Roy Stryker Usa 1943 1950:

Roy stryker ,1983 ROY STRYKER - USA, ~1943-1950œ (NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FORTY-THREE TO NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY). STEVEN WRIGHT PLATTNER,1983 Roy Stryker, U.S.A., 1943-1950 Steven Wright Plattner,International Center of Photography,1983 ROY STRYKER: USA, 1943 - 1950 (NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FORTY-THREE TO NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY) : THE STANDARD OIL (N.J.) PHOTOGR. PROJECT ; CATALOGUE FOR THE EXHIBITION 'ROY STRYKER: U.S.A., 1943 - 1950', HELD AT THE INTERNAT. CENTER OF PHOTOGR. IN NEW YORK ,1983 Picturing Minnesota, 1936-1943 Robert L. Reid,1989 Picturing Minnesota brings together the best of the images taken in Minnesota from the collection of photographs commissioned by the Farm Security Administration during the depression era and the advent of World War II Among the photographers represented here are John Vachon a native of St Paul Russell Lee Jack Delano Arthur Rothstein and Marion Post Wolcott Outstanding as photographic works of art these pictures are unique in their ability to convey the details of life in Minnesota during those years Publisher s description from lensculture com Documenting America, 1935-1943 Carl Fleischhauer,Beverly W. Brannan,1988 Between 1935 and 1943 a group of photographers under the direction of Roy Emerson Stryker set out to photograph the United States for the Farm Security Administration and the Office of War Information Photographs taken by this celebrated group whose ranks included Dorothea Lange Ben Shahn Gordon Parks Russell Lee and Walker Evans have since become icons of the 1930s and 1940s In recent years however their work has been reproduced with little discussion of the particular circumstances surrounding its creation Documenting America takes a fresh look at these remarkable photographs The book opens with two incisive essays by Lawrence Levine and Alan Trachtenberg that examine issues central to photography and American culture While Levine explains how the pictures portray the complexity of life in the period balancing scenes of Depression hard times with images of the pleasures of life Trachtenberg analyzes the way in which viewers read photographs and the role of the government picture file that stands between the creation of the photographs and their use Both essayists raise important questions about Stryker s grand ambition of a photographic record of America about the ways of seeing that have grown up around the most famous of these photographs and about the whole enterprise of documentary photography and the conventions of realism The images themselves are presented in series selected from groups of pictures created by single photographers A documentary photographer often makes dozens of exposures to portray different elements of the subject experiment with camera angles and cover the stages of an event or steps of a process By studying these pictures in series we come closer to the photographer working in the field We see a tenant farming community in Gee s Bend Georgia the activities of the Salvation Army in San Francisco and the hubbub and commotion that filled Chicago s Union Railway Station in 1943 Texts accompanying each of the book s fifteen series describe the circumstances that gave rise to the creation of the pictures and discuss the relation between government policy and the subjects of the photographs The nearly three hundred images included vividly portray America in the last bitter years of the Great Depression and the first years of the Second World War Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Photography, 3-Volume Set Lynne Warren, 2005-11-15 The Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century Photography explores the vast international scope of twentieth century photography and explains that history with a wide ranging interdisciplinary manner This unique approach covers the aesthetic history of photography as an evolving art and documentary form while also recognizing it as a developing technology and cultural force This Encyclopedia presents the important developments movements photographers photographic institutions and theoretical aspects of the field along with information about equipment techniques and practical applications of photography To bring this history alive for the reader the set is illustrated in black and white throughout and each volume contains a color plate section A useful glossary of terms is also included

Barnstorming the Prairies Jason Weems, 2015-12-29 To Midwesterners tucked into small towns or farms early in the twentieth century the landscape of the American heartland reached the horizon and then imagination had to provide what lay beyond But when aviation took off and scenes of the Midwest were no longer earthbound the Midwestern landscape was transformed and with it Jason Weems suggests in this book the very idea of the Midwest itself Barnstorming the Prairies offers a panoramic vista of the transformative nature and power of the aerial vision that remade the Midwest in the wake of the airplane This new perspective from above enabled Americans to conceptualize the region as something other than isolated and unchanging and to see it instead as a dynamic space where people worked to harmonize the core traditions of America s agrarian character with the more abstract forms of twentieth century modernity In the maps and aerial survey photography of the Midwest as well as the painting cinema animation and suburban landscapes that arose through flight Weems also finds a different and provocative view of modernity in the making In representations of the Midwest from Grant Wood s iconic images to the Prairie style of Frank Lloyd Wright to the design of greenbelt suburbs Weems reveals aerial vision s fundamental contribution to regional identity to Midwesternness as we understand it Reading comparatively across these images Weems explores how the cognitive and perceptual practices of aerial vision helped to resymbolize the Midwestern landscape amid the technological change and social uncertainty of the early twentieth century Picturescope

, 1982 The Railroad Photography of Jack Delano Tony Reeve, 2015-12-14 Born in the Ukraine photographer Jack Delano moved to the United States in 1923 After graduating from Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in 1937 Delano worked for the Farm Security Administration FSA and the Office of War Information OWI as a photographer Best known for his work for the Office of War Information during 1940 1943 Jack Delano captured the face of American railroading in a series of stunning photographs His images especially his portraits of railroad workers are a vibrant and telling portrait of industrial life during one of the most important periods in American history This remarkable collection features Delano s photographs of railroad operations and workers taken for the OWI in the winter of 1942 43 and during a cross country journey on the

Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railway plus an extensive selection of his groundbreaking color images The introduction provides the most complete summary of Delano s life published to date Both railroad and photography enthusiasts will treasure this worthy tribute to one of the great photographers of the thirties and forties The Appalachian Photographs of Earl Palmer Jean Haskell Speer,2014-07-11 For more than fifty years mountain born Earl Palmer traveled the Southern Appalachians with his camera recording his personal vision of the mountain people and their heritage Over these year he created in several thousand photographs a distinctive body of work that affirms a traditional image of Appalachia a region of great natural beauty inhabited by a self sufficient people whose lives are notable for simplicity and harmony For this book Jean Haskell Speer has selected more than 120 representative photographs from Palmer s collection and has written a biographical and critical commentary based on extensive interviews with the photographer Palmer s photographs Speer argues are significant cultural statements that depict not so much a geographical region as a particular idea of Appalachia

Maryland in Black and White Constance B. Schulz,2013-10-15 Compelling photographs of people and places throughout Maryland during one of the nation s most anxious decades Between 1935 and 1943 the United States government commissioned forty four photographers to capture American faces along with living and working conditions across the country Nearly 180 000 photographs were taken 4 000 in Maryland and they are now preserved in the Prints and Photographs Division of the Library of Congress Constance B Schulz presents a selection of these images in Maryland in Black and White Maryland in the 1930s and early 40s truly represented a microcosm of America a middle ground where beach and mountain north and south urban and rural black and white farmer and businessman rich and poor young and old met This period also witnessed a turning point in the state s history The pace and nature of change varied from region to region but even in areas that seemed most resistant to it the Chesapeake Bay where oyster tongs harvested their catch using methods unchanged for centuries or the mountains and streams of Garrett County where the seasons timelessly repeated themselves the momentum toward a modern economy influenced if not dominated by urban and national concerns had significant impact Within these pages the farms and coal fields of 1930s and 40s Western Maryland the tobacco fields of Southern Maryland watermen in wooden boats along the Eastern Shore and smiling couples dancing at a wartime senior prom come back to life These photographs reveal places we know but scarcely recognize and give us another look at the people of the greatest generation Making Connections Margaret Walsh,2017-05-15 This book argues that legal persuasion results from making and breaking mental connections To support this argument it follows a cognitive science roadmap while the authors road test the directions through rhetorical analysis By taking a rhetorical approach to persuasion the authors are able to integrate research from cognitive science with classical and contemporary rhetorical theory and then to apply both to the taking apart and the putting together of effective legal arguments The combination of rhetorical analysis and cognitive science yields a new way of seeing and understanding legal persuasion one that promises theoretical and practical gains The work has three main functions First it brings together the leading models of persuasion from cognitive science and rhetorical theory blurring boundaries and leverage connections between the often separate spheres of science and rhetoric Second it illustrates this persuasive synthesis by working through concrete examples of persuasion from real life legal contexts In this way the book demonstrates the advantages of a deeper and more nuanced understanding of persuasion Third the volume assesses and explains why how and when certain persuasive methods and techniques are more effective than others The book is designed to appeal to scholars in law rhetoric persuasion science and psychology to students learning the practice of law and to judges and practicing lawyers who engage in persuasion Stated as Fact Michael Bzdak, Charles Stainback, 1989

Talk about Trouble Nancy J. Martin-Perdue, Charles L. Perdue, 1996 Talk about Trouble presents 61 Writers Project life histories that depict Virginia men and women both blacks and whites and offer a cross section of ages occupations experiences and cultural and class backgrounds Headnotes set the context for each life history and introduce people and themes that link individual events and experiences

Back Home Again Robert L. Reid, 1987 Back Home Again consists almost entirely of 132 photographs but what photographs These pictures from the Great Depression and the World War II homefront document a brief and often troubling period in the lives of some typical Hoosiers The limiting word is some for the Farm Security Administration photographers worked on specific assignments and did not cover the full range of Indiana society or geography Their subjects were chiefly the ordinary people of farms and small towns mainly in central and southern Indiana Indianapolis is well represented in numbers but the peacetime pictures seem rather cold and distant when compared with the intensely human drama of the farms and small towns A more emotional atmosphere appears in the pictures taken at Fort Benjamin Harrison and the wartime bus station Robert L Reid s comments are brief but helpful describing the photographic program of the Resettlement Administration of 1935 renamed the Farm Security Administration after the Department of Agriculture

absorbed it in 1937 Unlike some picture books the images here are sharply printed in a generous six by eight inch format and carefully identified by photographer location date and Library of Congress file number From the impoverished farmers in the hills of Brown County to the great flood of 1937 and the young soldiers and sailors of 1942 Dorothea Lange Theodor Jung and their colleagues produced an eloquent record of a not so distant yet long ago Indiana Reid has selected a few of their finest photographs for this attractive volume Patrick J Furlong scholarworks iu edu The Black Image in the New Deal Nicholas Natanson,1992 Between 1935 and 1942 photographers for the New Deal s Resettlement Administration Farm Security Administration FSA captured in powerfully moving images the travail of the Great Depression and the ways of a people confronting radical social change Those who speak of the special achievement of FSA photography usually have in mind such white icons as Dorothea Lange s Migrant Mother or Walker Evans s Alabama sharecroppers But some six thousand printed images a tenth of FSA s total included black figures or their dwellings At last Nicholas Natanson reveals both the innovative treatment of African Americans in FSA photographs and the agency s highly problematic use of these images once they had been created While mono dimensional treatments of blacks were common in public and private photography of the period such FSA photographers as Ben Shahn Arthur Rothstein and Jack Delano were well informed concerning racial problems and approached blacks in a manner that avoided stereotypes right wing as well as left wing In addition rather than focusing exclusively on FSA approved agency projects involving blacks politically the safest course they boldly addressed wider social and cultural themes This study employs a variety of methodological tools to explore the political and administrative forces that worked against documentary coverage of particularly sensitive racial issues Moreover Natanson shows that those who drew on the FSA photo files for newspapers magazines books and exhibitions often entirely omitted images of black people and their environment or used devices such as cropping and captioning to diminish the true range of the FSA photographers vision Picturing Migrants James R. Swensen,2015-10 As time passes personal memories of the Great Depression die with those who lived through the desperate 1930s In the absence of firsthand knowledge John Steinbeck s The Grapes of Wrath and the photographs produced for the New Deal s Farm Security Administration FSA now provide most of the images that come to mind when we think of the 1930s That novel and those photographs as this book shows share a history Fully exploring this complex connection for the first time Picturing Migrants offers new insight into Steinbeck s novel and the FSA s photography and into the circumstances that have made them enduring icons of the Depression Looking at the work of Dorothea Lange Horace Bristol Arthur Rothstein and Russell Lee it is easy to imagine that these images came straight out of the pages of The Grapes of Wrath This should be no surprise James R Swensen tells us because Steinbeck explicitly turned to photographs of the period to create his visceral narrative of hope and loss among Okie migrants in search of a better life in California When the novel became an instant best seller upon its release in April 1939 some dismissed its imagery as pure fantasy Lee knew better and traveled to Oklahoma for proof The documentary pictures he produced are nothing short of a photographic illustration of the hard lives and desperate reality that Steinbeck so vividly portrayed In Picturing Migrants Swensen sets these lesser known images alongside the more familiar work of Lange and others giving us a clearer understanding of the FSA's work to publicize the plight of the migrant in the wake of the novel and John Ford's award winning film adaptation A new perspective on an era whose hardships and lessons resonate to this day Picturing Migrants lets us see as never before how a novel and a series of documentary photographs have kept the Great Depression unforgettably real for generation after generation
