literary account in diary form that combines different text types and tones into a multi layered collage In addition to narrative passages it includes numerous political notes comic dialogues and sardonic comments as well as a wealth of architectural topographical and ethnological descriptions in exceedingly poetic language The travelogue has long since become a classic of modernist British literature While Bruce Chatwin has referred to it as a work of genius Paul Fussell has attached to it as much importance for the literary canon of the interwar period as James Joyce s novel Ulysses or T S Eliot s poem The Waste Land Even though Robert Byron has sometimes been criticized for his orientalist ideas he must still be considered a pioneer of contemporary travel literature

Reciprocities in the Nonfiction Novel John Russell,2000 Nonfiction novels have usually been associated with the new journalism writers of the 1960s such as Tom Wolfe Norman Mailer and Truman Capote Yet this form has long commanded a key position in the literary canon as John Russell now reveals Russell identifies eleven major works not usually thought of as nonfiction novels such as Isak Dinesen s Out of Africa and E E Cummings s The Enormous Room to create a new definition of the genre He shows that journalistic writing is characterized by a reporter s proprietary stance which undermines reciprocity with subjects while true nonfiction novels feature greater reciprocity and also employ such techniques as circular narrative and bricolage Reciprocities in the Nonfiction Novel contributes to ongoing explorations of literary forms and offers wise commentary on how writing about real life can become art
