margins of the contemporary art world By 1991 when he left his post as critic for the New York Times photography was at the vital center of artistic debate Grundberg writes eloquently and authoritatively about photography's boom years chronicling the medium's increasing role within the most important art movements of the time from Earth Art and Conceptual Art to performance and video He also traces photography's embrace by museums and galleries as well as its politicization in the culture wars of the 80s and 90s Grundberg reflects on the landmark exhibitions that defined the moment and his encounters with the work of leading photographers many of whom he knew personally including Gordon Matta Clark Cindy Sherman and Robert Mapplethorpe He navigates crucial themes such as photography's relationship to theory as well as feminism and artists of color Part memoir and part history this perspective by one of the period's leading critics ultimately tells a larger story about the crucial decades of the 70s and 80s through the medium of photography Reframing
