Forgotten Murder Dolores Gordon-Smith, 2019-03-01 Jack Haldean s newly wedded bliss is disrupted by a series of shocking revelations in this gripping historical mystery When an old schoolfriend of Jack s wife Betty witnesses a disturbing vision in the garden of a smart suburban house Jack is intrigued Just what did Jenny Langton see beneath the cedar tree at Saunder s Green that frightened her so much she fainted on the spot Jack s subsequent enquiries stir up a hornet s nest of repressed emotions and long buried secrets What exactly happened at Saunder s Green almost twenty years before and why will no one talk about it As he unearths evidence of a possible murder how is even a seasoned investigator like Jack supposed to solve a crime that took place two decades before with no tangible clues no reliable witnesses and at least one person who is determined to stop him discovering the truth whatever it takes

Murder at Dusk Ian W. Shaw, 2018-06-26 Far away from any World War II battlefield the citizens of Melbourne lived in fear of a serial killer the Brownout Strangler May 1942 Melbourne was torn between fearing Japanese invasion and revelling in the carnival atmosphere brought by the influx of 15 000 cashed up American servicemen But those US forces didn t guarantee safety Not long after their arrival the city would be gripped by panic when the body of a woman was found strangled partially naked and brutally beaten Six days later another woman was found dead and her body told the same horrific story A murderer was stalking the streets As women were warned not to travel alone an intense manhunt ensued Not long after a third woman was murdered American soldier Eddie Leonski was arrested A calculating psychopath he had a twisted fascination with female voices especially when they were singing Acclaimed author Ian W Shaw brings World War II Melbourne to life and takes us into the mind of the Brownout Strangler and a very different kind of terror enthralling makes for a fascinating read Canberra Times on Ian W Shaw s The Rag Tag Fleet crime that have happened in the quiet streets of Australia's suburbs. Featuring contemporary cases as well as some shocking historical murders you've probably never heard of. Suburban True Crime proves you shouldn't say it could never happen here. This collection of cases that are hard to believe except they really happened and all in the streets and homes of the Australia many of us know and live. The suburbs. These cases range from recent murders to some historical stories that will shock and surprise. Some of the cases you'll know and there's crimes you've never heard of. These cases will shock and surprise you including the still unsolved mistaken identity murder of Melbourne mother Jane Thurgood Dove and the horrifying story of a man who killed in Australia and then was released from prison only to kill again in the United States. There's also some historical crimes that shocked the community at the time but have now faded into obscurity including cases of child murder in the 1970s. Think nothing ever happens where you live. Think again. Emily Webb is a journalist, true crime author and co-host of the popular Australian True Crime podcast.

Against their Will Kevin Marsh, Detective Inspector Isobel Woods returns to work after her wedding and honeymoon in France but things are not quite what she expected. Her boss DCI Adele Addison confines her to a desk job where she is to remain for the foreseeable future. When a hit and run incident is reported on her patch, Woods questions the investigating officer and insists on offering her help. She is concerned that due to pressures from ongoing cases he will be unable to give the job his full attention so Woods manages to convince Addison to let her take over the case. At first it seemed like a good idea but it soon begins to develop into something more sinister. Kidnap and sex trafficking is something that Woods finds particularly upsetting and as her investigation progresses it soon becomes apparent that drugs also play a major role. Working in conjunction with an International team, Woods has to move decisively to put an end to these atrocious crimes before others are unwittingly drawn in.

Boy in the Long Grass Bradley Mill, 2022-05-11

Autobiographical fiction, the story of Boy. Take a journey with a young lad from birth through the years of World War 2, his early boyhood and his transition to the teenage years. Hear his voice as you make this journey with him; the period is the 1940s and early 50s and what one boy experiences on a day-to-day basis. His trials of which there are many, his highlights of which there are some, his friends, one in particular a boy called Clive who stands beside him through all his travails. Meet the parents, the neighbours, the good boys and the bad boys, the good girls and the bad girls, the life and the pulse of the street. Hear him tell of his maturing from boy into teenager and the problems he encounters. How will he cope when his parents shift him from his normal environment and his beloved long grass?

The Mammoth Encyclopedia of Modern Crime Fiction Michael Ashley, 2002. A reference and overview of the genre of crime fiction primarily covering the 1950s onwards although major earlier writers such as Agatha Christie and Raymond Chandler also have entries.

The Mystery of Dead Lovers Maurice Collis, 1951

Charles Stewart Parnell and His Times N. C. Fleming, Alan O'Day, 2011-07-06. Charles Stewart Parnell 1846-1891 wrote remarkably little about himself but he has attracted the attention of many writers, politicians and scholars both during his lifetime and ever since. His controversial and provocative role in Irish and British affairs had him vilified as a murderer in The Times and afterwards dramatically vindicated by the Westminster Parliament. It cast him as a romantic hero to the young James Joyce and a self-serving opportunist to the journalists of the Nation. Parnell has been the subject of court cases, parliamentary enquiries and debates, journalism plays, poems, literary analysis and historical studies. For the first time, all these have been collected, catalogued and cross-referenced in one volume, an invaluable resource for scholars of late nineteenth-century Ireland and Britain. Divided into fifteen chapters, including a biographical sketch, the volume contains information on manuscript and archival collections, printed primary sources, Parnell's writing, Parnell's speeches in the House of Commons and outside Parliament, contemporary journalism, contemporary writing and contemporary illustrations on Irish affairs, and a substantial list of scholarly work, including biographies, books, articles, chapters and theses. This volume offers readers a clear record of the substantial material already available on Parnell and, in doing so, offers resources to future research in this area.

The Charge is Murder Vince Kelly, 1965. Collection of murder cases includes The Human Vulture describing the role of an Aboriginal tracker named George in solving the case of the disappearance and brutal murder of a young woman from Rosewood Qld in the 1920s.

The Monster in the Loch Alanna Knight, 1999-06. When Annie leaves Edinburgh to deliver a valuable goblet to Castle Roy in the Scottish Highlands, her life is in great danger.

Empirical Lisa Gorton, 2019-07-01. The third poetry collection by Lisa Gorton, one of a small number of Australian writers who have won major literary awards for both poetry and fiction. Lisa Gorton began writing Empirical when the Victorian Government of the time threatened to cut an eight-lane motorway through the heart of Royal Park in Melbourne. She walked repeatedly in the park, seeking to understand how the feeling for place originates and how memory and landscape fold in and out of each other. The poems exploring this feeling for place are followed by a sequence which recreates the colonial history of Royal Park through the gathering of fragments from newspapers, maps and pictures, a different way of asserting its value by demonstrating how a landscape can conceal the history of country beneath its layers of time. From this close-up study, in its second part, the collection opens out into poems which meditate on ancient statues, Rimbaud's imperial panoramas, the making of Coleridge's poem Kubla Khan, the exhibition galleries of Crystal Palace, tracking through chains of influence and a phantasmagoric procession of images, the trade between empire, commodities and dreams of elsewhere. Empirical follows a deluxe promenade of thought in which landscapes are mirrored and refracted in the contemporary Baroque style for which Gorton is renowned. Praise for Gorton's second poetry collection Hotel Hyperion. A sustained and complex exploration of how outer and inner worlds connect of how to approach and address what we see of the shapes and disfigurements of memory of the links between dream hallucination reality and being It is replete with persistent transformative crystallisations Sydney Review of Books In her poems we see briefly behind us cities but her focus is on the human sphere and within its circle the mind and within that art Mascara Literary Review
