From Adolescence to Adulthood in the Vietnam Era Timothy J. Owens, 2008-01-08 Children born during the post WWII era of peace and prosperity entered history at a time dominated by I Like Ike politics and domestic security. As they approached adolescence, however, their world was shaken by major cultural, economic, social and political upheaval. And although it was time of great innovation and progress, a sense of chaos and bitterness began to envelop the country. It was the 60s. For many Americans, a mere mention of this decade evokes an extraordinary time and place in the country's and their own history. Adolescents who had been enjoying the technological and medical advances of the era, television, drive-in movies, rock and roll, vaccinations that prevented once incurable diseases, now were also experiencing the fallout from the Civil Rights Movement, domestic terrorism, stagflation, and perhaps most significant, the Vietnam War. From Adolescence to Adulthood in the Vietnam Era provides a unique, detailed, long-term study of the psychological and social worlds of male adolescents who were on the cusp of adulthood as the 1960s were ending. This longitudinal analysis follows adolescent boys who graduated with the class of 1969 and transitioned into adulthood either through military service, full-time employment, or college life. The results examine the different pathways these boys chose and the affect these choices had on their transition from adolescents to young adult men.

Predicting Achievement Joseph Lowman, M. David Galinsky, Bernadette Gray-Little, 1980 This study reports on levels of achievement among rural black and white Southerners of relatively low socioeconomic status. The 262 persons who were the objects of the study were reared in Millfield, North Carolina. They were first studied by Baughman and Dahlstrom in 1968 in the early 1960s when they were in the eighth grade. Ten years later, this study located and through interviews collected data from 175 or 67% of the 262 eighth grade subjects. Conclusions include the following: Performance on the eighth grade standardized tests of intellectual and academic ability was found to be clearly related to subsequent achievement, both educational and economic. Although there was a lack of racial differences in educational attainment, black subjects achieved significantly lower job statuses and earned significantly lower incomes than white subjects. The study found a strong association of the family size cluster with achievement. This finding is consistent with population theorists' arguments about how having many children or having children close together creates burdens on a family system which often reduce opportunity Few significant relationships were found between migration and achievement In fact most of the Millfield eighth graders did not move very far away from home However living away from Millfield even if only for a brief period of time was associated with greater achievement For comparison purposes the study also presents findings from major longitudinal studies of similar psychological characteristics Trends in social change in this area of the South are also described to give the reader a feel for the people and the times in which they matured Author RM

Archer, 2016-07-22 Assessing Adolescent Psychopathology MMPI A MMPI A RF Fourth Edition provides updated recommendations for researchers and clinicians concerning the MMPI A the most widely used objective personality test with adolescents and also introduces the MMPI A Restructured Form MMPI A RF the newest form of the MMPI for use with adolescents Further this fourth edition includes comprehensive information on both MMPI forms for adolescents including descriptions of the development structure and interpretive approaches to the MMPI A and the MMPI A RF This text provides extensive clinical case examples of the interpretation of both tests including samples of computer based test package output and identifies important areas of similarities and differences between these two important tests of adolescent psychopathology

Forensic Uses of Clinical Assessment Instruments Robert P. Archer, Elizabeth M. A. Wheeler, 2013-04-26 This book provides in a single volume an extensive research based evaluation of the most popular clinical assessment tools as applied in forensic settings These widely used instruments often require important modifications in their administration and interpretation when used for forensic purposes and it is vital that the clinician is intimately familiar with their correct application as well as their limitations The test instruments included are analyzed by senior figures in the field of psychological assessment who are uniquely qualified to discuss them because they have either had a crucial role in the development of the tests or they have dedicated their careers to advancing our understanding of these clinical assessment measures Each chapter begins with a summary of the development of the assessment instrument in its more traditional applications in clinical settings and then considers its utilization in forensic settings The types of forensic issues which have been addressed with that instrument are reviewed and an illustrative case example is given which reflects the types of uses and limitations of the assessment technique when applied in a forensic context New in this edition are a chapter on the MMPI 2 RF and separate chapters for the adult and youth versions of the Hare Psychopathy Checklist Psychologists using assessment instruments in applied forensic settings will find this to be a valuable and practical source of information as will attorneys wishing to gain an understanding of the application of these psychological assessment approaches in the courtroom

Life-Span Research on the Prediction of Psychopathology L. Erlenmeyer-Kimling, Nancy E. Miller, 2021-09-30 Originally published in 1986 the impetus for this volume developed from a conference organized by Barbara Snell Dohrenwend and the editors on behalf of the Society for Life History Research in Psychopathology the Society of the Study of Social Biology and the Center for Studies of Mental Health of Aging at the National Institute of Mental Health The theme of the conference was life span research on the prediction of psychopathology and the goal was to bring together outstanding researchers who were engaged in longitudinal investigations at the time and whose work collectively covered the entire life span from infancy to old age The papers that were presented at the conference were updated so that the chapters that follow represented current state of the art considerations in some of the best ongoing studies concerned with the prediction of psychopathology at that time
