Robert Irwin Getty Garden:

Robert Irwin Getty Garden Lawrence Weschler, 2020-06-18 A beautifully illustrated accessible volume about one of the Getty Center's best loved sites Among the most beloved sites at the Getty Center the Central Garden has aroused intense interest from the moment artist Robert Irwin was awarded the commission First published in 2002 Robert Irwin Getty Garden is comprised of a series of discussions between noted author Lawrence Weschler and Irwin providing a lively account of what Irwin has playfully termed a sculpture in the form of a garden aspiring to be art The text revolves around four garden walks extended conversations in which the artist explains the critical choices he made from plant materials to steel in the creation of a living work of art that has helped to redefine what a modern garden can and should be This updated edition features new photography of the Central Garden in a smaller more accessible format The Art Experience in Robert Irwin's Getty Garden Erika Leon, 2012 Robert Irwin's Central Garden at the Getty Museum, 2016 Robert Irwin was born in Long Beach California in 1928 As a young man he worked as a lifeguard and professional swing dancer while creating his early paintings In the 1950s he became a pioneer of the Light and Space movement popular with a handful of now very influential southern California artists Later in the 1960s and 1970s he moved away from painting and developed what he called conditional art or art that was created in direct response to various physical experiential and situation conditions In the early 1990s he was brought in by the Getty Trust to design the new Getty Museum's garden Although the museum's architect Richard Meier was not a fan of Irwin's imaginative creation the Getty Central Garden has proved to be extremely popular with visitors and is now regarded as a masterpiece of landscape art In this interview Irwin discusses his approach to conditional art and how it influenced the process of creating the Central Garden and he considers how the garden might continue to evolve in the years and decades to come In the second session of this interview Irwin is joined by Jim Duggan the master gardener who helped Irwin achieve his vision by providing Irwin with access the necessary raw materials and on occasion reining him in when his ideas exceeded the climatic and physical realities of the site Seeing the Getty Gardens Jeffrey Hirsch, J. Paul Getty Museum, 1998 The Art of Perception Jennifer Kay Zell, 2007 The California Garden Tour Donald Olson, 2017-08-09 A fantastic garden journey that only California can provide In The California Garden Tour veteran travel writer Donald Olson highlights 50 outstanding public gardens and provides all the information you need to make the most of your visit From San Francisco and the East Bay to Palm Springs and San Diego Olson includes iconic gardens like the Getty Center new favorites like Alcatraz and uniquely Californian destinations like Lotusland and Sunnylands The easy to use format includes visitor information an evocative description and full color photography for each garden Plants in the Getty's Central Garden Jim Duggan, 2003 Plants in the Getty's Central Garden is Jim Duggan's sequel to the book Robert Irwin Getty Garden Lawrence Weschler's account of the making of the Central Garden at the Getty Center in Los Angeles Designed by contemporary artist Robert Irwin this sculpture in the form of a garden aspiring to be art draws

World of Gardens John Dixon Hunt,2014-05-14 A Japanese garden is immediately distinct to the eye from the traditional gardens of an English manor house just as the manicured topiaries of Versailles contrast with the sharp cacti of the American Southwest Though gardening is beloved the world over the style of gardens themselves varies from region to region determined as much by culture as climate In this series of illustrated essays John Dixon Hunt takes us on a world tour of different periods in the making of gardens Hunt shows here how cultural assumptions and local geography have shaped gardens and their meaning He explores our continuing responses to land and reworkings of the natural world encompassing a broad range of gardens from ancient Roman times to early Islamic and Mughal gardens from Chinese and Japanese gardens to the invention of the public park and modern landscape architecture A World of Gardens looks at key chapters in garden history reviewing their significance past and present and tracing the recurrence of different themes and motifs in the design and reception of gardens throughout the world A World of Gardens celebrates the idea that similar experiences of gardens can be found in many different times and places including sacred landscapes scientific gardens urban gardens secluded gardens and symbolic gardens Featuring two hundred images this book is a treasure trove of ideas and inspiration whether your garden is a window box a secluded backyard or a daydream Gardens for the Future Guy Cooper,Gordon

The Afterlife of Gardens John Dixon Hunt, 2013-12-15 Most books on the history of gardens describe the way that gardens have been created by contrast The Afterlife of Gardens examines the way that gardens have been experienced Using examples from many sites around the world John Dixon Hunt examines responses to gardens from Renaissance sites to Baroque creations to modern motorway landscaping Examining how a garden has been experienced extends its history beyond the physical into cultural terms and the author describes how this afterlife of gardens as they are understood and experienced by many generations is often redesigned in visitors imaginative and cultural responses The author looks at many aspects of the subject including the enigmatic Hypnerotomachia Polifili of 1499 part fictional narrative and part scholarly treatise this fascinating early narrative of garden reception paves the way for an exploration of subsequent landscapes and their reception in later periods He also looks at Italian Renaissance gardens the Picturesque the architectural and inscriptional elements of gardens the ways experiences of gardens have been recorded and the different kinds of movement within gardens from the strolling pedestrian to the motorway traveller who experiences landscapes at speed In this ambitious new book the author shows how the complete history of a garden must extend beyond the moment of its design and the aims of the designer to record its subsequent reception He raises questions about the preservation of historical sites and provides lessons for the contemporary designer who may perhaps be more attentive to the life of a work after its design and implementation This book will interest all who have a professional interest in gardens as well as the wide general audience for gardens and landscapes of past and present

Site, Sight, Insight John Dixon Hunt, 2016-03-07 Site Sight Insight presents twelve essays by John Dixon Hunt the leading theorist and historian of landscape architecture The collection's common theme is a focus on sites how we see them and what we derive from that looking Acknowledging that even the most modest landscape encounter has validity Hunt contends that the more one knows about a site and one's own sight of it an awareness of how one is seeing the greater the insight Employing the concepts tropes and rhetorical methods of literary analysis he addresses the problem of how to discuss understand and appreciate places that are experienced through all the senses over time and through space Hunt questions our intellectual and aesthetic understanding of gardens and designed landscapes and asks how these sites affect us emotionally Do gardens have meaning When we visit a fine garden or designed landscape we experience a unique work of great complexity in purpose which has been executed over a number of years a work that occasionally achieves beauty While direct experience is fundamental Hunt demonstrates how the ways in which gardens and landscapes are communicated in word and image can be equally important He returns frequently to a cluster of key sites and writings on which he has based much of his thinking about garden making and its role in landscape architecture the gardens of Rousham in Oxfordshire Thomas Whately's Observations on Modern Gardening 1770 William Gilpin's dialogues on Stowe 1747 Alexander Pope's meditation on genius loci the Dessert de Retz Paolo Burgo's Cardada and the designs by Bernard Lassus and Ian Hamilton Finlay
