Press Freedom And Global Politics:

Press Freedom and Global Politics Douglas A. Van Belle, 2000-04-30 Van Belle provides the first systematic analysis of the effects that press freedom has on the conduct of international politics. The institutionalization of press freedoms within a state and the free flow of information between the free presses of different nations creates a foreign policy decision making environment that systematically limits policy options, generates domestic political imperatives and provides specific benefits to a leader. This shapes some aspects of foreign policy in a consistent and empirically identifiable manner, most notably by limiting international conflicts. When social psychological propositions regarding dehumanization and the acceptance of killing in war are introduced to Van Belle's model, shared press freedom is shown to provide a mechanism that prevents lethal conflicts. The effects of press freedom on international conflict, particularly on hypotheses related to escalating conflicts beyond the threshold of casualties, are quite robust. However, Van Belle indicates there is no evidence of a complimentary effect on cooperation. The combination of findings from the empirical analyses suggest that the key to the effects of press freedom center on the creation of images such as the dehumanized image of an enemy. A thoughtful analysis that scholars and researchers of foreign policy and international relations as well as journalism and mass communication will find particularly useful.

The New Global Politics of the Asia-Pacific Michael K. Connors, Rémy Davison, Jörn Dosch, 2017-10-30 Now in its new and fully updated third edition, The New Global Politics of the Asia Pacific continues to provide a compelling analysis of a region undergoing dramatic changes. Based on new research and offering fresh interpretation, this edition evaluates the prospects for continuing US dominance in the Asian Century. Whilst presenting evidence for a multifaceted Beijing Strategy which aims to counter the US by building an alternative regional order, it also explains Japan's definitive departure from its limited military role. Providing an introductory guide for the main frameworks needed to understand the region, including realism, liberalism and critical theory, this new edition is reader friendly and offers sophisticated competing explanations. Key content includes intra-regional conflicts in the South China Sea and the Korean peninsula; the different responses within the Asia Pacific to the globalization of Western ideas of democracy and political economy; the underappreciated success of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations in building a regional identity; the European Union's soft power in the region. A highly topical account which offers an overview of the main actors, institutions and contemporary issues in the Asia Pacific, the book will be essential reading for undergraduate students of Asian Studies, International Politics and anyone interested in the region.

The Greater Middle East in Global Politics Mehdi Amineh, 2007-10-30 This anthology unites in one volume two studies of the Greater Middle East in global politics, each conceptual and empirical. First, it is a historical comparative study of politics and societies in selected Greater Middle Eastern countries from Napoleon's invasion of Ottoman Egypt in 1798 up until today. It addresses development and change in these societies as results of the complex interactions between external developments, the rise and expansion of European industrialized powers and internal developments, the disintegration of Islamic Empires, their transformation into nation states and their efforts to industrialize and modernize. Second, it is an empirical case study of states and societies of the Greater Middle East in global politics, addressing themes such as nationalism, revolution, political Islam, democracy, globalization, regionalism, war, energy and conflict, and cooperation. The book is comprised of three parts and nineteen chapters. Contributors include Mehdi Parvizi, Amineh Simon, Bromley, Robert M. Cutler, Louisa Dris, A. t. Hamadouche, S. N. Eisenstadt, Femke Hoogeveen, Henk Houweling, B. M. Jain, Mehran Kamrava, Roger Kangas, Fred H. Lawson, Prithvi Ram Mudiam, Nilgun Onder, Wilbur Perlot, Richard Pomfret, Kurt W. Revised and updated throughout, the fourth edition offers examples engaging with the latest developments in global politics: the climate crisis and anthropocentrism, Indigenous experiences and thinking, racism and the rise of xenophobia, artificial intelligence, citizen journalism, global health and pandemic response, and drone warfare. Global Politics examines most significant issues in global politics: poverty, development, colonialism, human rights, gender inequality, race, war, peacebuilding, security, violence, nationalism, authority, and what we can do to change the world. Offers chapters written to a common structure ideal for teaching and learning, and features a key question, an illustrative example, general responses, and broader issues. Integrates theory and practice throughout the text, drawing on international relations, political theory, postcolonial studies, sociology, geography, peace studies, and development. 'Democratic Backsliding' in Central and Eastern Europe Licia Cianetti,James Dawson,Seán Hanley,2020-06-29 This book seeks to inject fresh thinking into the debate on democratic deterioration in Central and Eastern Europe CEE viewing democratic backsliding through the prism of a range of cases beyond Hungary and Poland to redress the imbalance in current scholarship Over the past decade a consensus has emerged that democracy in CEE is sharply deteriorating perhaps even backsliding into new forms of authoritarianism Debate has however so far focused disproportionately on the two most dramatic and surprising cases Hungary and Poland This book reflects on the backsliding debate through the experience of CEE countries such as the Czech Republic Bulgaria Latvia and Estonia as well as neighbouring post communist regions such as the Western Balkans and former Soviet Union cases such as Moldova and Ukraine whose patterns of failing or partial democratisation may be newly instructive for analysing the development of CEE Contributors present less frequently considered perspectives on democratic backsliding in the CEE region such as the role of oligarchisation and wealth concentration the potential of ethnographical approaches to democracy evaluation the trade offs between democratic quality and democratic stability and the long term interplay between social movements state building and democratisation This book was originally published as a special issue of East European Politics Public Sentinel Pippa Norris,2009-11-19 What are the ideal roles the mass media should play as an institution to strengthen democratic governance and thus bolster human development Under what conditions do media systems succeed or fail to meet these objectives And what strategic reforms would close the gap between the democratic promise and performance of media systems Working within the notion of the democratic public sphere Public Sentinel News Media and Governance Reform emphasizes the institutional or collective roles of the news media as watchdogs over the powerful as agenda setters calling attention to social needs in natural and human caused disasters and humanitarian crises and as gatekeepers incorporating a diverse and balanced range of political perspectives and social actors Each is vital to making democratic governance work in an effective transparent inclusive and accountable manner The capacity of media systems and thus individual reporters embedded within those institutions to fulfill these roles is constrained by the broader context of the journalistic profession the market and ultimately the state Successive chapters apply these arguments to countries and regions worldwide This study brought together a wide range of international experts under the auspices of the Communication for Governance and Accountability Program CommGAP at the World Bank and the Joan Shorenstein Center on the Press Politics and Public Policy at Harvard University The book is designed for policy makers and media professionals working within the international development community national governments and grassroots organizations and for journalists democratic activists and scholars engaged in understanding mass communications democratic governance and development A Practice of Ethics for Global Politics Jack L. Amoureux, 2015-10-05 What kind of ethics in world politics is possible if there is no foundation for moral knowledge or global reality is at least complex and contingent Furthermore how can an ethics grapple with difference a persistent and confounding feature for global politics This book responds to the call for a bold and creative approach to ethics that avoids assuming or aspiring to universality and instead prioritizes difference complexity and uncertainty by turning to reflexivity not as method or methodology but as a practice of ethics for politics This practice ethical reflexivity offers individuals organizations and communities tools to recognize interrogate and potentially change the stories they tell about politics about constraints notions of responsibility and visions of desirability The benefits and limits of ethical reflexivity are investigated by the author who engages writing on critique rhetoric affect and relationality and carefully considers dominant and alternative framings of difficult issues in International Relations IR the 1994 genocide in Rwanda and the US policies of enhanced interrogation and drone strikes This path breaking study provokes new possibilities for agency and action and contributes to a growing literature in IR on reflexivity by uniquely elaborating its promise as an ethics for politics and by drawing on thinkers less utilized in discussions of reflexivity such as Hannah Arendt Michel Foucault and Aristotle This book will appeal to scholars and upper level graduates in several sub fields of IR including international global ethics IR theory global governance international organizations non governmental organizations foreign policy analysis and US foreign policy
