Definitions:

Autobiography – A work of non-fiction written by an individual about their own life

Autocracy – A system of government in which a single ruler controls all important decisions

Capitalism – An economic and political system in which a country's trade and industry are controlled by private owners for profit, rather than by the state

Communism – A political and economic theory, advocating class war and a society where property is publicly owned. Socialism is a more flexible and less rigid ideology, whereas communism is more extreme, e.g. under socialism, individuals are allowed to own property as opposed to communism, wherein property is owned by the state

Bourgeoisie - The middle class, typically with reference to the business owners (such as merchants, bankers and entrepreneurs)

Decolonisation – The act of getting rid of colonisation, or freeing a country from being dependent on another country

Democracy – A government by the people

Duma – An elected assembly similar to parliament

Dynasty – Rulers from the same group or family who govern by succession

Empire – A group of states, countries or nations ruled over by a powerful nation

Ethnohistory – A branch of cultural history that considers beliefs, values, and ideas from the perspective of the subject

Evidence – Facts, sources or information used to support interpretations from the past

Feminism – The advocacy of women's rights on the ground of equality of the sexes

Globalisation – The process by which businesses or other organisations develop international influence or start operating on an international scale

History from below – A way of seeing history from the experiences and perspectives of ordinary people, as opposed to the leaders or the elite

Imperialism – Extending a country's power and spheres of influence through colonisation, use of military force, or other means; rule by an emperor

Industrialisation – A process of change in society leading to the increased role of factories and manufacturing in the economy. In Europe, industrialisation often meant the movement of people from the towns and countryside and the growth of cities
