Judith Butler and Education Deborah Youdell, 2020-04-22 The work of Judith Butler has been at the forefront of both theorising the subject as a product of power and explicating possibilities for political alliances and action that are available to such subjects Mobilising a range of philosophical resources from Hegel and Foucault to Lacan Levinas Wittig and Arendt her work has held a core concern with the way that the subject is made in terms of sex gender and sexuality and has been an invaluable resource in the development of queer theory and thinking about queer practice Butler's scholarly work has been aimed primarily at a philosophical audience yet her insights into the constitution constraint and agency of subjects are profoundly political and have become invaluable resources in feminist queer anti racist and anti capitalist work Over the last two decades she has been a major influence on research concerned with social justice in education and has changed the ways that classroom practices and relationships can be understood transforming the way we think about both teacher and student This collection brings together some of the most outstanding work in education that has developed and applied Butler's work to empirical questions translating her philosophy for an education audience and providing compelling analyses of the ways that the subjects of education are made how inequalities are produced in the minutiae of practice and how education's subjectivated subjects can act politically The chapters in this book were originally published as articles in Taylor and Francis journals

War, Violence and Social Justice Masoud Kamali, 2016-03-09 This book analyses the role of war and violence in both its physical and symbolic forms for social work in a time of neoliberal globalisation from a social justice perspective It argues that the consequences of wars in both their old and new forms and the exercise of symbolic violence for the practices of social work at national and global levels have been ignored This work explores the relationship between recent neoliberal and global transformations and their consequences for intensifying new wars and conflicts in non Western countries on the one hand and the increasing symbolic violence against marginalised people with immigrant and non Western background in many Western countries on the other The analytical approach of the book based on the theories of multiple modernities and symbolic violence is unique since no other work has applied such theoretical perspectives for analysing inequalities in relation to the condition of lives of non Western people living in Western and non Western countries This is a necessary contribution for social work education and research since the discipline needs new theoretical perspectives to be able to meet the new challenges raised by recent global transformations and neoliberal globalisation
