Predicting The Behavior Of The Educational System:

Predicting the Behavior of the Educational System Thomas F. Green, 1997 This groundbreaking work was the first to propose an inquiry into the forms dynamics and constructs of educational policy This fine book remains the only treatment of educational policy incorporating an account of the differences between various kinds of educational goods Professor Green explored the nature of policy and prospects for the future and it is a rare treat that we can now more than fifteen years later revisit the text to discover his uncanny accuracy Predicting the Behavior of the Educational System Thomas F. Green, David P. Ericson, Robert H. Seidman, 1980 Higher Education, 1981 Structure, Culture and Agency Tom Brock, Mark Carrigan, Graham Scambler, 2016-11-10 Professor Margaret Archer is a leading critical realist and major contemporary social theorist This edited collection seeks to celebrate the scope and accomplishments of her work distilling her theoretical and empirical contributions into four sections which capture the essence and trajectory of her research over almost four decades Long fascinated with the problem of structure and agency Archer's work has constituted a decade long engagement with this perennial issue of social thought However in spite of the deep interconnections that unify her body of work it is rarely treated as a coherent whole This is doubtless in part due to the unforgiving rigour of her arguments and prose but also a byproduct of sociology's ongoing compartmentalisation This edited collection seeks to address this relative neglect by collating a selection of papers spanning Archer's career which collectively elucidate both the development of her thought and the value that can be found in it as a systematic whole This book illustrates the empirical origins of her social ontology in her early work on the sociology of education as well as foregrounding the diverse range of influences that have conditioned her intellectual trajectory the systems theory of Walter Buckley the neo Weberian analysis of Lockwood the critical realist philosophy of Roy Bhaskar and more recently her engagement with American pragmatism and the Italian school of relational sociology What emerges is a series of important contributions to our understanding of the relationship between structure culture and agency Acting to introduce and guide readers through these contributions this book carries the potential to inform exciting and innovative sociological research The Educational System Philip A. Cusick, 1992 This book is about the educational system It treats the whole system both formal and informal It describes how separate groups behave and how their activities overlap onto each other The overlapping is what combines the separate parts into a system The chapters describe the separate groups The chapter summaries describe their overlapping Does Mental Health Literacy Predict Help- Seeking Behaviors Among Depressed Asian International Students? Da Hwin Kim, Emma C. McWhorter, Linda G. Castillo, Does Mental Health Literacy Predict Help Seeking Behaviors Among Depressed Asian International Students Da Hwin Kim Emma C McWhorter Linda G Castillo Department of Educational Psychology Texas A M University USA ABSTRACT This study aimed to examine whether Asian international students mental health literacy predicts mental health help seeking behaviors above and beyond known influencing factors Hierarchical logistic regression was conducted in analyzing a national sample of 460 Asian international students who reported depressive symptomatology Results indicated that students who identified as female and experienced more days of academic impairment were more likely to seek counseling Additionally having more knowledge on mental disorders and treatments and campus mental health services were positively related to helpseeking behavior However the ability to recognize the development of mental disorders in others was negatively associated with seeking mental health help Implications for administrators college program planners and mental health providers are discussed Keywords Asian college students help seeking international students mental health literacy

The Education We Need for a Future We Can't Predict Thomas Hatch, Jordan Corson, Sarah Gerth van den Berg, 2021-01-16 Improve Schools and Transform Education In order for educational systems to change we must reevaluate deep seated beliefs about learning teaching schooling and race that perpetuate inequitable opportunities and outcomes Hatch Corson and Gerth van den Berg challenge the narrative when it comes to the grammar of schooling or the conventional structures practices and beliefs that define educational experiences for so many children to cast a new vision of what school could be The book addresses current systemic problems and solutions as it Highlights global examples of successful school change Describes strategies that improve educational opportunities and performance Explores promising approaches in developing new learning opportunities Outlines conditions for supporting wide scale educational improvement This provocative book approaches education reform by highlighting what works while also demonstrating what can be accomplished if we redefine conventional schools We can make the schools we have more efficient more effective and more equitable all while creating powerful opportunities to support all aspects of students development You won't find a better book on system change in education than this one We learn why schools don't change how they can improve what it takes to change a system and in the final analysis the possibilities of system change Above all The Education We Need renders complexity into clarity as the writing is so clear and compelling A powerful read on a topic of utmost importance Michael Fullan Professor Emeritus OISE University of Toronto I cannot recommend this book highly enough Tom tackles long standing and emerging educational issues in new ways with an impressive understanding of the challenging complexities but also feasible possibilities for ensuring excellence and equity for all students Carol Campbell Associate Professor Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto

Equity Policies in Global Higher Education Orlanda Tavares, Carla Sá, Cristina Sin, Alberto Amaral, 2022-02-24. This book discusses and analyses global policies and practices aimed at promoting equity in higher education participation and attainment. Although the massification of higher education systems has facilitated the participation of students from deprived backgrounds, socioeconomic inequalities persist in access to the most prestigious institutions and programmes. Privileged students benefit from a number of advantages in the competition for selective and scarce places: access to information, lower aversion to debt, higher expectations, better previous schooling, and higher academic achievement. The chapters present a critical analysis of equity policies in different countries, with or without affirmative action policies, within a context of neoliberal policies or within a social democratic model, and the reasons why they have failed to promote equity and fairness, preventing students from achieving their full educational potential. This is an open access book.

A Ten-Minute Approach to Educational Leadership Robert Palestini, 2013-09-19. Educational leaders and aspiring leaders are constantly searching for ways to improve the functioning of their institutions. This book provides them with a unique approach to diagnosing a school, school system, or college's organizational health and determining what interventions might be necessary to improve their operations. Each chapter of the book is dedicated to one of the ten essential components of an organization like a school, school system, or university. Most of the content of each chapter focuses on the implementation of these components, but there is some emphasis on the supporting theory that speaks to why these leadership practices actually work. We know that administrators are busy people; therefore, at the end of each chapter, there is a Diagnostic Checklist of questions that should be helpful in quickly assessing the status of these components in an institution and indicating whether they need to be addressed. In the Appendix, there are two diagnostic instruments: Heart Smart surveys I and II, that will help in quantifying the assessment process so that the weaknesses can be easily identified and quickly corrected.
