My Own Big Bed:

Prejudice Cedric (Professor of Education Cullingford, 2018-02-06) How do some little angels turn into bigoted little monsters? This is a study of how people's prejudices towards one another develop from an early age. Based on empirical research of children aged five to 11, it explores the nature of categorization and stereotypes from groups to nations.

Stories from the Crosswalk James Stephens, 2024-04-26 Join James Stephens as he shares original short stories inspired by his interaction with children. A talking worm, a bullfrog bully, and a friendly duck family are just a few of the many characters that spring to life on these pages. Let your imagination run wild as you ride a bull with DooDad the Clown and fly into outer space with Santa Claus. As each adventure ends, the main character has learned a valuable lesson about friendship, manners, obedience, and other Christian values. Each of the seventeen short stories includes a timeless black and white illustration to intrigue you. And the final story has a twist: a place on each page where you can tap into your own creative side and draw pictures to go with the story. I cannot thank you enough for sharing your stories with my class. Your ability to turn a simple lesson into a fun story that keeps children engaged is powerful. I enjoyed watching my students connect with the characters and explain why they loved them. Shaunda Douglas, Kindergarten Teacher, Allen ISD. When I was little, I would go to James and Kathy Stephens' house a lot. He would read his stories to me. They always made me smile. I thought of all sorts of names to name Charlie's horse in Charlie Goes to the Farm. I was the first small child that he read his stories to. I loved them. Natalee Hooper, 13.

Bright Darkness Eleanore Kerns with June Kerns Golin, 2025-10-02 Bright Darkness takes the reader through a courageous journey as written and narrated in the late 1950s by Eleanore Kerns. After assuming for decades her mother's manuscript had disappeared, June Kerns Golin discovered it and began the process of bringing her mother's words to life in the form of a book that could serve as an inspiration to others. First experiencing symptoms of eyesight loss and paralysis without any guidance on what could be wrong, Eleanore shares her many fears, frustrations, and challenges in a time when the medical community knew only a fraction of what we know today about multiple sclerosis (MS). She also captures her notable strength and determination that turned her into a source of inspiration not only for those in the MS community but for so many people facing their own seemingly insurmountable challenges.

Dream a Little Dream of Me Eddi Fiegel,2015-10-08 A heartbreaking myth shattering biography Fiegel s fine all encompassing tome restores much of the great woman s dignity Mojo The greatest white female singer ever is how Boy George described pop icon Cass Elliot the sixties diva who was at the epicentre of US popular culture and music during the Californian hippy movement Hailed as America s answer to the Beatles the Mamas and the Papas hits such as California Dreamin and Monday Monday became the soundtrack of a generation Cass s uniquely emotive voice charismatic wit and outsized multicoloured kaftans singled her out as a popstar who refused to conform to traditional female stereotypes When she left the Mamas and the Papas she immediately had a top ten hit with her debut single Dream a Little Dream of Me and became the queen on Los Angeles society Her Beverly Hills villa was the scene of legendary parties becoming the second home of stars such as Jack Nicholson and Grace Slick but there was a darker side to her fame after years of continuous dieting and drug addiction she died mysteriously in London at the age of 33 Including interviews with Cass s friends and family co band members Michelle Phillips and Denny Doherty and many of the famous names who knew her this is both an insightful biography of an extraordinary singer and a fascinating glimpse into free living free loving ideals of the sixties as the optimism of the flower child generation was crushed by the Vietnam War Transmigrated: Dumping the Male Lead for a Better Man Amelia Rose, Waking up I've traveled through time and become the CEO's wife And this scumbag CEO wants a divorce to go after his true love Perfect Just split the assets properly and transfer the money to my card oh and that big villa Put it under my name too Here comes my life as a wealthy woman Wait why is this scumbag CEO clinging to me again I'll punch the mistress kick the scumbag and by the way gain true love along the way I Deserve a far better life Aargh! Joss Smith Westonpeglerpegler, 2011-06-01 The writing is a fascinating blend of wry contemporary social narrative à la Nick Hornby yet conveying a message about the divisive South African culture reminiscent of JM Coetzee Some of the brutally honest accounts of Joss's early sexual encounters would probably shock if taken out of context but he somehow manages to make them seem wholly acceptable as he struggles to come to terms with his many desires in an Apartheid governed world Rupert Reid Description This eccentric book is an attempt to make manic depression more widely understood given the stigmatism that it is usually associated with The illness creates a jaundiced perception of people and reality and it is probably for this reason that the characters' names are changed otherwise it is a real story However there is no distinction between reality and dreams It is not a story about success victory or triumph although equally given the circumstances it is also not one of failure either It is a journey that starts in normality and ends in the opposite corner beginning with a disturbed and violent dream The book charts the experiences of Joss through Africa and Australia marriage and running a business On a few occasions the narrative fails and the author expresses his nightmares secret thoughts imagery and disbeliefs in poetry The sudden loss of control or sanity and his arrival in a mental asylum and the view from inside is both very distressing and strangely humorous It ends on a note of poignancy recalling Joss's supposed recovery and his attempted assimilation back into society A fascinating and thoroughly engaging read a must for anybody who wishes to further understand the thoughts and actions of a manic depressive About the Author Joss has been a Company Director and is now a student at the Open University Joss is a republican who does not use products that have been tested on animals prefers to buy second hand clothes from Oxfam reads the Telegraph and listens to Radio Four His experiences include seeing a UFO scratching a white rhino and a tarantula's stomach riding an ostrich and he has been in a high speed police car chase Joss has run the Comrades Marathon 89 kilometres in 7 hours 29 minutes and 59 seconds For nine years Joss was a vegetarian did not eat chocolate or drink alcohol He is a one time member of Greenpeace votes Labour is a pacifist asthmatic left hander bow legged has one kidney and suffers from manic depression The Shellman Story Henry A.
