Time: The Rediscovered Footprints of Travellers in Egypt and the Near East Neil Cooke, 2019-06-27 Early travellers in Egypt and the Near East made great contributions to our historical and geographical knowledge and gave us a better understanding of the different peoples languages and religions of the region Travellers in this volume are a mixture of rich and poor bravely adventuring into the unknown not knowing if would ever return home The Experience of Idling in

Victorian Travel Texts, 1850-1901 Heidi Liedke, 2018-08-02 This book brings together theories of spatiality and mobility with a study of travel writing in the Victorian period to suggest that idleness is an important but neglected condition of subjectivity in that era Contrary to familiar stereotypes of the Victorians as characterized by speed work and mechanized travel this book asserts a counter narrative in which certain writers embraced idleness in travel as a radical means to re subjectification and the assertion of a late Romantic sensibility Attentive to the historical and literary continuities between Romantic and Victorian the book reconstructs the Victorian discourse on idleness It draws on an interdisciplinary range of theorists and brings together a fresh selection of accounts viewed through the lens of cultural studies as well as accounts of publication history and author biography Travel texts from different genres by writers such as Anna Mary Howitt Jerome K Jerome and George Gissing are brought together as representing the different facets of the spectrum of idleness in the Victorian context The school journey, a means of teaching geography, physiography, and elementary science. With additional 'journeys' by G.G. Lewis and T. Crawshaw Joseph H. Cowham, 1900 London in Cinema Charlotte

Brunsdon, 2019-07-25 Charlotte Brunsdon's illuminating study explores the variety of cinematic Londons that appear in films made since 1945 Brunsdon traces the familiar ways that film makers establish that a film is set in London by use of recognisable landmarks and the city's shorthand iconography of red buses and black taxis as well as the ways in which these icons are avoided She looks at London weather fog and rain and everyday locations like the pub and the housing estate while also examining the recurring patterns of representation associated with films set in the East and West Ends of London from Spring in Park Lane 1948 to Mona Lisa 1986 and from Night and the City 1950 to From Hell 2001 Brunsdon provides a detailed analysis of a selection of films exploring their contribution to the cinematic geography of London and showing the ways in which feature films have responded to and created changing views of the city She traces London's transformation from imperial capital to global city through the different ways in which the local is imagined in films ranging from Ealing comedies to Pressure 1974 as well as through the shifting imagery of the River Thames and the Docks She addresses the role of cinematic genres such as horror and film noir in the constitution of the cinematic city as well as the recurrence of figures such as the cockney the gangster and the housewife Challenging the view that London is not a particularly cinematic city Brunsdon demonstrates that many London set films offer their own meditation on the complex relationships between the cinema and the city

Travel and Tourism in Britain, 1700-1914 Vol 1 Susan Barton, Allan Brodie, 2021-12-24 The British led the way in holidaymaking This four volume primary resource collection brings together a diverse range of texts on the various forms of transport used by tourists the destinations they visited the role of entertainments and accommodation and how these affected the way that tourism evolved over two centuries Volume 1 Travel and Destinations Texts in this volume draw on accounts by early travellers from short factual lists to longer subjective descriptions Documents show how eagerly new forms of transport were adopted and how they gave rise to different leisure activities and new destinations Methods of travel covered include early road travel by horse or wagon river travel via sail and steamships railways the safety bicycle motorized transport charabancs coaches buses cars and bicycles and finally air travel

Riverbank and Seashore in Nineteenth and Twentieth Century British Literature Gillian Mary Hanson, 2005-11-17 The waters of river and sea represent a kind of freedom a liberty which as Iris Murdoch writes enables man to exist sanely without fear and to perceive what is real As settings in fiction the riverbank and seashore are rich in potential offering a sense of destiny and suggesting the possibility of self truth and self knowledge In British literature the rural costal setting shadowed by cliffs tugged by the constant movement of the sea becomes the site of revelation and generates the energy that brings characters to a new level of self awareness The river s embankments bridges and tunnels often mark specific stages of revelation and movement in plot Entrapment and isolation contingency and communication are themes that seem born of such settings This book examines the ways in which 21 modern and postmodern writers from Tennyson to Ted Hughes from Jane Austen to Jane Gardam have made use of the physical environment of riverbank and seashore in their work It considers how each author employs the physical settings in the service of plot and character development and how those settings are used to connect with some of the major intellectual concerns of the late 19th and 20th centuries Appendices offer significant quotations from the texts under discussion arranged according to the location they describe the rural river the urban river river into sea the rural shore and the urban shore

Thames Journey Paul Gedge, 1949 Travel Magazine, 1905 Drancy - Journey's End Raymond Roscoe, Film Treatment Available to legitimate producers Brief Overview At just 14 years old a boy from Liverpool England borrows his older brother's birth certificate to pursue a dream of adventure at sea In 1937 he joined a ship owned by the Harrison Line enjoying three years of life at sea before World War II erupted In 1940 his unarmed cargo ship is attacked by a German Raider disguised as a Swedish vessel The Raider's crew mercilessly plunders the ship before sinking it killing some crew members and taking the rest including the young boy as prisoners of war Journey to Drancy After months of captivity at sea the boy and his fellow POWs are transported to occupied France and confined in Drancy a concentration camp notorious for its inhumane conditions There they endure torture starvation and the constant fear of being sent to Auschwitz Drancy is a place of horror where the screams of tortured men women and children fill the night After six agonizing months the boy is transferred to various German POW camps where he continues to struggle for survival amidst gruelling conditions and dangerous escape attempts He remains a POW until six months after the war's end finally returning to a world that has drastically changed Post War Injustice Forty years after the war Germany established a compensation fund for those who suffered in the Drancy Concentration Camp France However when a British MP seeks to secure the compensation that Germany awarded for the few British survivors of Drancy the government tribunal refuses dismissing Drancy as merely a transit camp This decision stands in stark contrast to overwhelming evidence from survivors historians and authorities in Germany France Israel and beyond who recognize Drancy's true nature as a concentration camp A full twenty page stenographer's transcript of the tribunal meeting is included in the book
