Inquiry and Change Charles E. Lindblom, 1990-01-01 Winner of the American Political Science Association s 1991 Woodrow Wilson Foundation Book Award for the best book published in the United States during 1990 on government politics or international affairs How do ordinary citizens government officials opinion leaders or social scientists attempt to solve social problems How competent are we at defining the problems seeking information and finding answers In this important and controversial book a distinguished social scientist meticulously analyzes our attempt to understand society so that we can reshape it In so doing he largely bypasses both epistemology and contemporary highly abstract theory on knowledge and society in order to achieve a far more concrete analysis of discourse and inquiry in social problem solving There is a tragic discrepancy argues Charles E Lindblom between our abilities to solve problems and the difficulty of the problems to be solved We must make do with inadequate information and inconclusive analyses for the task is less one of learning the truth than of proceeding in inquiry and decisions when the truth cannot be known Lindblom discusses the many obstacles that prevent us from solving social problems focusing in particular on learned incompetence According to Lindblom parents teach children not to think certain thoughts and schools often engage more in indoctrination than education Political rhetoric and commercial sales promotion feed a steady diet of misrepresentation Social science does help But because it is dependent on popular thought it shares the impairments of thought found in both political figures and ordinary citizens It also develops its own distinctive impairments and is to a degree crippled by its narrow view of scientific method often more interested in proving than probing Although social science can be improved in ways that Lindblom outlines in his book social inquiry calls for such significant contributions from lay thought that it renders many conventional ideals of scientific problem solving inappropriate Lindblom contends that the route to better social problem solving is not through either scientific or popular consensus or agreement however much they are valued in the world of science and social science but through a competition of ideas The index of a society's competence he states is in its discord over ends values or purposes As usual Lindblom cuts through to the core of the issue How is society to understand its central problems and challenges With originality and courage he takes on the social scientists and the policy analysts and presents an inspiring picture of a self guiding democracy that continuously deliberates over means and ends A signal contribution Robert B Reich Harvard University      The Act of Bible Reading Elmer Dyck,1996-04-22 Elmer Dyck and Regent College faculty members combine insights and expertise to offer a multidisciplinary approach for studying and applying the Bible Contributors Gordon Fee J I Packer Craig Gay Loren Wilkinson James Houston and Eugene Peterson      International Statebuilding in West Africa Abu Bakarr Bah,Nikolas Emmanuel,2024-08-06 At the turn of the twenty first century manipulation of the democratic process coupled with preexisting political and economic grievances led to years long civil wars in Sierra Leone Liberia and Cote d'Ivoire During and after these conflicts international peacekeeping efforts and humanitarian intervention became the dominant paths for restoring stability by rebuilding the state Using these three countries as case studies this manuscript sheds light on internationally driven state building in war torn West African nations the problematic nature of the postcolonial state and the difficulties of securing its people's wellbeing Connecting peace and conflict democracy and international development studies Bah and Emmanuel argue that there is a clear nexus between the concepts and practices of peace building and statebuilding that peace building and statebuilding are not domestic matters alone but also matters of global intervention and that civil wars can be viewed as opportunities for state building through creative postwar partnerships and organization This study goes beyond the familiar concepts of failed states R2P peacekeeping and peace mediation and introduces and enhances the concepts of state decay new humanitarianism people centered liberalism and institutional design In doing so it provides critical lessons that local and international actors can draw on as they try to figure out practical solutions to the political economic and social problems that impede the development of peaceful and democratic multiethnic postcolonial states in Africa and beyond Applying comparative historical methods and theory to archival materials and expert interviews International Statebuilding in West Africa seeks to shift the discourse on civil wars from their causes and implications to the opportunities they provide to rework failed states and to shift the discourse on African states from their colonial and neocolonial legacies to their shared moral and security interests with the rest of the world
