This original study examines women s activism against war in areas as far apart as Sierra Leone India Colombia and Palestine It shows women on different sides of conflicts in the former Yugoslavia and Israel addressing racism and refusing enmity and describes international networks of women opposing US and Western European militarism and the so called war on terror These movements though diverse are generating an antimilitarist feminism that challenges how war and militarism are understood both in academic studies and the mainstream anti war movement Gender particularly the form taken by masculinity in a violent sex gender system is inseparably linked to economic and ethno national factors in the perpetuation of war Proteomics of Peroxisomes Luis A. del Río,Michael Schrader,2018-10-30 This new edited volume in the Springer

Subcellular Biochemistry Series presents a comprehensive state of the art overview of the proteomics of peroxisomes derived from mammalian Drosophila fungal and plant origin and contains contributions from leading experts in the field The development of sensitive proteomics and mass spectrometry technologies combined with bioinformatics approaches now allow the identification of low abundance and transient peroxisomal proteins and permits to identify the complete proteome of peroxisomes with the consequent increase of our knowledge of the metabolic and regulatory networks of these important cellular organelles The book lines up with these developments and is organized in four sections including i mass spectrometry based organelle proteomics ii prediction of peroxisomal proteomes iii analysis of peroxisome proteome interaction networks and iv peroxisomes in relation to other subcellular compartments The editor Luis A del R o is Professor ad honorem of the Spanish National Research Council CSIC in the Group of Antioxidants Free Radicals and Nitric Oxide in Biotechnology Food and Agriculture Department of Biochemistry and Cell Molecular Biology of Plants at the Estaci n Experimental del Zaid n Granada Spain Del R o s research group focuses on the metabolism of reactive oxygen species ROS reactive nitrogen species RNS and antioxidants in plant peroxisomes and the ROS and RNS dependent role of peroxisomes in plant cell signalling The editor Michael Schrader is Professor of Cell Biology Cytopathology in the Department of Biosciences at the University of Exeter UK Using mammalian peroxisomes as model organelles Prof Schrader and his team aim to unravel the molecular machinery and signalling pathways that mediate and regulate the formation dynamics and abundance of these medically relevant cellular compartments Clinical Neuroembryology Hans J. ten Donkelaar,Martin Lammens,Akira

Hori,2023-09-11 This book provides a comprehensive overview of the development of the human central nervous system CNS in the context of its many developmental disorders due to genetic environmental and hypoxic ischaemic causes The book contains three general introductory chapters in which an overview of the development of the human brain and spinal cord a summary of mechanisms of development as obtained in experimental studies in various invertebrates and vertebrates and an overview of the causes of congenital malformations are presented The developmental disorders of the human brain and spinal cord are presented in a regional more or less segmental way starting with neurulation and neural tube defects and ending with developmental disorders of the cerebral cortex These chapters are abundantly illustrated in colour with carefully chosen clinical case studies with imaging data and when available postmortem verification of the developmental disorders involved In the third edition more emphasis has been given to the developmental ontology based on the prosomeric approach and fetal development Prenatal diagnosis by ultrasound MRI and DTI and classifications of developmental disorders have been updated A number of new Clinical Cases have been included Several new co authors participate in various chapters The book is intended for advanced medical students and all those clinicians working with children and adults with developmental disorders of the CNS Unique to the book is the integration of data from human embryology experimental and molecular findings in mice in particular imaging and developmental neuropathology

Molecular Machines Involved in Peroxisome Biogenesis and Maintenance Cecile Brocard, Andreas Hartig, 2014-07-23 In eukaryotes lipid metabolism requires the function of peroxisomes These multitasking organelles are also part of species specific pathways such as the glyoxylate cycle in yeast and plants or the synthesis of ether lipid in mammals Proteins required for the biogenesis of peroxisomes typically assemble in large molecular complexes which participate in membrane formation protein transport peroxisome duplication and inheritance during cell division Peroxisomal function is essential for life Mutations in PEX genes encoding for biogenesis factors are often associated with lethal disorders The association of peroxisomes with other organelles suggests an extensive participation in organellar crosstalk This book represents a state of the art review in the field of peroxisome research encompassing the cell and molecular biology of peroxisome biogenesis and its diseases the protein complexes involved in this process and the modern technologies applied to study them The book is intended for graduate students researchers and lecturers in biochemistry molecular and cell biology with a biomedical background
