Shaping The Preschool Agenda Early Literacy Public Policy And Professional Beliefs:

Shaping the Preschool Agenda Anne McGill-Franzen, 1993-01-01 Making all children ready to learn is the first and probably the most important national education goal for the year 2000 What does it mean for children to be ready to learn This book is about the beliefs of the people who are shaping preschool policy McGill Franzen tells us what key decision makers are thinking about preschool education what counts as school who should pay for it what should be taught and especially whether there should be reading and writing programs for four year olds This book also explores the history of these beliefs The author locates contemporary early childhood concepts about developmental appropriateness in the ideas of physicians and psychologists of the 1920s 1930s and in even earlier periods of time She believes that these ideas no longer work within the broader framework of literacy as embedded in the interactions of cultures children know and the lives they live

Nettles, 2012-12-06 Measuring Up revisits vital issues of equity and assessment through the research efforts and insights of many of the nation s most prominent educators and assessment experts As its most urgent purpose the publication aims to sensitize readers to the unfairness and inappropriate uses of testing instruments which under optimal circumstances have the potential to benefit all students With America fervently espousing both national and state testing the differential performance by race and social class raises the specter of tests as barriers to life milestones such as promotion graduation and college admissions In response to such punitive testing the papers included here explore a host of models and practices that are currently being piloted both in
