The Social Archaeology of Australian Indigenous Societies Bruno David, Bryce Barker, Ian J. McNiven, 2006 The Social Archaeology of Indigenous Societies presents original and provocative views on the complex and dynamic social lives of Indigenous Australians from an historical perspective Building on the foundational work of Harry Lourandos the book critically examines and challenges traditional approaches which have presented Indigenous Australian past as static and tethered to ecological rationalism The book reveals the ancient past of Aboriginal Australians to be one of long term changes in social relationships and traditions as well as the active management and manipulation of the environment The book encourages a deeper appreciation of the ways Aboriginal peoples have engaged with and constructed their worlds It solicits a deeper understanding of the contemporary political and social context of research and the insidious impacts of colonialist philosophies In short it concerns people both past and present The Social Archaeology of Indigenous Societies looks beyond the stereo

Religion and Non-Religion among Australian Aboriginal Peoples James L. Cox, Adam Possamai, 2016-12-01 Offering a significant contribution to the emerging field of Non Religion Studies Religion and Non Religion among Australian Aboriginal Peoples draws on Australian 2011 Census statistics to ask whether the Indigenous Australian population like the wider Australian society is becoming increasingly secularised or whether there are other explanations for the surprisingly high percentage of Aboriginal people in Australia who state that they have no religion Contributors from a range of disciplines consider three central questions How do Aboriginal Australians understand or interpret what Westerners have called religion Do Aboriginal Australians distinguish being religious from being non religious How have modernity and Christianity affected Indigenous understandings of religion These questions re focus Western dominated concerns with the decline or revival of religion by incorporating how Indigenous Australians have responded to modernity how modernity has affected Indigenous peoples religious behaviours and perceptions and how variations of response can be found in rural and urban contexts

Histories of Australian Rock Art Research Jo McDonald,2022-09-06 Australia has one of the largest inventories of rock art in the world with pictographs and petroglyphs found almost anywhere that has suitable rock surfaces in rock shelters and caves on boulders and rock platforms First Nations people have been marking these places with figurative imagery abstract designs stencils and prints for tens of thousands of years often engaging with earlier rock markings The art reflects and expresses changing experiences within landscapes over time spirituality history law and lore as well as relationships between individuals and groups of people plants animals land and Ancestral Beings that are said to have created the world including some rock art Since the late 1700s people arriving in Australia have been fascinated with the rock art they encountered with detailed studies commencing in the late 1800s Through the 1900s an impressive body of research on Australian rock art was undertaken with dedicated academic study using archaeological methods employed since the late 1940s Since then Australian rock art has been researched from various perspectives including that of Traditional Owners custodians and other community members Through the 1900s there was also growing interest in Australian rock art from researchers across the globe leading many to visit or migrate to Australia to undertake rock art research In this volume the varied histories of Australian rock art research from different parts of the country are explored not only in terms of key researchers developments and changes over time but also the crucial role of First Nations people themselves in investigations of this key component of their living heritage Preserving Rural Australia A Robertson,R

Watts,1999-01-01 Scientific knowledge alone will not help countries achieve sustainable management of land water and biota Everyone now realises that a partnership is needed between land and water users scientists managers and the community if countries are to achieve the goal of preserving rural resources This book deals with broad issues relating to resource decline and how different groups such as farmers rural town dwellers resource managers and government deal with these issues from social economic and ecological points of view The Legal Protection of Rights in Australia Matthew

Groves,Janina Boughey,Dan Meagher,2019-11-14 How do you protect rights without a Bill of Rights Australia does not have a national bill or charter of rights and looks further away than ever from adopting one But it does have a range of individual elements sourced from common law statute and the Constitution which though unsystematic do provide Australians with some meaningful rights protection This book outlines and explains the unique human rights journey of Australia It moves beyond the criticisms long made of the Australian position that its formalism legalism and exceptionalism compromise its capacity for rights protection to consider how the many elements of its novel legal structure operate This book analyses the interlocking legal framework for the protection of rights in Australia A key theme of the book is that the many different elements of a fragmented scheme can add up to something significant albeit with significant gaps and flaws like any other legal rights protection framework It shows how the jumbled influences of a common law heritage a written constitution differing paths taken by jurisdictions within a single federal state statutory and common law innovations and a strong dose of comparative legal influences have led to the unique patchwork of rights protection in Australia It will provide valuable reading for all those researching in human rights constitutional and comparative law Year Book Australia, 1991 No. 74, 2008 Big, Bold and Blue James Fitzsimons, Geoff Wescott, 2016-07-01 The world's oceans cover about 70% of our planet To safeguard the delicate ecological and environmental functions of the oceans and their remarkable biodiversity networks of marine protected areas are being created In some of these areas human activity is restricted to non exploitative activities and in others it is managed in a sustainable way Australia is at the forefront of marine conservation with one of the largest systems of marine protected areas in the world Big Bold and Blue Lessons from Australia's Marine Protected Areas captures Australia's experience sharing important lessons from the Great Barrier Reef and many other extraordinary marine protected areas It presents real world examples leading academic research perspectives on government policy and information from indigenous sea country management non governmental organisations and commercial and recreational fishing sectors The lessons learnt during the rapid expansion of Australia's marine protected areas both positive and negative will aid and advise other nations in their own marine conservation efforts The book is ideal reading for marine planners and managers across the globe academic institutions where research on marine environments occur government agencies across the world implementing and creating policy around MPA development non government organisations involved in lobbying for MPA expansion and fisheries agencies and industry stakeholders Governing natives Ben Silverstein, 2018-10-16 In the 1930s a series of crises transformed relationships between settlers and Aboriginal people in Australia's Northern Territory By the late 1930s Australian settlers were coming to understand the Northern Territory as a colonial formation requiring a new form of government Responding to crises of social reproduction public power and legitimacy they re thought the scope of settler colonial government by drawing on both the art of indirect rule and on a representational economy of Indigenous elimination to develop a new political dispensation that sought to incorporate and consume Indigenous production and sovereignties This book locates Aboriginal history within imperial history situating the settler colonial politics of Indigeneity in a broader governmental context The American Occupation of Australia, 1941-45 John McKerrow, 2013-07-26 Over 120 000 American troops were stationed in Australia during the Second World War Hundreds of thousands more passed through the country between 1941 and 1945 Because of Japan's conquest of the Philippines in 1942 Australia was transformed into the principle base for the United States Army in the Southwest Pacific This American occupation of an allied country resulted in several areas of tension between friends The examination of these fault lines which have for the most part received little attention from historians is the purpose of this book Jurisdictional and policing disputes and problems between Australian workers and American authorities are examined American personnel committed thousands of crimes during the occupation many of which were notorious How Australians reacted to these crimes and how the American military sought to limit their negative effect on wartime relations is a major focus of this book How the US military tried to protect GIs from prosecution by spiriting them out of Australia is also explored Other areas of tension such as race and gender relations which have been looked at by other historians are examined in a new light this book provides novel insights and challenges the existing historiography with regard to relations between black Americans and Australian civilians How leaders on both sides in particular Douglas MacArthur and John Curtin managed crises and relations between civilians and GIs are studied Sexual relations an area of particular concern for authorities were directed towards short term flings and prostitution In contrast authorities did all they could to discourage long term relations i e marriage Authorities obsessed over interracial sexual relations and doubled efforts to discourage them Conflicts between American personnel and Australian civilians during the occupation did not threaten the alliance against Japan Nevertheless there were myriad problems between allies that led to friction and ill will These problems demanded management from above

Biodiversity and the Law Charles R. McManis, 2012 How do we promote global economic development while simultaneously preserving local biological and cultural diversity This authoritative volume written by leading legal experts and biological and social scientists from around the world addresses this question in all of its complexity The first part of the book focuses on biodiversity and examines what we are losing why and what is to be done The second part addresses biotechnology and looks at whether it is part of the solution or part of the problem or perhaps both The third section examines traditional knowledge explains what it is and how if at all it should be protected The fourth and final part looks at ethnobotany and bioprospecting and offers practical lessons from the vast and diverse experiences of the contributors

Bush Heritage Australia Sarah Martin, 2016-09-01 With a plan to own or manage one per cent of Australia by 2025 Bush Heritage Australia is an organisation with big ambitions Started by Bob Brown in 1991 Bush Heritage was born from an urgent mission to protect pristine land from logging After buying two blocks of land in Tasmania's Liffey Valley Brown built a philanthropic organisation to help pay for them As donations flowed in and the organisation grew Bush Heritage set its sights on acquiring tracts of land across the country repairing environmental degradation and bringing native plants and wildlife back to health Twenty five years later with more than one million hectares in its care Bush Heritage's achievements are celebrated in this book along with its growth from humble beginnings into a large non profit with benefactors all over the world Central to this story are the ecologists researchers land managers local Indigenous groups staff donors and a brigade of volunteers who have helped the organisation to thrive For the ever growing band of benefactors and the volunteers and staff of Bush Heritage Australia happiness flows from our combined effort to ensure that Australia s unique landscapes wildlife and ecosystems prosper into the future BOB BROWN

The Making of Indigenous Australian Contemporary Art Marie Geissler,2021-01-06 This publication brings together existing research as well as new data to show how Arnhem Land bark painting was critical in the making of Indigenous Australian contemporary art and the self determination agendas of Indigenous Australians It identifies how when and what the shifts in the reception of the art were especially as they occurred within institutional exhibition displays Despite key studies already being published on the reception of Aboriginal art in this area the overall process is not well known or always considered while the focus has tended to be placed on Western Desert acrylic paintings This text however represents a refocus and addresses this more fully by integrating Arnhem Land bark painting into the contemporary history of Aboriginal art The trajectory moves from its understanding as a form of ethnographic art to seeing it as conceptual art and appreciating it for its cultural agency and contemporaneity

A History of South Australia Paul Sendziuk,Robert Foster,2018-05-24 A History of South Australia investigates South Australia s history from before the arrival of the first European maritime explorers to the present day and examines its distinctive origins as a free settlement In this compelling and nuanced history Paul Sendziuk and Robert Foster consider the imprint of people on the land and vice versa and offer fresh insights into relations between Indigenous people and the European colonisers They chart South Australia s economic political and social development including the advance and retreat of an interventionist government the establishment of the state s distinctive socio political formations and its relationship to the rest of Australia and the world The first comprehensive single volume history of the state to be published in over fifty years A History of South Australia is an essential and engaging contribution to our understanding of South Australia s past

Land of Sweeping Plains Nicholas S. G. Williams,Adrian Marshall,John Morgan,2015-04-22 Native temperate grasslands are Australia s most threatened ecosystems Grasslands have been eliminated from across much of their former extent and continue to be threatened by urban expansion agricultural intensification weed invasion and the uncertain impacts of climate change Research however is showing us new ways to manage grasslands and techniques for restoration are advancing The importance of ongoing stewardship also means it is vital to develop new strategies to encourage a broader cross section of society to understand and appreciate native grasslands and their ecology Land of Sweeping Plains synthesises the scientific literature in a readily accessible manner and includes a wealth of practical experience held by policy makers farmers community activists and on ground grassland managers It aims to provide all involved in grassland management and restoration with the technical information necessary to conserve and enhance native grasslands For readers without the responsibility of management such as students and those interested in biodiversity conservation it provides a detailed understanding of native grassland ecology management challenges and solutions and importantly inspiration to engage with this critically endangered ecosystem Practical easy to read and richly illustrated this book brings together the grassland knowledge of experts in ethnobotany ecology monitoring planning environmental psychology community engagement flora and fauna management environmental restoration agronomy landscape architecture and urban design

Foundational Fictions in South Australian History Carolyn Collins, Paul Sendziuk, 2018-10-15 In this lively provocative collection some of Australia's leading historians and a Miles Franklin shortlisted historical novelist challenge established myths narratives and beautiful lies about South Australia's past Some are unmasked as false stories that mask brutal realities like colonial violence while others are revealed as simplistic versions of more complex truths Each generation writes history that speaks to its own interests and concerns write historians Paul Ashton and Anna Clark In Foundational Fictions in South Australian History which grew out of a series of public lectures at the University of Adelaide an impressive range of contributors suggest different ways in which familiar narratives of South Australia can be interpreted These essays tap into wider debates too about the nature and purpose of history and the history wars first flamed by John Howard Stuart Macintyre highlights South Australia's central role in several national events Humphrey McQueen questions the origins and influence of the money behind South Australia's so called progressive founding Lucy Treloar suggests historians can learn from novelists when it comes to understanding the past Steven Anderson argues that Don Dunstan's achievement in abolishing capital punishment owed much to a historical movement And Carolyn Collins highlights the role of anti conscription group Save Our Sons SOS in not just ending the Vietnam War but broadening the appeal of the anti war movement

The Habitat of Australia's Aboriginal Languages Gerhard Leitner, Ian G. Malcolm, 2007 The book looks at Aborigines and Torres Strait Islanders and explores the changing habitat of languages from pre colonial times to the present The contributions treat the languages from a structural and functional linguistic perspective
