Prebiding Tasks Of Chinas Economic Trans:

Producer Services in China Anthony G.O. Yeh, Fiona F. Yang, 2013-02-11 In the past three decades China has experienced an unprecedented pace of economic and urban development. Its economy is now transforming from one based on manufacturing industries towards the producer services, with the importance of these services in the national and regional economy being recognized by economists and policy makers alike. With growing demand and policy support, producer services are expected to expand rapidly, leading to a new wave of economic and urban development in China. This groundbreaking volume is one of the first to address questions related to the development of these services in China. The contributions explore a wide range of associated topics, including the characteristics of the growth of producer services and how this is related to China's economic and urban transition, the distribution of these services amongst Chinese cities, as well as drawing comparison between producer service development in China and Western counterparts. This volume also discusses the dynamics of the development of these services in China and how the political economic embeddedness of China has shaped the development of producer services. Finally, the consequences of this growth and how the economy and urban space have changed in response is explored, as well as the challenges Chinese cities face in moving towards a service economy and how this can inform future public policies. This volume addresses the pressing need to understand the economic and urban changes in post-industrial China to allow appropriate strategies and policies to be formulated to facilitate future development in China. The text is rich with statistical data and diagrams, providing original contributions and a cutting edge overview. This timely publication will be of interest to upper level undergraduates, postgraduates and researchers interested in China Urban Studies and Economic Development.

Contested Development in China's Transition to an Innovation-driven Economy Yvette To, 2022-05-19 This book investigates how technology and innovation policies in contemporary China are impacted by collaboration and conflicts between different classes and interests in a world economy in which competitiveness is defined by the successful leverage of emerging technologies. Focusing on the actual processes and outcomes of technological upgrading in three dynamic sectors, the book presents an alternative approach to understanding China's industrial upgrading strategies by examining the ways in which the making and implementation of policies are shaped by political struggles between state actors and dominant capitalist interests in the context of global capitalism. In doing so, the book challenges influential institutionalist approaches as explanations of institutional change, positing instead a political economy framework grounded in social conflict theory to reveal how power relationships and politics are intrinsic to the evolution, form and function of institutions. This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of international political economy, development studies, globalisation and innovation. China and Chinese politics and public policy.

Special Economic Zones and China's Development Path Yitao Tao, Zhiguo Lu, 2018-10-05 The book provides insights into the development of special economic zones, which are an important factor in the political and economic reforms in China It discusses a number of topics including the history and the modernization of special economic zones in China the contributions of special economic zones to China s economic success and cultural change as well as the new mission of special economic zones in the current economic social context Applying institutional economics and growth poles theory it discusses the mechanism of China s path driven by special economic zone practices The book is a valuable resource for researchers interested in special economic zones political and institutional reforms and economic transformation during China s modernization

Economic Management and Transition Towards a Market Economy Anthony T.H. Chin, 1996 Much attention has been focused in recent years on the transformation of the economies of Eastern and Central Europe and the former Soviet Union However a growing demand for policy advice technical assistance and expertise is also coming from Asian reforming countries such as China Mongolia Vietnam Laos and Cambodia In addition business communities abroad are increasingly interested in exploring investment and marketing opportunities in these reforming countries Such developments are too important to overlook or ignore The transformation of socialist economies towards market based systems entails an unusually wide range of problems Studies of related topics are complicated by the speed of the changes and the lack of clear historical precedents Although the structural features of Asian reforming economies are in important ways different from those of the Eastern European economies all socialist economies share similar fundamental conditions on the eve of economic reform which raise a similar set of reform issues This volume brings together a rich collection of expertise and information in an attempt to shed some light on the transitional process in Asia The contributions are by no means exhaustive However they provide the reader and analyst with an excellent starting point to the problems and prospects which are specific to Asian transforming economies
