Washington Irving: Three Western Narratives (LOA #146) Washington Irving, 2004-01-26

America's first internationally acclaimed author Washington Irving established his fame with tales of the Hudson Valley in the days of Dutch rule and then spent seventeen years in Europe mining the Old World for stories. When he finally returned to the United States, he embarked on a trilogy of books on the American West that would prove decisive in molding his compatriots' conception of the Great Plains, the Rocky Mountains, and the Pacific Northwest. The Library of America presents this Western trilogy in its third volume of Irving's work. Irving's own encounter with the West came in 1832 when he accompanied the Commissioner of Indian Affairs on a month-long journey to what is now eastern Oklahoma. His account of that trip, A Tour on the Prairies (1835), described wild landscape, rugged inhabitants, and dramatic chases and hunts with an eye for romantic sublimity and a keen appreciation of the frontiersman's secret of personal freedom. After the success of his first western book, Irving undertook to write the history of John Jacob Astor's ultimately failed attempt to establish a fur trading empire in the Northwest. In Astoria (1836), he created a sweeping epic of exploration, commercial enterprise, and contest for dominion on the shores of the Pacific, drawing on Astor's rich archive of materials and enlivening it with his flair for vigorous storytelling. In The Adventures of Captain Bonneville (1837), Irving focused on a single memorable figure, an army officer and fur trader who may also have been an American spy tracking British ambitions in the far country to reveal the flavor of frontier life in the Rockies and beyond.
