Prediction Of Suicide:

The Prediction of Suicide Aaron T. Beck, H. L. P. Resnik, Dan J. Lettieri, 1986 Assessment and Prediction of Suicide
Ronald W. Maris, Alan L. Berman, John T. Maltzberger, Robert I. Yufit, 1992-03-27 Suicide currently the eighth leading cause of death in the United States represents an enormous challenge to health care professionals Bridging the gap between clinical work and scientific research this book provides help for those who are at risk for suicide by equipping professionals with tools and knowledge to identify and understand them ASSESSMENT AND PREDICTION OF SUICIDE is a comprehensive reference volume that includes contributions from today's top suicide experts It presents an up to date authoritative statement of the current knowledge in the field Wide ranging in scope with 32 chapters expressing a variety of ideas and approaches it covers Concepts and theories Methods and quantification including suicide prediction scales and psychological testing In depth case histories Specific single predictors applied to the case histories Comorbidity Suicide: A Global Perspective Maurizio Pompili, 2012-09-19 In the year 2000 approximately one million people died from suicide a global mortality rate of 16 per 100 000 or one death every 40 seconds In the last 45 years suicide rates have increased by 60% worldwide Suicide is now among the three leading causes of death among those aged 15-44 years both sexes these figures do not include suicide attempts up to 20 times more frequent than completed suicide Suicide worldwide is estimated to represent 1.8% of the total global burden of disease in 1998 and 2.4% in countries with market and former socialist economies in 2020 Although traditionally suicide rates have been highest among the male elderly rates among young people have been increasing to such an extent that they are now the group at highest risk in a third of countries in both developed and developing countries Mental disorders particularly depression and substance abuse are associated with more than 90% of all cases of suicide however suicide results from many complex sociocultural factors and is more likely to occur particularly during periods of socioeconomic family and individual crisis situations e.g. loss of a loved one employment honour The economic costs associated with completed and attempted suicide are estimated to be in the billions of dollars One million lives lost each year are more than those lost from wars and murder annually in the world It is three times the catastrophic loss of life in the tsunami disaster in Asia in 2005 Every day of the year the number of suicides is equivalent to the number of lives lost in the attack on the World Trade Center Twin Towers on 9/11 in 2001 Everyone should be aware of the warning signs for suicide Someone threatening to hurt or kill him/herself or talking of wanting to hurt or kill him/herself someone looking for ways to kill him/herself by seeking access to firearms available pills or other means someone talking or writing about death dying or suicide when these actions are out of the ordinary for the person Also high risk of suicide is generally associated with hopelessness rage uncontrolled anger seeking revenge acting reckless or engaging in risky activities seemingly without thinking feeling trapped like there's no way out increased alcohol or drug use withdrawing from friends family and society anxiety agitation unable to sleep or sleeping all the time dramatic mood changes no reason for living no sense of purpose in life

Table 1 Understanding and helping the suicidal individual should be a task for all

Suicide Myths How to Help the Suicidal Person

Warning Signs of Suicide

Myth Suicidal people just want to die

Fact Most of the time suicidal people are torn between wanting to die and wanting to live

Most suicidal individuals don't want death they just want to stoop the great psychological or emotional pain they are experiencing

Listen Accept the person's feelings as they are

Do not be afraid to talk about suicide directly

Ask them if they developed a plan of suicide

Expressing suicidal feelings or bringing up the topic of suicide

Giving away prized possessions settling affairs making out a will

Signs of depression loss of pleasure sad mood alterations in sleeping eating patterns feelings of hopelessness

Myth People who commit suicide do not warn others

Fact Eight out of every 10 people who kill themselves give definite clues to their intentions

They leave numerous clues and warnings to others although clues may be non verbal or difficult to detect

Remove lethal means for suicide from person's home

Remind the person that depressed feelings do change with time

Point out when death is chosen it is irreversible

Change of behavior poor work or school performance Risk taking behaviors

Increased use of alcohol or drugs

Social isolation

Developing a specific plan for suicide

Myth People who talk about suicide are only trying to get attention

They won't really do it

Fact Few commit suicide without first letting someone know how they feel

Those who are considering suicide give clues and warnings as a cry for help

Over 70% who do threaten to commit suicide either make an attempt or complete the act

Express your concern for the person

Develop a plan for help with the person

Seek outside emergency intervention at a hospital mental health clinic or call a suicide prevention center

Myth Don't mention suicide to someone who's showing signs of depression

It will plant the idea in their minds and they will act on it

Fact Many depressed people have already considered suicide as an option

Discussing it openly helps the suicidal person sort through the problems and generally provides a sense of relief and understanding

Suicide is preventable

Most suicidal individuals desperately want to live they are just unable to see alternatives to their problems

Most suicidal individuals give definite warnings of their suicidal intentions but others are either unaware of the significance of these warnings or do not know how to respond to them

Talking about suicide does not cause someone to be suicidal on the contrary the individual feel relief and has the opportunity to experience an empathic contact

Suicide profoundly affects individuals families workplaces neighbourhoods and societies

The economic costs associated with suicide and self inflicted injuries are estimated to be in the billions of dollars

Surviving family members not only suffer the trauma of losing a loved one to suicide and may themselves be at higher risk for suicide and emotional problems

Mental pain is the basic ingredient of suicide

Edwin Shneidman calls such pain psychache¹ meaning an ache in the psyche

Shneidman suggested that the key questions to ask a suicidal person are Where do you hurt and How may I help you

If the function of suicide is to put a stop to an unbearable flow of painful consciousness then it follows that the clinician's main task is to mollify that pain

Shneidman¹ also pointed out that the main sources of psychological pain such as shame guilt rage loneliness hopelessness and so forth stem from frustrated or thwarted psychological needs

These psychological needs include the need for achievement for affiliation for autonomy for counteraction for exhibition for nurturance for order and for understanding Shneidman 2 who is considered the father of suicidology has proposed the following definition of suicide Currently in the Western world suicide is a conscious act of self induced annihilation best understood as a multidimensional malaise in a needful individual who defines an issue for which the suicide is perceived as the best solution Shneidman has also suggested that that suicide is best understood not so much as a movement toward death as it is a movement away from something and that something is always the same intolerable emotion unendurable pain or unacceptable anguish Strategies involving restriction of access to common methods of suicide have proved to be effective in reducing suicide rates however there is a need to adopt multi sectoral approaches involving other levels of intervention and activities such as crisis centers There is compelling evidence indicating that adequate prevention and treatment of depression alcohol and substance abuse can reduce suicide rates School based interventions involving crisis management self esteem enhancement and the development of coping skills and healthy decision making have been demonstrated to reduce the risk of suicide among the youth Worldwide the prevention of suicide has not been adequately addressed due to basically a lack of awareness of suicide as a major problem and the taboo in many societies to discuss openly about it In fact only a few countries have included prevention of suicide among their priorities Reliability of suicide certification and reporting is an issue in great need of improvement It is clear that suicide prevention requires intervention also from outside the health sector and calls for an innovative comprehensive multi sectoral approach including both health and non health sectors e g education labour police justice religion law politics the media

The International Handbook of Suicide and Attempted Suicide Keith Hawton, Kees van Heeringen, 2000-11-21 Recent research in the area of suicidology has provided significant new insights in the epidemiological psychopathological and biological characteristics of suicidal behaviour The International Handbook of Suicide and Attempted Suicide is the first book to bring together this expertise and translate it into practical guidelines for those responsible for policy issues and for those involved in the treatment and prevention of suicidal behaviour Leading international authorities provide a truly comprehensive and research based reference to understanding treating and preventing suicidal behaviour They explore concepts and theories which best guide work within this field and detail key research which has supported conceptual developments preventive interventions and clinical treatment No self respecting worker in deliberate self harm and suicide prevention either clinical or research can afford to be without access to this comprehensive handbook possession and regular use may well become a marker of serious involvement in the subject This is the most comprehensive up to date informative and well written source of information on suicide and suicidal behaviour an invaluable work of reference which will be essential for clinicians and researchers for many years to come Andrew Sims Emeritus Professor of Psychiatry St James s University Hospital Leeds UK British Journal of Psychiatry

A Concise Guide to Understanding Suicide Stephen H. Koslow, Pedro Ruiz, Charles B. Nemeroff, 2014-09-18

Models of the Mind Stephen L. Dilts, 2012-12-06 Making sense of such bewildering problems as hallucinations paranoia depression and anxiety seems an incredible challenge but modern psychiatry is able to bring understanding and change to many of those whose lives are impaired by psychiatric problems This is not accomplished through the application of one dominant psychological theory but through the integration of perspectives of many such theories in this diverse field into a befitting approach the biopsychosocial model Application of the biopsychosocial model will allow for understanding the patient in biological psychological and social terms simultaneously and provide a holistic picture with multiple strategies for treatment In this book the author takes a step back from the assessment to demonstrate to the student methods of the information gathered from the patient into a clinically useful whole essentially showing exactly how and why the psychiatrist arrives at an intervention Treatment Approaches with Suicidal Adolescents James K. Zimmerman, Gregory M. Asnis, 1995-04-03 This practical guide reviews current knowledge regarding the biological psychological and social risk factors for adolescent suicide Contains clinical guidelines for a variety of treatment modalities such as crisis intervention psychopharmacological management intervention family centered psychodynamic cognitive behavior and group therapies Features a program for increasing adolescent participation in outpatient therapy and considers possible future directions of treatment Mental Health Service System Reports, 1980
