Flat Earths and Fake Footnotes Derrick

Peterson, 2021-02-17 We are all haunted by histories. They shape our presuppositions and ballast our judgments. In terms of science and religion this means most of us walk about haunted by rumors of a long war. However there is no such thing as the history of the conflict of science and Christianity and this is a book about it. In the last half of the twentieth century a sea change in the history of science and religion occurred revealing not only that the perception of protracted warfare between religion and science was a curious set of mythologies that had been combined together into a sort of supermyth in need of debunking. It was also seen that this collective mythology arose in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries by historians involved in many sides of the debates over Darwin's discoveries and from there latched onto the public imagination at large.

Flat Earths and Fake Footnotes takes the reader on a journey showing how these myths were constructed collected together and eventually debunked. Join us for a story of flat earths and fake footnotes to uncover the strange tale of how the conflict of science and Christianity was written into history of a three volume set on medieval scholarship that presents original biographical essays on scholars whose work has shaped medieval studies for the past four hundred years. A companion to Volume 1 History and Volume 2 Literature and Philology Volume 3 Philosophy and the Arts covers the lives of twenty eminent individuals from Victor Cousin 1792-1867 to Georges Chehata Anawati 1905-1994 in Philosophy from H. J. W. Tillyard 1881-1968 to Gustave Reese 1899-1977 in Music and from Alois Riegl 1858-1905 to Louis Grodecki 1910-1982 in Art History whose subjects were the art music and philosophical thought of Europe between 500-1500. The scholars of medieval philosophy strove to identify the nexus of philosophical truth whether they were engaged in the clash of the Christian church and secular republicanism as reflected in the tension between theology and philosophy in addressing the conflicting perceptions of Muslim identity or in defining Jewish philosophical theology in non-Jewish culture. Medieval musicologists who are included as the subjects of the essays pioneered or recontextualized traditional views on the definition of music as subject matter on the relationship between music and philosophical concepts on interpretative distinctions between secular and sacred music monophony and polyphony and concepts of form and compositional style The art historians treated in this volume not only overturn the view of medieval art as an aesthetic decline from classical art but they demonstrate the continual development of form and style inclusive of minor and major arts in textiles architecture and architectural sculpture manuscripts ivory carvings and stained glass The philosophers musicologists and art historians who appear in Volume 3 worked in three newly emerging disciplines largely of nineteenth century origin In their distinguished and extraordinary output of energy in scholarly and academic arenas they contributed significantly to the emergence and formation of medieval studies as the prime discipline of historical inquiry into and hence the key to understanding of the human experience Medieval Scholarship: Philosophy and the arts Helen Damico, Joseph B.

Medieval Scholarship Helen Helen Damico, 2015-12-22 This is the third
