Prehistory Of Agriculture New Experimental And Ethnographic Approaches:

Prehistory of Agriculture Patricia C. Anderson, 1999-07-01 The twenty eight contributors to this book show how experimental and ethnographic approaches are being used to shed new light on the process of domestication and harvesting techniques tools and technology in the period just before and just after the appearance of agriculture The book takes an explicitly comparative approach with chapters on SW Asia Europe Australia and Africa Agricultural and Pastoral Landscapes in Pre-Industrial Society Fèlix Retamero, Inge Schjellerup, Althea Davies, 2014-12-01 Through a series of case studies this third volume in the Earth series deals with the technological constraints and innovations that enabled societies to survive and thrive across a range of environmental conditions The contributions are structured into three sections to draw out particular commonalities and contrasts in the choices made by pre industrial communities in the construction of varied landscapes and cultural heritage Landnam from the Old Norse for taking of land deals with colonization including the drivers and processes through which colonizers developed an understanding of the productive potential and limitations of their new lands Fields and field systems Field walls are a distinctive and apparently timeless characteristic of many pre industrial farming landscapes but they present many the challenges to their study such as the effects of plowing abandonment and land use change and of urban development in fertile lowland zones which may eradicate reduce or conceal past systems of land use and division The importance of indirect and proxy evidence is illustrated and the value of interdisciplinary and modeling approaches emphasized Agro pastoralism focuses on the complex time space adaptations devised for managing cultivation and livestock production particularly the need to prevent stock incursions into arable fields during the growing season whilst making effective use of seasonal grazing resources The contributions focus on mountainous areas where temporary migrations in the form of transhumance provided access to a diversity of resources based around seasonal constraints on their availability and productivity Explaining and Exploring Diversity in Agricultural Technology Annelou van Gijn, John Whittaker, Patricia C. Anderson, 2014-08-29 This volume is the outcome of collaborative European research among archaeologists archaeobotanists ethnographers historians and agronomists and frequently uses experiments in archaeology It aims to establish new common ground for integrating different approaches and for viewing agriculture from the standpoint of the human actors involved Each chapter provides an interdisciplinary overview of the skills used and the social context of the pursuit of agriculture highlighting examples of tools technologies and processes from land clearance to cereal processing and food preparation This is the second of three volumes in the EARTH monograph series The dynamics of non industrial agriculture 8 000 years of resilience and innovation which shows the great variety of agricultural practices in human terms in their social political cultural and legal contexts Paleoethnobotany Deborah M Pearsall, 2016-06-16 This new edition of the definitive work on doing paleoethnobotany brings the book up to date by incorporating new methods and examples of research while preserving the overall organization and approach of the book to facilitate its use as a textbook In addition to updates on the comprehensive discussions of macroremains pollen and phytoliths this edition includes a chapter on starch analysis the newest tool in the paleoethnobotanist s research kit Other highlights include updated case studies expanded discussions of deposition and preservation of archaeobotanical remains updated historical overviews new and updated techniques and approaches including insights from experimental and ethnoarchaeological studies and a current listing of electronic resources Extensively illustrated this will be the standard work on paleoethnobotany for a generation

Climate and Cultural Change in Prehistoric Europe and the Near East Peter F. Biehl, Olivier P. Nieuwenhuyse, 2016-11-23 Rich case studies examining responses to climatic events in ancient Europe and the Near East The subject of climate change could hardly be more timely In Climate and Cultural Change in Prehistoric Europe and the Near East an interdisciplinary group of contributors examine climate change through the lens of new archaeological and paleo environmental data over the course of more than 10 000 years from the Near East to Europe Key climatic and other events are contextualized with cultural changes and transitions for which the authors discuss when how and if changes in climate and environment caused people to adapt move or perish More than this publication of crucial archaeological and paleo environmental data however the volume seeks to understand the social political and economic significance of climate change as it was manifested in various ways around the Old World Contrary to perceptions of threatening global warming in our popular media and in contrast to grim images of collapse presented in some archaeological discussions of past climate change this book rejects outright societal collapse as a likely outcome Yet this does not keep the authors from considering climate change as a potential factor in explaining culture change by adopting a critical stance with regard to the long standing practice of equating synchronicity with causality and explicitly considering alternative explanations

Vilcabamba and the Archaeology of Inca Resistance Brian S. Bauer, Javier Fonseca Santa Cruz, Miriam Araoz Silva, 2015-12-31 The sites of Vitcos and Espiritu Pampa are two of the most important Inca cities within the remote Vilcabamba region of Peru The province has gained notoriety among historians archaeologists and other students of the Inca since it was from here that the last independent Incas waged a nearly forty year long war AD 1536 1572 against Spanish control of the Andes Building on three years of excavation and two years of archival work the authors discuss the events that took place in this area speaking to the complex relationships that existed between the Europeans and Andeans during the decades that Vilcabamba was the final stronghold of the Inca empire This has long been a topic of interest for the public the results of the first large scale scientific research conducted in the region will be illuminating for scholars as well as for general readers who are enthusiasts of this period of history and archaeology

The Emergence of Modern Humans Paul Mellars, 1990

Roman Foodprints at Berenike Rene T. J. Cappers, 2006-12-31 During the Graeco Roman period Berenike served as a gateway to the outside world together with Myos Hormos Commodities were imported from Africa south of the Sahara Arabia and India into the Greek and Roman Empire the importance of both harbors evidenced by several contemporary sources Between 1994 and 2002 eight excavation seasons were conducted at Berenike by the University of Delaware and Leiden University the Netherlands This book presents the results of the archaeobotanical research of the Roman deposits It is shown that the study of a transit port such as Berenike located at the southeastern fringe of the Roman Empire is highly effective in producing new information on the import of all kinds of luxury items In addition to the huge quantities of black pepper plant remains of more than 60 cultivated plant species could be evidenced several of them for the first time in an archaeobotanical context For each plant species detailed information on its possible origin its use its preservation qualities and the Egyptian subfossil record is provided The interpretation of the cultivated plants including the possibilities of cultivation in Berenike proper is supported by ethnoarchaeobotanical research that has been conducted over the years The reconstruction of the former environment is based on the many wild plant species that were found in Berenike and the study of the present desert vegetation

Kasapata and the Archaic Period of the Cuzco Valley Brian S. Bauer, 2007-12-31 Although the Cuzco Valley of Peru is renowned for being the heartland of the Incas little is known concerning its pre Inca inhabitants Until recently it was widely believed that the first inhabitants of the Cuzco Valley were farmers who lived in scattered villages along the valley floor ca 1000 BC and that there were no Archaic Period remains in the region This perspective was challenged during a systematic survey of the valley when numerous preceramic sites were found Additional information came from excavations at the site of Kasapata the largest preceramic site identified during the survey It is now clear that the Cuzco Valley was inhabited like many other regions of the Andes soon after the retreat of the Pleistocene glaciers and that it supported thriving cultures of hunters and foragers for hundreds of generations before the advent of permanent settlements This edited volume provides the first overview of the Archaic Period 9000 2200 BC in the Cuzco Valley The chapters include a detailed discussion of the distribution of Archaic sites in the valley as well as the result of excavations at the site of Kasapata Separate chapters are dedicated to examining the lithics human burials faunal remains and obsidian recovered at this remarkably well preserved site

An Archaic Mexican Shellmound and Its Entombed Floors Barbara Voorhies, 2015-12-31 Tlacuachero is the site of an Archaic period shellmound located in the wetlands of the outer coast of southwest Mexico This book presents investigations of several floors that are within the site s shell deposits that formed over a 600 800 year interval during the Archaic period ca 8000 2000 BCE a crucial timespan in Mesoamerican prehistory when people were transitioning from full blown dependency on wild resources to the use of domesticated crops The floors are now deeply buried in a limited area below the summit of the shellmound The authors explore what activities were carried out on their surfaces discussing the floors patterns of cultural features sediment color density and types of embedded microrefuse and phytoliths as well as chemical signatures of organic remains The studies conducted at Tlacuachero are especially significant in light of the fact that data rich lowland sites from the Archaic period are extraordinarily rare the wealth of information gleaned from the floors of the Tlacuachero shellmound can now be widely appreciated volume Barbara Stark examines settlement in the coastal plain of lowland Mesoamerica which was richly endowed with fertile soil and valued tropical resources such as jaguars cacao avian species with bright plumage and cotton The book provides basic archaeological data about regional settlement from three decades of survey research in south central Veracruz in the western lower Papaloapan basin a region with low density urbanism The data reveals political and social change with consolidation of wealth by elite families during the Late Classic period The political analysis considers archaeological evidence related to several organizational principles collective versus autocratic corporate versus exclusionary network and segmentary unspecialized versus specialized Many variables related to these principles used by other scholars are either suited to historically documented states not archaeological ones or ambiguous Many published studies either focus on a particular city or use documents or other evidence drawn from the top of the settlement hierarchy characterizing the whole society politically from a biased sample This political analysis is regional in scope and attentive to variation in the settlement hierarchy providing a guidepost to analysis of political principles with archaeological data

Archaeological Artefacts as Material Culture Linda Hurcombe, 2014-05-12 This book is an introduction to the study of artefacts setting them in a social context rather than using a purely scientific approach Drawing on a range of different cultures and extensively illustrated Archaeological Artefacts and Material Culture covers everything from recovery strategies and recording procedures to interpretation through typology ethnography and experiment and every type of material including wood fibers bones hides and adhesives stone clay and metals With over seventy illustrations with almost fifty in full colour this book not only provides the tools an archaeologist will need to interpret past societies from their artefacts but also a keen appreciation of the beauty and tactility involved in working with these fascinating objects This is a book no archaeologist should be without but it will also appeal to anybody interested in the interaction between people and objects

The Early Neolithic of the Eastern Fertile Crescent Roger Matthews, Wendy Matthews, Kamal Rasheed Raheem, Amy Richardson, 2020-07-31 The Eastern Fertile Crescent region of western Iran and eastern Iraq hosted major developments in the transition from hunter forager to farmer herder lifestyles through the Early Neolithic period 10 000 7000 BC Within the scope of the Central Zagros Archaeological Project excavations have been conducted since 2012 at two Early Neolithic sites in the Kurdistan region of Iraq Bestansur and Shimshara Bestansur represents an early stage in the transition to sedentary farming life where the inhabitants pursued a mixed strategy of hunting foraging herding and cultivating maximising the new opportunities afforded by the warmer wetter climate of the Early Holocene They also constructed substantial buildings of mudbrick including a major building with a minimum of 65 human individuals mainly infants buried under its floor in association with hundreds of beads These human remains provide new insights into mortuary practices demography diet and disease during the early stages of sedentarisation The material culture of Bestansur and Shimshara is rich in imported items such as obsidian carnelian and sea shells indicating the extent to which Early Neolithic communities were networked across the Eastern Fertile Crescent and beyond This volume includes final reports by a large scale interdisciplinary team on all aspects of the results from excavations at Bestansur and Shimshara through application of state of the art scientific techniques methods and analyses The net result is to re emphasise the enormous significance of the Eastern Fertile Crescent in one of the most important episodes in human history the Neolithic transition

The Birth of Neolithic Britain Julian Thomas,2013-11-28 The beginning of the Neolithic in Britain is a topic of perennial interest in archaeology marking the end of a hunter gatherer way of life with the introduction of domesticated plants and animals pottery polished stone tools and a range of new kinds of monuments including earthen long barrows and megalithic tombs Every year numerous new articles are published on different aspects of the topic ranging from diet and subsistence economy to population movement architecture and seafaring Thomas offers a treatment that synthesizes all of this material presenting a coherent argument to explain the process of transition between the Mesolithic Neolithic periods Necessarily the developments in Britain are put into the context of broader debates about the origins of agriculture in Europe and the diversity of processes of change in different parts of the continent are explored These are followed by a historiographic treatment of debates on the transition in Britain Chapters cover the Mesolithic background processes of contact and interaction monumental architecture and timber halls portable artefacts and plants and animals The concluding argument is that developments in the economy and material culture must be understood as being related to fundamental social transformations

Inca Rituals and Sacred Mountains Maria Constanza Ceruti,Johan Reinhard,2010-12-31 The Incas carried out some of the most dramatic ceremonies known to us from ancient times Groups of people walked hundreds of miles across arid and mountainous terrain to perform them on mountains over 6 096 m 20 000 feet high The most important offerings made during these pilgrimages involved human sacrifices capacochas Although Spanish chroniclers wrote about these offerings and the state sponsored processions of which they were a part their accounts were based on second hand sources and the only direct evidence we have of the capacocha sacrifices comes to us from archaeological excavations Some of the most thoroughly documented of these were undertaken on high mountain summits where the material evidence has been exceptionally well preserved In this study we describe the results of research undertaken on Mount Llullaillaco 6 739 m 22 109 feet which has the world s highest archaeological site The types of ruins and artifact assemblages recovered are described and analyzed By comparing the archaeological evidence with the chroniclers accounts and with findings from other mountaintop sites common patterns are demonstrated while at the same time previously little known elements contribute to our understanding of key aspects of Inca religion This study illustrates the importance of archaeological sites being placed within the broader context of physical and sacred features of the natural landscape

Settlement and Subsistence in Early Formative Soconusco Richard G. Lesure,2010-12-31 The Soconusco region a narrow strip of the Pacific coast of Mexico and Guatemala is the location of some of the earliest pottery using villages of ancient Mesoamerica Mobile early inhabitants of the area harvested marsh clams in the estuaries leaving behind vast mounds of shell With the introduction of pottery and the establishment of permanent villages from 1900 B C use of the resource rich estuary changed The archaeological manifestation of that new estuary adaptation is a dramatic pattern of inter site variability in pottery vessel forms Vessels at sites within the estuary were about seventy percent neckless jars tecomates while vessels at contemporaneous sites a few kilometers inland were seventy percent open dishes The pattern is well known but the the settlement arrangements or subsistence practices that produced it have remained unclear Archaeological investigations at El Varal a special purpose estuary site of the later Early Formative 1250 1000 B C expand possibilities for an anthropological understanding of the archaeological patterns The goal of this volume is to describe excavations and finds at the site and to propose based on a variety of analyses a new understanding of Early Formative assemblage variability

People of Ancient Daunia Camilla Norman, 2024-06-01 The statue stelae of Early Iron Age Daunia north Apulia Italy a group of stone slabs are each incised to represent the garb and accoutrements of a person They detail the clothing and adornment worn by men and women in full regalia plus through additional figurative images drawn on the robes show ritual practices everyday activities and scenes of local legend As such they offer an unparalleled window into the lives of a proto historic people providing a rich source of self representation for what is otherwise a fairly poorly understood society Grounded in the scholarship of post colonial and gender archaeology this book pays full respect to the agency of indigenous communities and the important role of women It considers the stelae not through a Hellenic lens but in the Italo Adriatic context to which they belong This is the first time an in depth holistic study of the Daunian stelae has been undertaken and the first presentation of the material in English

Altera Roma Claire L. Lyons, John M. D. Pohl, 2016-12-31 Altera Roma explores the confrontation of two cultures European and Amerindian and two empires Spanish and Aztec In an age of exploration and conquest Spanish soldiers missionaries and merchants brought an array of cultural preconceptions Their encounter with Aztec civilization coincided with Europe s rediscovery of classical antiquity and Tenochtitlan came to be regarded a second Rome or altera Roma Iberia s past as the Roman province of Hispania served to both guide and critique the Spanish overseas mission The dialogue that emerged between the Old World and the New World shaped a dual heritage into the unique culture of Nueva Espana In this volume ten eminent historians and archaeologists examine the analogies between empires widely separated in time and place and consider how monumental art and architecture created theater states a strategy that links ancient Rome Hapsburg Spain preconquest Mexico and other imperial regimes Engaging the Senses: Object-Based Learning in Higher Education Helen J. Chatterjee, Leonie Hannan, 2016-03-09 The use of museum collections as a path to learning for university students is fast becoming a new pedagogy for higher education Despite a strong tradition of using lectures as a way of delivering the curriculum the positive benefits of active and experiential learning are being recognised in universities at both a strategic level and in daily teaching practice As museum artefacts specimens and art works are used to evoke provoke and challenge students engagement with their subject so transformational learning can take place This unique book presents the first comprehensive exploration of object based learning as a pedagogy for higher education in a broad context An international group of authors offer a spectrum of approaches at work in higher education today They explore contemporary principles and practice of object based learning in higher education demonstrating the value of using collections in this context and considering the relationship between academic discipline and object based learning as a teaching strategy
