Relative Values Reconfiguring Kinship Studies:

Relative Values Sarah Franklin, Susan McKinnon, 2009 DIVA collection of essays that redefine and transform the field of kinship div Relative Values Sarah Franklin, Susan McKinnon, 2002-02-22 A collection of essays that redefine and transform the field of kinship Relatedness in Assisted Reproduction Tabitha Freeman, Susanna Graham, Fatemeh Ebtehaj, Martin Richards, 2014-08-14 Assisted reproduction challenges and reinforces traditional understandings of family kinship and identity Sperm egg and embryo donation and surrogacy raise questions about relatedness for parents children and others involved in creating and raising a child How socially morally or psychologically significant is a genetic link between a donor conceived child and their donor What should children born through assisted reproduction be told about their origins Does it matter if a parent is genetically unrelated to their child How do experiences differ for men and women using collaborative reproduction in heterosexual or same sex couples single parent families or co parenting arrangements What impact does the wider cultural socio legal and regulatory context have In this multidisciplinary book an international team of academics and clinicians bring together new empirical research and social science legal and bioethical perspectives to explore the key issue of relatedness in assisted reproduction Identity Politics and the New Genetics Katharina Schramm, David Skinner, Richard Rottenburg, 2012-01-01 Racial and ethnic categories have appeared in recent scientific work in novel ways and in relation to a variety of disciplines medicine forensics population genetics and also developments in popular genealogy Once again biology is foregrounded in the discussion of human identity Of particular importance is the preoccupation with origins and personal discovery and the increasing use of racial and ethnic categories in social policy This new genetic knowledge expressed in technology and practice has the potential to disrupt how race and ethnicity are debated managed and lived As such this volume investigates the ways in which existing social categories are both maintained and transformed at the intersection of the natural sciences and the cultural politics The contributors include medical researchers anthropologists historians of science and sociologists of race relations together they explore the new and challenging landscape where biology becomes the stuff of identity Holding Worlds Together: Ethnographies of Knowing and Belonging, Studies of globalization tend to foreground movements mobilities or flows while structures that remain stable and unchanged are often ignored This volume foregrounds the latter Discarding the term globalization for analytic purposes this volume suggests that the significance of globalizing processes is best understood as an experiential imaginary and epistemological dimension in people s lives The authors explore how meaningful relations are made when the socially local is not necessarily the geographically near and how connections are made and unmade that reach beyond the specificity of time and place Finally this volume is about the ways knowledge and received wisdom are challenged and recast through processes of re scaling and how the understanding of locality and identity are transformed as a result Ancestors and Relatives Eviatar Zerubavel, 2012-01-26 Noted social scientist Eviatar Zerubavel casts a critical eye on how we trace our past individually and collectively arguing that rather than simply find out who our ancestors are from genetics or history we actually create the stories that make them our ancestors

Twins Talk Dona Lee Davis, 2015-01-01 Twins Talk is an ethnographic study of identical twins in the United States a study unique in that it considers what twins have to say about themselves instead of what researchers have written about them It presents in the first person the grounded and practical experiences of twins as they engage both individually and together the who am I and who are we questions of life Here the twins themselves are the stars Dona Lee Davis conducted conversational interviews with twenty two sets of identical twins attending the Twins Days Festival in Twinsburg Ohio the largest such gathering in the world Lively and often opinionated each twin comes through as a whole person who at the same time maintains a special bond that the vast majority of people will never experience The study provides a distinctive and enlightening insider's challenge to the nature nurture debates that dominate contemporary research on twins The author herself an identical twin draws on aspects of her own life to inform her analysis of the data throughout the text Each chapter addresses a different theme from multiple viewpoints including those of popular science writers scientific researchers and singletons as well as those of the twins themselves

Creative Families Jana Mikats, Susanne Kink-Hampersberger, Libora Oates-Indruchová, 2021-06-01 This edited collection brings together two strands of current discussions in gender research through the concept of creativity First it addresses creativity in the context of the family by exploring changing and newly emergent family forms and ways of creating and maintaining intimate relationships Creativity here is understood not as just newness or originality but as that which in the words of Eisler and Montouri 2007 supports nurtures and actualizes life by increasing the number of choices open to individuals and communities One aim of this book therefore is to investigate the social collaborative and creative interactions in contemporary family and kin formations in Europe Second the volume examines how new media and technologies are entering and shaping everyday family lives Technological transformations and adaptations have not only enabled the creation of new forms of families and ways of family living but also challenged the established constellations of gender and family arrangements The present volume addresses these issues from multiple perspectives and in different contexts and explores the involvement of different actors By problematizing the creativity of becoming and doing family and kinship the authors acknowledge the increasing fluidity of gender identities the evolving diversity of relationships and the permeation of technology into daily life

What About the Family? Hilde Lindemann, Janice McLaughlin, Marian A. Verkerk, 2019-04-01 Health and social care decisions and how they impact a family are often viewed from the perspective of the individual family member making them for example the role of the parent in surrogacy questions the care of the elderly or decisions that involve fetuses or organ donations This volume represents a concerted collaborative effort to depart from this practice it shows rather that the family unit as a whole shapes and influences the patient's decisions and very understanding of the choice at hand The family is intrinsic and inseparable from such ethical choices This deeper level of thinking about families and health care poses an entirely new set of difficult questions Which family members are relevant in influencing a patient and why is this so What is a family in the first place What duties does a family have to its own members This volume edited by bioethicists Hilde Lindemann Marian Verkerk and Janice McLaughlin develops an ethic radically distinct from health care ethics feminist ethics or an ethic of care even though authors draw on many of the resources those approaches offer What makes an ethics of families distinctive is that it theorizes relationships characterized by ongoing intimacy and partiality among people who are not interchangeable and remains centered on the practices of responsibility arising from these relationships What About the Family represents an interdisciplinary effort drawing among other resources on its authors backgrounds in sociology nursing philosophy bioethics and the medical sciences Contributors begin from the assumption that any ethical examination of the significance of family ties to health and social care will benefit from a dialogue with the debates about family occurring in these other disciplinary areas and examine why families matter how families are recognized how families negotiate responsibilities how families can participate in treatment decision making and how justice operates in families

Social Bodies Helen Lambert, Maryon McDonald, 2009-03-01 A proliferation of press headlines social science texts and ethical concerns about the social implications of recent developments in human genetics and biomedicine have created a sense that at least in European and American contexts both the way we treat the human body and our attitudes towards it have changed This volume asks what really happens to social relations in the face of new types of transaction such as organ donation forensic identification and other new medical and reproductive technologies that involve the use of corporeal material Drawing on comparative insights into how human biological material is treated it aims to consider how far human bodies and their components are themselves inherently social The case studies ranging from animal human transformations in Amazonia to forensic reconstruction in post conflict Serbia and the treatment of Native American specimens in English museums all underline that without social relations there are no bodies but only human remains The volume gives us new and striking ethnographic insights into bodies as sociality as well as a potentially powerful analytical reconsideration of notions of embodiment It makes a novel contribution too to science and society debates

Whiteness, Class and the Legacies of Empire K. Tyler, 2012-04-11 This book explores why it is white ethnicity has been rendered invisible arguing that contemporary people's conceptions of themselves are conditioned by and derive from the unknown and forgotten legacy of a colonial past that cannot be confined to the past

Ethical Problems and Genetics Practice Michael Parker, 2012-04-05 Ethical Problems and Genetics Practice provides a rich case based account of the ethical issues arising in the genetics clinic and laboratory By analysing a wide range of evocative and often arresting cases from practice Michael Parker provides a compelling insight into the complex moral world of the contemporary genetics professional and the challenges they face in the care of patients and their families This book is essential reading for anyone interested in the ethical issues arising in everyday genetics practice Ethical Problems and Genetics Practice is also a sustained engagement with the relationships between bioethics and social science In proposing and exemplifying a new approach to bioethics it makes a significant contribution to debates on methods and interdisciplinarity and will therefore also appeal to all those concerned with theoretical and methodological approaches to bioethics and social science The Cambridge Handbook for the Anthropology of Gender and Sexuality Cecilia McCallum, Silvia Posocco, Martin Fotta, 2023-10-19 The tense but enduring engagement between anthropology and gender and sexuality studies has had profound effects upon anthropological theory and practice Bringing together contributions from an international team of authors this Handbook shows that anthropological work has taken inspiration from feminist and LGBTQI movements to create a transformative body of research It provides an accessible state of the art overview of the anthropology of gender and sexuality whilst also documenting its historical emergence highlighting the varied impact gender and sexuality studies have had on anthropological theory It is split into five parts with each chapter introducing a contemporary anthropological theory through in depth ethnographical discussion It features intersectional black and indigenous authors providing a forum for established and emerging voices to gesture towards futures of anthropology of gender and sexuality Authoritative and cutting edge it is essential reading for researchers and students in anthropology and will set the agenda for future research in the field Digital Photography and Everyday Life Edgar Gómez Cruz, Asko Lehmuškallio, 2016-05-20 Digital Photography and Everyday Life Empirical studies on material visual practices explores the role that digital photography plays within everyday life With contributors from ten different countries and backgrounds in a range of academic disciplines including anthropology media studies and visual culture this collection takes a uniquely broad perspective on photography by situating the image making process in wider discussions on the materiality and visibility of photographic practices and explores these through empirical case studies By focusing on material visual practices the book presents a comprehensive overview of some of the main challenges digital photography is bringing to everyday life It explores how the digitization of photography has a wide reaching impact on the use of the medium as well as on the kinds of images that can be produced and the ways in which camera technology is developed The exploration goes beyond mere images to think about cameras mediations and technologies as key elements in the development of visual digital cultures Digital Photography and Everyday Life will be of great interest to students and scholars of Photography Contemporary Art Visual Culture and Media Studies as well as those studying Communication Cultural Anthropology and Science and Technology Studies A Nation of Descendants Francesca Morgan, 2021-09-15 From family trees written in early American bibles to birther conspiracy theories genealogy has always mattered in the United States whether for taking stock of kin when organizing a family reunion or drawing on membership by blood or other means to claim rights to land inheritances and more And since the advent of DNA kits that purportedly trace genealogical relations through genetics millions of people have used them to learn about their medical histories biological parentage and ethnic background A Nation of Descendants traces Americans fascination with tracking family lineage through three centuries Francesca Morgan examines how specific groups throughout history grappled with finding and recording their forebears focusing on Anglo American white Mormon African American Jewish and Native American people Morgan also describes how individuals and researchers use genealogy for personal and scholarly purposes and she explores how local businesspeople companies like Ancestry com and Henry Louis Gates Jr s Finding Your Roots series powered the commercialization and commodification of genealogy

Infertility in a Crowded Country Holly Donahue Singh, 2022-12-06 In Lucknow the capital of India s most populous state the stigmas and colonial legacies surrounding sexual propriety and population growth affect how Muslim women often in poverty cope with infertility In Infertility in a Crowded Country Holly Donahue Singh draws on interviews observation and autoethnographic perspectives in local communities and Lucknow s infertility clinics to examine access to technology and treatments and to explore how pop culture shapes the reproductive paths of women and their supporters through clinical spaces health camps religious sites and adoption agencies Donahue Singh finds that women are willing to transgress social and religious boundaries to seek healing By focusing on interpersonal connections Infertility in a Crowded Country provides a fascinating starting point for discussions of family kinship and gender the global politics of reproduction and reproductive technologies and ideologies and social practices around creating families

History Within Marianne Sommer, 2016-05-27 Personal genomics services such as 23andMe and Ancestry com now offer what once was science fiction the ability to sequence and analyze an individual s entire genetic code promising in some cases facts about that individual s ancestry that may have remained otherwise lost Such services draw on and contribute to the science of human population genetics that attempts to reconstruct the history of humankind including the origin and movement of specific populations Is it true though that who we are and where we come from is written into the sequence of our genomes Are genes better documents for determining our histories and identities than fossils or other historical sources Our interpretation of gene sequences like our interpretation of other historical evidence inevitably tells a story laden with political and moral values Focusing on the work of Henry Fairfield Osborn Julian Sorell Huxley and Luigi Luca Cavalli Sforza in paleoanthropology evolutionary biology and human population genetics History Within asks how the sciences of human origins whether through the museum the zoo or the genetics lab have shaped our idea of what it means to be human How have these biologically based histories influenced our ideas about nature society and culture As Marianne Sommer shows the stories we tell about bones organisms and molecules often change the world

On Cloning John Harris, 2004-07-31 Cloning few words have as much potential to grip our imagination or grab the headlines No longer the stuff of science fiction or Star Wars it is happening now Yet human cloning is currently banned throughout the world and therapeutic cloning banned in many countries In this highly controversial book John Harris does a lot more than ask why we are so afraid of cloning He presents a deft and informed defence of human cloning carefully exposing the rhetorical and highly dubious arguments against it He begins with an introduction to what a human clone is before tackling some of the most common and frequently bizarre criticisms of cloning Is it really wicked Can we regulate it What about the welfare of cloned children Does it turn human beings into commodities Dismissing one by one some of the myths about human cloning in particular that it is degrading and unsafe he astutely argues that some of our most cherished values such as the freedom to start a family and the freedom from state control actually support the case for human cloning Offering a brave and lucid insight into this ethical minefield John Harris at last shows that far from ending the diversity of human life or creating a race of super clones cloning has the power to improve and heal human life The Imprint of Another Life Margaret Homans, 2013-07-18

The Imprint of Another Life Adoption Narratives and Human Possibility addresses a series of questions about common beliefs about adoption Underlying these beliefs is the assumption that human qualities are innate and intrinsic an assumption often held by adoptees and their families sometimes at great emotional cost This book explores representations of adoption transracial transnational and domestic same race adoption that reimagine human possibility by questioning this assumption and conceiving of alternatives Literary scholar Margaret Homans examines fiction making a special relationship to themes of adoption as if a form of family making fabricated or fictional instead of biological or real Adoption has tended to generate stories rather than uncover bedrock truths Adoptive families are made not born in the words of novelist Jeanette Winterson adopted children are self invented because we have to be In attempting to recover their lost histories and identities adoptees create new stories about themselves While some believe that adoptees cannot be whole unless they reconnect with their origins others believe that privileging biology reaffirms hierarchies such as those of race that harm societies and individuals Adoption is lived and represented through an irresolvable tension between belief in the innate nature of human traits and belief in their constructedness contingency and changeability The book shows some of the ways in which literary creation and a concept of adoption as a form of creativity manages this tension The texts examined include fiction e g classic novels such as Silas Marner What Maisie Knew and Beloved memoirs by adoptees adoptive parents and birthmothers drama documentary films advice manuals social science writing and published interviews with adoptees parents and birth parents Along the way the book tracks the quests of adoptees who whether or not they meet their original families must construct their own stories rather than finding them follows transnational adoptees as they return hopes held high to Korea and China looks over the shoulders of a generation of girls adopted from China as they watch Disney's iconic Mulan with its alluring story of destiny written on the skin and listens to birthmothers as they struggle to tell painful secrets held for decades This book engages in debates within adoption studies women's and gender studies transnational studies and ethnic studies it will appeal to literary scholars and critics including specialists in memoir or narrative theory and to general readers interested in adoption and in race Television and the Genetic Imaginary Sofia Bull, 2019-05-30 This book examines the complex ways in which television articulates ideas about DNA in the early 21st century Considering television's distinct aesthetic and narrative forms as well as its specific cultural roles it identifies TV as a key site for the genetic imaginary The book addresses the key themes of complexity and kinship which function as nodes around which older essentialist notions about the human genome clash with newly emergent post genomic sensibilities Analysing a wide range of US and UK programmes from science documentaries science fiction serials and crime procedurals to family history programmes sitcoms and reality shows Television and the Genetic Imaginary illustrates the extent to which molecular frameworks of understanding now permeate popular culture
