Saanii Dahataal The Women Are Singing Poems And Stories:

Saanii Dahataa, the Women are Singing Luci Tapahonso, 1993-01-01 A cycle of poetry and stories by the Navajo writer explores her memories of home in Shiprock New Mexico of significant events such as birth partings and reunions and of life with her family By the author of Seasonal Woman Simultaneous Saanii Dahataal/The Women Are Singing Luci Tapahonso, 1993-02-01

In this cycle of poetry and stories Navajo writer Luci Tapahonso shares memories of her home in Shiprock New Mexico and of the places and people there Through these celebrations of birth partings and reunions this gifted writer displays both her love of the Navajo world and her resonant use of language Blending memoir and fiction in the storytelling style common to many Indian traditions Tapahonso's writing shows that life and death are intertwined and that the Navajo people live with the knowledge that identity is formed by knowing about the people to whom one belongs The use of both English and Navajo in her work creates an interplay that may also give readers a new way of understanding their connectedness to their own inner lives and to other people Luci Tapahonso shows how the details of everyday life whether the tragedy of losing a loved one or the joy of raising children or simply drinking coffee with her uncle bear evidence of cultural endurance and continuity Through her work readers may come to better appreciate the different perceptions that come from women's lives Saanii Dahataal/The Women Are Singing Luci Tapahonso, 2016-10-01

Getting Over the Color Green Scott Slovic, 2001 Desert vistas are often deemed vacant inhospitable wastelands Don't suggest that to Joy Harjo Pat Mora or other contemporary southwestern writers In these arid stretches often devoid of green today's southwestern writers see pyrotechnic colors and Gothic shapes that excite and often overwhelm the imagination And they capture this excitement in words that fix these desert images in the minds of readers who may too often look at the world through green colored glasses This anthology of contemporary nature writing from the Greater Southwest brings together a host of writers including peers of Edward Abbey such as Charles Bowden and Ann Zwinger and representatives of a new generation of writers such as Rick Bass and Terry Tempest Williams The book is an eclectic blend of nonfiction and fiction field notes and poetry through which artists of diverse backgrounds both celebrate and illuminate the unique vitality and complexity of southwestern literature proving that green is only one of many colors on their palette The selections included here range all across the southwestern landscape and explore adventures in the wild topics in natural history living close to the land and efforts at conservation and restoration They clearly demonstrate that there is grace and beauty in this often maligned part of the world both in the human traditions that have developed in the region and in the natural features of the desert itself
