Somerset County as it evolved from the earliest settlement days Eighteenth century residents were a forest people living on sparsely built farmsteads and making free use of the heavily forested landscape The makeshift sugar camp typified their hardscrabble lives In the nineteenth century the people of this area turned to farming Prompted by the market revolution that had come to Somerset County they pursued a highly varied agriculture combining a subsistence base with robust production of commodities shipped to distant cities Their landscape reflected this combination of the local and the cosmopolitan a combination that reached its full expression in the distinctive two story banked farmhouse with double decker porch flanked by a substantial Pennsylvania barn The twentieth century brought a more industrialized agriculture to Somerset County But the shift to profit and loss farming also meant the accentuation of landscape elements specific to market products The magnificent star barns of this era overshadowed the houses and ancillary structures such as peep houses and silos spoke to the pressures of efficiency and mass production The subsequent rise of coal mining helped to stimulate this trend both by supplying local markets and by creating an incentive for farmers to visually distinguish their landscapes from those of the coal patch towns Illustrated with over 100 photographs maps drawings and diagrams From Sugar Camps to Star Barns demonstrates how much we can learn about the economy and culture of a particular place simply by being attentive to the built landscape sewing's place in our lives. It celebrates not only sewing's recent resurgence but sewists' creativity, well-being, and community. Barbara Burman chronicles new voices of people who sew today by hand or machine to explore what they sew, what motivates them, what they value, and why they mend things, revealing insights into sewing's more intimate stories. In our age of superfast fashion with its environmental and social injustices, this eloquent book makes a passionate case for identity, diversity, resilience, and memory: what people create for themselves as they stitch and make.
