The Quest for the Irish Celt Mairéad Carew, 2018-03-29 The Quest for the Irish Celt is the fascinating story of Harvard University's five year archaeological research programme in Ireland during the 1930s to determine the racial and cultural heritage of the Irish people The programme involved country wide excavations and the examination of prehistoric skulls by physical anthropologists and was complemented by the physical examinations of thousands of Irish people from across the country measuring skulls nose shape and grade of hair colour The Harvard scientists mission was to determine who the Celts were what was their racial type and what element in the present day population represented the descendants of the earliest inhabitants of the island Though the Harvard Mission was hugely influential there were theories of eugenics involved that would shock the modern reader The main adviser for the archaeology was Adolf Mahr Nazi and Director of the National Museum 1934-39 The overall project was managed by Earnest A Hooton famed Harvard anthropologist whose theories regarding biological heritage would now be readily condemned for their racism Mairéad Carew explores this extraordinary archaeological mission examining its historic importance for Ireland and Irish America its landmark findings and the unseemly activities that lay just beneath the surface

Landscape of the Mind John F. Hoffer, 2011-05-31 In Landscape of the Mind John F Hoffer explores the origin and growth of the human mind drawing on archaeology history and the fossil record He suggests that as an indirect result of bipedal locomotion early humans developed a feedback relationship among their hands brains and tools that evolved into the capacity to externalize thoughts in the form of shaped stone objects When anatomically modern humans evolved a parallel capacity to externalize thoughts as symbolic language individual brains within social groups became integrated into a neocortical Internet or super brain giving birth to the mind Noting that archaeological traces of symbolism coincide with evidence of the ability to generate novel technology Hoffer contends that human creativity as well as higher order consciousness is a product of the superbrain He equates the subsequent growth of the mind with human history which began in Africa more than 50 000 years ago As anatomically modern humans spread across the globe adapting to a variety of climates and habitats they redesigned themselves technologically and created alternative realities through tools language and art Hoffer connects the rise of civilization to a hierarchical reorganization of the super brain triggered by explosive population growth Subsequent human history reflects to varying degrees the suppression of the mind's creative powers by the rigid hierarchies of nationstates and empires constraining the further accumulation of knowledge The modern world emerged after 1200 from the fragments of the Roman Empire whose collapse had eliminated a central authority that could thwart innovation Hoffer concludes with speculation about the possibility of artificial intelligence and the consequences of a mind liberated from its organic antecedents to exist in an independent nonbiological form

A Three Cornered Life Jim

Davidson,2010 Australia 1930 remains one of the classic accounts of this country A Three Cornered Life is a superbly written and thorough biography of one of the finest twentieth century historians Shadowlands: A Journey Through Britain's Lost Cities and Vanished Villages Matthew Green,2022-07-19 Beguiling Elizabeth Lowry Wall Street Journal A brilliant London historian BBC Radio tells the story of Britain as never before through its abandoned villages and towns Drowned Buried by sand Decimated by plague Plunged off a cliff This is the extraordinary tale of Britain s eerie and remarkable ghost towns and villages shadowlands that once hummed with life Peering through the cracks of history we find Dunwich a medieval city plunged off a cliff by sea storms the abandoned village of Wharram Percy wiped out by the Black Death the lost city of Trellech unearthed by moles in 2002 and a Norfolk village zombified by the military and turned into a Nazi Soviet and Afghan village for training Matthew Green a British historian and broadcaster tells the astonishing tales of the rise and demise of these places animating the people who lived worked dreamed and died there Traveling across Britain to explore their haunting and often beautiful remains Green transports the reader to these lost towns and cities as they teeter on the brink of oblivion vividly capturing the sounds of the sea clawing away row upon row of houses the taste of medieval wine or the sights of puffin hunting on the tallest cliffs in the country We experience them in their prime look on at their destruction and revisit their lingering remains as they are mourned by evictees and reimaged by artists writers and mavericks A stunning and original excavation of Britain s untold history Shadowlands gives us a truer sense of the progress and ravages of time in a moment when many of our own settlements are threatened as never before Evatt John Murphy,2016-09-01 John Murphy s Evatt A life is a biography of Australian parliamentarian and jurist HV Evatt Remembered as the first foreign minister to argue for an independent Australian policy in the 1940s and for his central role in the formation of the UN Evatt went on to be the leader of the Labor party in the 1950s the time of the split that resulted in the party being out of power for a generation Evatt traces the course of Evatt s life and places him in the context of a long period of conservatism in Australia It treats Evatt s inner personal life as being just as important as his spectacular controversial and eventual tragic public career Murphy looks closely at Evatt s previously unexamined private life and unravels some of the puzzles that have lead Evatt to be considered erratic even mad Bert Evatt remains a polarising figure still considered by many in Labor as the man who split the party and by many conservatives as unreliable and dangerous Histories of Archaeology Tim Murray,Christopher Evans,2008-09-04 In recent years there has been an upsurge of interest in the history of the discipline of archaeology Local national and international histories of archaeology that deal with institutions concepts categories and the social and political contexts of archaeological practice have begun to influence the development of archaeological theory This volume contributes to these developments by reprinting 19 significant papers Spanning much of the last 200 years and global in coverage and outlook the papers provide a thorough grounding in the historiography of archaeology and will enhance understanding of the origins and growth of its theory and practice A general introduction which is itself a contribution to historiography orients readers by outlining core themes and issues in the field Imagining Babylon Mario Liverani, 2016-07-11 Ever since the archaeological rediscovery of the Ancient Near East generations of scholars have attempted to reconstruct the real Babylon known to us before from the evocative biblical account of the Tower of Babel After two centuries of excavations and scholarship Mario Liverani provides an insightful overview of modern Western approaches theories and accounts of the ancient Near Eastern city Bronze Age Connections Peter Clark, 2009-09-03 New and exciting discoveries on either side of the English Channel in recent years have begun to show that people living in the coastal zones of Belgium southern Britain northern France and the Netherlands shared a common material culture during the Bronze Age between three and four thousand years ago They used similar styles of pottery and metalwork lived in the same kind of houses and buried their dead in the same kind of tombs often quite different to those used by their neighbours further inland The sea did not appear to be a barrier to these people but rather a highway connecting communities in a unique cultural identity the People of La Manche Symbolic of these maritime Bronze Age Connections is the iconic Dover Bronze Age boat one of Europe's greatest prehistoric discoveries and testament to the skill and technical sophistication of our Bronze Age ancestors This monograph presents papers from a conference held in Dover in 2006 organised by the Dover Bronze Age Boat Trust which brought together scholars from many different countries to explore and celebrate these ancient seaborne contacts Twelve wide ranging chapters explore themes of travel exchange production magic and ritual that throw new light on our understanding of the seafaring peoples of the second millennium BC From Primitives to Primates David Van Reybrouck, 2012 Where do our images about early hominids come from In this fascinating in depth study David Van Reybrouck demonstrates how input from ethnography and primatology has deeply influenced our visions about the past from the 19th century to this day often far beyond the available evidence Victorian scholars were keen to look at contemporary Australian and Tasmanian aboriginals to understand the enigmatic Neanderthal fossils Likewise today's primatologists debate to what extent bonobos baboons or chimps may be regarded as stand ins for early human ancestors The belief that the contemporary world provides living links still goes strong Such primate models Van Reybrouck argues continue the highly problematic comparative method of the Victorian times He goes on to show how the field of ethnoarchaeology has succeeded in circumventing the major pitfalls of such analogical reasoning A truly interdisciplinary study this work shows how scholars working in different fields can effectively improve their methods for interpreting the deep past by understanding the historical challenges of adjacent disciplines Overviewing two centuries of intellectual debate in fields as diverse as archaeology ethnography and primatology Van Reybrouck's book is one long plea for trying to understand the past on its own terms rather than as facile projections from the present David Van Reybrouck Bruges 1971 was trained as an archaeologist at the universities of Leuven Cambridge and Leiden Before becoming a highly successful literary author The Plague Mission Congo he worked as a historian of ideas For more than twelve years he was co editor of Archaeological
