Workshops Jeff E. Brooks-Harris, Susan R. Stock-Ward, 1999-06-23 This volume is designed to present a practical approach to designing and running workshops. It is meant to introduce novice facilitators as well as those with much experience to an integrated model of workshop design and development. Grounded in learning theory, this model is used to demonstrate how to design, facilitate and direct workshops as well as how to identify and improve existing skills. Practical how-to sections assist readers in creating specific experiential activities designed to facilitate different types of learning. Readers also learn how to understand and attend to individual differences as well as to take all workshop participants through a universal cycle of learning. Workshops will be useful to anyone who facilitates workshops in higher education, adult education, business, health care and other educational settings.

About Face Dan Hill, 2010-09-03 Once advertising was all about being on message and getting talking points right. But breakthroughs in brain science have confirmed what we all know but don't often admit to: in business, people are primarily emotional decision makers. From podcasting, blogs and forums to interactive ads in stations, the heart of the matter is now the consumer's experience as opposed to the company's marketing message. About Face shows how 21st century advertising can realize success by being on emotion first and foremost. Using data from eye tracking and facial coding to analyze consumer responses, About Face demonstrates exactly which advertising strategies are successful and why. Moving beyond the old Ps of product, price, place and promotion, Dan Hill outlines ten rules for emotionally effective advertising, including simplicity, familiarity, relevancy and believability. Emotions rule decision making. About Face shows you that by focussing on the three new Ps of passion, purpose and personality, your campaigns can become more effective and emotionally engaging, taking you closer to the consumer. Library Journal, 1987
