Praying the Gospel of Mark Jack Lee Seymour, 1989-01-01      Preaching Mark's Gospel Richard A. Jensen, 1996 In a classic case of failing to see the forest for the trees Jensen a homiletics professor and author of two works on narrative preaching says that preachers tend to analyze biblical books to glean the slightest bits of exegetical data yet miss the thrust of the overarching story they try to convey Jensen contends that preachers get too caught up in an analytical left brained mentality that obscures the power and meaning of the good news story In these pages Jensen helps us approach Mark's gospel with eyes wide open rather than with microscope in hand He treats Mark's gospel as a narrative whole and challenges preachers to tell the gospel's story to their congregations In doing so Jensen emphasizes the strength of biblical stories He says that these stories are powerful in and of themselves and that they work without much explanatory help The problem is that listeners never hear the entire story because it's always told to them in bits and pieces Jensen's adaptation of what Robert Alter author of The Art of Biblical Narrative calls narrative analogy assumes that parallel acts or situations are used to comment on each other in biblical narrative In other words if Mark told story B to flesh out the reality of story A then perhaps preachers today can do the same thing in their preaching Students of Jensen have enthusiastically embraced this approach This is great we never get to hear them stories whole How did it ever occur to us that we could improve on the story of the Prodigal Son for example by reducing it to ideas Richard A Jensen teaches homiletics at Wartburg Seminary in Dubuque Iowa and Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago He is best known for his ten year stint as preacher for the national radio program Lutheran Vespers He has also produced a television series titled Reflections and one titled Rhapsody
