Mair, 2006-05-31 Do civilizations

independently invent themselves or are they the result of cultural diffusion The contributors to this volume do not attempt to provide a definitive answer to this contentious question one of the most debated issues of the past century Instead they shift the focus from theory to reality by presenting empirical evidence on a wide range of cultural phenomena in history and prehistory thereby demonstrating the processes whereby cultural traits are acquired and modified the dynamics of transmission and transformation The range of topics covered in this volume is of extraordinary breadth the distribution of belt hooks and belts from the steppes to North and Central China textile exchange in the third millennium B C the spread of bronze metallurgy across Asia the adaptation of complicated technologies by distant peoples the mechanisms whereby bronze implements were used to convey political messages in East Asia the ethnogenesis of the Turks the complex interrelationships among migratory and settled peoples in western Central Asia during the Bronze Age the origins of the enigmatic Chinese goddess known as Queen Mother of the West an account of hunting with trained cheetahs and the use of abundant botanical and zoological evidence to affirm that the Old World and the New World must have been in contact long before the fifteenth century Rounding out the volume is a survey of the problem of modernocentrism

Ancient Ocean Crossings Stephen C. Jett, 2017-06-06 Paints a compelling picture of impressive pre Columbian cultures and Old World civilizations that contrary to many prevailing notions were not isolated from one another In Ancient Ocean Crossings Reconsidering the Case for Contacts with the Pre Columbian Americas Stephen Jett encourages readers to reevaluate the common belief that there was no significant interchange between the chiefdoms and civilizations of Eurasia and Africa and peoples who occupied the alleged terra incognita beyond the great oceans More than a hundred centuries separate the time that Ice Age hunters are conventionally thought to have crossed a land bridge from Asia into North America and the arrival of Columbus in the Bahamas in 1492 Traditional belief has long held that earth's two hemispheres were essentially cut off from one another as a result of the post Pleistocene meltwater fed rising oceans that covered that bridge The oceans along with arctic climates and daunting terrestrial distances formed impermeable barriers to interhemispheric communication This viewpoint implies that the cultures of the Old World and those of the Americas developed independently Drawing on abundant and concrete evidence to support his theory for significant pre Columbian contacts Jett suggests that many ancient peoples had both the seafaring capabilities and the motives to cross the oceans and in fact did so repeatedly and with great impact His deep and broad work synthesizes information and ideas from archaeology geography linguistics climatology oceanography ethnobotany genetics medicine and the history of navigation and seafaring making an innovative and persuasive multidisciplinary case for a new understanding of human societies and their diffuse but interconnected development

Invented Knowledge Ronald H. Fritze,2009-05-15 This incredible exploration of the murky world of pseudo history reveals the mix of proven facts informed speculation and pure fiction behind lost continents ancient super civilizations and conspiratorial cover ups as well as the revisionist historical foundations of religions such as the Nation of Islam and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter day Saints Drawing on the best scholarship available Ronald H Fritze shows that in spite of strong mainstream historical evidence to the contrary many of these ideas have proved durable and gained widespread acceptance As the examples in Invented Knowledge reveal pseudo historians capitalize on and exploit anomalies in evidence to support their claims rather than examining the preponderance of research as a whole
