Religion and Community in the New Urban America Paul D. Numrich, Elfriede Wedam, 2015-03-16 Religion and Community in the New Urban America examines the interrelated transformations of cities and urban congregations The authors ask how the new metropolis affects local religious communities and what role those communities play in creating the new metropolis Through an in depth study of fifteen Chicago congregations Catholic parishes Protestant churches Jewish synagogues Muslim mosques and a Hindu temple both city and suburban this book describes congregational life and measures congregational influences on urban environments Paul D Numrich and Elfriede Wedam challenge the view held by many urban studies scholars that religion plays a small role if any in shaping postindustrial cities and that religious communities merely adapt to urban structures in a passive fashion Taking into account the spatial distribution of constituents internal traits and external actions each congregation s urban impact is plotted on a continuum of weak to moderate to strong thus providing a nuanced understanding of the significance of religion in the contemporary urban context Presenting a thoughtful analysis that includes maps of each congregation in its social geographic setting the authors offer an insightful look into urban community life today from congregations to the places in which they are embedded Religion, Community and Development Gurpreet Mahajan, Surinder S. individual matter The ideas of eretz Yisrael the umma of Islam the Buddhist sangha the Christian church and the Hindu sampradaya are critically analysed Ward also considers the doctrine of the church in Aquinas Calvin Schleiermacher and Tillich and develops a view of the church in a global perspective by means of both a historical and thematic approach He proposes a radical vision of the church as a person affirming world transforming society in the emerging global community of many faiths and cultures The relation of religious belief and morality and the ambiguous role of religion in society is investigated and the need for a new religious paradigm is defended expressing a global perspective without insistence on uniformity
