you can navigate a fulfilling career in the 21st century economy Lindl dives deep into the data of modern job hunting training networking recruitment and more as she tells the stories of real people who have overcome daunting obstacles to find the career they've always dreamed of She also explains the mindsets behaviors and practice tips drawn from gaming you can implement immediately to create resilient future proof careers in a world where adaptability is the ultimate employees think about work on Becoming A Language Educator Christine Pears Casanave, Sandra R.

Schechter, 2012-11-12 These personal essays by first and second language researchers and practitioners reflect on issues events and people in their lives that helped them carve out their career paths or clarify an important dimension of their missions as educators Their narratives depict the ways in which professionals from diverse backgrounds and work settings have grappled with issues in language education that concern all of us the sources and development of beliefs about language and education the constructing of a professional identity in the face of ethical and ideological dilemmas and the constraints and inspirations of teaching and learning environments They have come together as a collective to engage in a courageous new form of academic discourse one with the potential to change the field Many of the authors write their stories of having begun their work with voices positioned at the margins Now as established professionals they feel strong enough collectively to risk the telling and through their telling to encourage other voices This volume is intended to provide graduate students teachers and researchers in language education with insights into the struggles that characterize the professional development of language educators Both readers and contributors should use the stories to view their own professional lives from fresh perspectives and be inspired to reflect in new ways on the ideological ethical and philosophical underpinnings of

Cannon, 1991 Betty Cannon is the first to explore the implications of Sartrean philosophy for the Freudian psychoanalytic tradition Drawing upon Sartre's work as well as her own experiences as a practicing therapist she shows that Sartre was a fellow traveler who appreciated Freud's psychoanalytic achievements but rebelled against the determinism of his metatheory The mind Sartre argued cannot be reduced to a collection of drives and structures nor is it enslaved to its past as Freud's work suggested Sartre advocated an existentialist psychoanalysis based on human freedom and the self's ability to reshape its own meaning and value Through the Sartrean approach Cannon offers a resolution to the crisis in psychoanalytic metatheory created by the current emphasis on relational needs By comparing Sartre with Freud and influential post-Freudians like Melanie Klein Otto Kernber Margaret Mahler D W Winnicott Heinz Kohut Harry Stack Sullivan and Jacques Lacan she demonstrates why the Sartrean model transcends the limitations of traditional Freudian metatheory In the process she adds a new dimension to our understanding of Sartre and his place in twentieth century philosophy *California.
