Who Fights for Reputation Keren Yarhi-Milo, 2018-09-11 How psychology explains why a leader is willing to use military force to protect or salvage reputation In Who Fights for Reputation Keren Yarhi Milo provides an original framework based on insights from psychology to explain why some political leaders are more willing to use military force to defend their reputation than others Rather than focusing on a leader's background beliefs bargaining skills or biases Yarhi Milo draws a systematic link between a trait called self monitoring and foreign policy behavior She examines self monitoring among national leaders and advisers and shows that while high self monitors modify their behavior strategically to cultivate image enhancing status low self monitors are less likely to change their behavior in response to reputation concerns Exploring self monitoring through case studies of foreign policy crises during the terms of U S presidents Carter Reagan and Clinton Yarhi Milo disproves the notion that hawks are always more likely than doves to fight for reputation Instead Yarhi Milo demonstrates that a decision maker's propensity for impression management is directly associated with the use of force to restore a reputation for resolve on the international stage Who Fights for Reputation offers a brand new understanding of the pivotal influence that psychological factors have on political leadership military engagement and the protection of public prestige candidates International Politics and Inner Worlds Kurt Jacobsen, 2017-06-28 This book takes radical aim at the conventional conduct of international relations analysis. It reexamines the role of ideas, the usefulness of psychoanalysis, the rage for and at rational choice, the influence of the public on foreign policy, counterinsurgency, evangelism and development orthodoxies at the national and genetic levels. Drawing a bead on conceptual blind spots prevalent both inside and outside the academy, the book urges scholars to reflect on how inner worlds shape the actions of their subjects and their own research analyses as well. Psicología de las sociedades en conflicto Vamik Volkan, 2018-03-11

A lo largo de la historia se han producido innumerables conflictos entre grupos tribales, étnicos, nacionales, religiosos y político-ideológicos ya sea a nivel territorial o extraterritorial. Asimismo, día tras día presenciamos enfrentamientos sociales o nos llegan noticias de maltratos y asesinatos masivos. Ante tal horror debemos preguntarnos por los orígenes y entramados de la irracionalidad en los grupos grandes para así poder intervenir e intentar resolver estos conflictos. El presente libro aporta desde la perspectiva del psicoanálisis una exploración de la identidad, las representaciones y los efectos inconscientes y reprimidos de estos grupos y de sus líderes para obtener un efectivo entendimiento de sus acciones. Gracias a su gran experiencia como psicoanalista y asesor diplomático Vamik D. Volkan integra a partir de ejemplos bien definidos el profundo conocimiento de la mente humana en los conceptos de etnicidad, ideología y religión para así conseguir explicar la psicodinámica del inconsciente de los grupos grandes en escenarios de confrontación. Tanto el lector especializado, diplomáticos, científicos políticos, historiadores y psicoanalistas como cualquier persona interesada por la actualidad social en general encontrar en esta obra las claves para poder afrontar los conflictos entre comunidades y por ende obtener una comprensión global de la situación político-social contemporánea.

Perception and Misperception in International Politics Robert Jervis, 2017-05-02 Since its original publication in 1976 Perception and Misperception in International Politics has become a landmark book in its field, hailed by the New York Times as the seminal statement of principles underlying political psychology. This new edition includes an extensive preface by the author reflecting on the book's lasting impact and legacy, particularly in the application of cognitive psychology to political decision making, and brings that analysis up to date by discussing the relevant psychological research over the past forty years. Jervis describes the process of perception, for example, how decision makers learn from history and then explores common forms of misperception such as overestimating one's influence. He then tests his ideas through a number of important events in international relations from nineteenth and twentieth century European history. Perception and Misperception in International Politics is essential for understanding international relations today. The Contemporary American President Robert E. DiClerico, 2016-12-05 Debuting in its first edition, The Contemporary American President explores the potential and limitations of presidential influence in times of rising public expectation for the office and the declining ability of presidents to meet it. It focuses on six major areas concerning the presidency: selection, power, accountability, decision making, personality and leadership, and offers an appreciation of the challenges of the office as the Revisiting State Personhood and World Politics Bianca Naude, 2021-12-16 Breathing fresh air into debates surrounding foreign policy and interstate relations Bianca Naude presents a holistic theory of states as collectives of people that cannot be reduced to their individual constituents Moving among current research on the ontological status of the state alongside important arguments in support of the state personhood thesis Naude begins by exploring Freud's personality theory and the ways in which this theory has evolved over time in response to newer insights from the field of experimental psychology Recognizing that Freud's work is in many ways outdated she considers more recent literature on narcissism as an aspect of self-esteem rather than a form of psychopathology drawing specifically on Kohut's expansion of the concept of narcissism as a normal feature of personality development Using the South African state as a case study Naude demonstrates the various ways in which the state presents itself to the outside world on the one hand and how it wishes to see itself on the other She further considers how narcissistic defenses help protect the state's ego from criticism and self-judgments Revisiting State Personhood and World Politics will help readers understand how the state sees itself why or when the state experiences shame humiliation guilt or pride and how it responds to these self-conscious emotions It will be a valuable resource to researchers and students of International Relations

Emotional Choices Robin Markwica, 2018-03-06 Why do states often refuse to yield to military threats from a more powerful actor such as the United States Why do they frequently prefer war to compliance International Relations scholars generally employ the rational choice logic of consequences or the constructivist logic of appropriateness to explain this puzzling behavior Max Weber however suggested a third logic of choice in his magnum opus Economy and Society human decision making can also be motivated by emotions Drawing on Weber and more recent scholarship in sociology and psychology Robin Markwica introduces the logic of affect or emotional choice theory into the field of International Relations The logic of affect posits that actors' behavior is shaped by the dynamic interplay among their norms identities and five key emotions fear anger hope pride and humiliation Markwica puts forward a series of propositions that specify the affective conditions under which leaders are likely to accept or reject a coercer's demands To infer emotions and to examine their influence on decision making he develops a methodological strategy combining sentiment analysis and an interpretive form of process tracing He then applies the logic of affect to Nikita Khrushchev's behavior during the Cuban missile crisis in 1962
