Preachers Peasants Politics In Southea:

Preachers Peasants and Politics in Southeast Africa Norman Etherington, 1948 Missionary Masculinity, 1870-1930 Kristin Fjelde Tjelle, 2014-01-21 What kind of men were missionaries What kind of masculinity did they represent in ideology as well as in practice Presupposing masculinity to be a cluster of cultural ideas and social practices that change over time and space and not a stable entity with a natural inherent meaning Kristin Fjelde Tjelle seeks to answer such questions Popular Politics in the History of South Africa, 1400-1948 Paul S. Landau, 2010-09-20 Popular Politics in the History of South Africa 1400 1948 offers an inclusive vision of South Africa s past Drawing largely from original sources Paul Landau presents a history of the politics of the country s people from the time of their early settlements in the elevated heartlands through the colonial era to the dawn of Apartheid A practical tradition of mobilization alliance and amalgamation persisted mutated and occasionally vanished from view it survived against the odds in several forms in tribalisms Christian assemblies and other seemingly hybrid movements and it continues today Landau treats southern Africa broadly concentrating increasingly on the southern Highveld and ultimately focusing on a transnational movement called the Samuelites He shows how people s politics in South Africa were suppressed and transformed but never entirely eliminated

Black Liberation George M. Fredrickson, 1996-10-31 When George M Fredrickson published White Supremacy A Comparative Study in American and South African History he met universal acclaim David Brion Davis writing in The New York Times Book Review called it one of the most brilliant and successful studies in comparative history ever written The book was honored with the Ralph Waldo Emerson Prize the Merle Curti Award and a jury nomination for the Pulitzer Prize Now comes the sequel to that acclaimed work In Black Liberation George Fredrickson offers a fascinating account of how blacks in the United States and South Africa came to grips with the challenge of white supremacy He reveals a rich history not merely of parallel developments but of an intricate transatlantic web of influences and cross fertilization He begins with early moments of hope in both countries Reconstruction in the United States and the liberal colonialism of British Cape Colony when the promise of suffrage led educated black elites to fight for color blind equality A rising tide of racism and discrimination at the turn of the century however blunted their hopes and encouraged nationalist movements in both countries Fredrickson teases out the connections between movements and nations examining the transatlantic appeal of black religious nationalism known as Ethiopianism and the pan Africanism of Du Bois and Garvey He brings to vivid life the decades of struggle organizing and debate as blacks in the United States looked to Africa for identity and South Africans looked to America for new ideas and hope The book traces the rise of Communist influence in black movements in the two nations in the 1920s and 30s and the adoption of Gandhian nonviolent protest after World War II The story of India s struggle however was not to be repeated in either America or South Africa in one nation nonviolence revealed its limitations encouraging splits in the civil rights movement in the other it failed fostering an armed struggle against white supremacy

Fredrickson brings the story up through the present exploring the divergence between African American identity politics and the nonracialism that has triumphed in South Africa In a career spanning thirty years George Fredrickson has won recognition as the leading scholar of the struggle over racial domination in the United States and South Africa In Black Liberation he provides the essential companion volume to his award winning White Supremacy telling the story of how blacks fought back on both sides of the Atlantic

Historicizing Secular-Religious Demarcations Monika Wohlrab-Sahr, Daniel Witte, Christoph Kleine, 2024-07-01 This volume aims to revitalize the exchange between sociological differentiation theory and the sociology of religion which previously held center stage among the sociological classics It brings together contributions from different disciplines as well as various forms of regional and historical expertise which are indispensable in forming a globally oriented sociological perspective today Secularization is understood as a process of boundary demarcation that is as the enactment of semantic practical and institutional distinctions between religion and other spheres of activity and knowledge These distinctions may emerge from within the religious field itself or may be absorbed into the field having originally emerged elsewhere They may even be directly imposed upon religion by external forces The volume is therefore based on the premise that societal differentiation and secularity as a specific expression of it is a widespread structural feature that nonetheless takes on various forms depending on its historical and cultural context In order to make this diversity visible the volume adopts a global comparative perspective and examines historical distinctions and differentiations in the West and beyond By examining different forms and modes of secularity in statu nascendi the volume contributes to developing a better understanding of the diversity of secularities even of those found in the present day in terms of their historicity and their specific path dependencies With this shift in perspective this special volume initiates a global and historical turn in the theory of differentiation as well as in the study of secularity

Making A Voice Joyce F Kirk, 2018-02-19 Since apartheid's dissolution in the early 1990s and its formal abolishment in April 1994 there has been increasing interest in the early history of African struggles against segregation and apartheid This book focuses on the resistance to segregation in the eastern cape town of Port Elizabeth long known for its tradition of political protest Joyce Kirk presents a detailed study of men and women in South Africa as they sought to create their own space and voice within the emerging urban areas of nineteenth and early twentieth century South Africa Since apartheid's dissolution in the early 1990s and its formal abolishment in April 1994 there has been increasing interest in the early history of African struggles against segregation and apartheid This book focuses on the resistance to segregation in the eastern cape town of Port Elizabeth long known for its tradition of political protest Joyce Kirk presents a detailed study of men and women in South Africa as they sought to create their own space and voice within the emerging urban areas of nineteenth and early twentieth century South Africa South Africa explores the roots of the tradition of resistance among members of the emergent African working and middle class who were much earlier than hitherto realized living permanently in the growing urban areas Also examined are the changing ideological economic and political forces that influenced the colonial government to pursue legislation aimed at depriving Africans of land housing and property in the towns as well as political rights and freedom of movement Finally Kirk identifies the ways Africans challenged the governments attempt to use public health laws to impose residential segregation the factors that undermined the largely political alliance between whites and blacks in the Cape colony and the role African women played in challenging racial segregation

Colonial Lives Across the British Empire David Lambert,Alan Lester,2006-11-23 A series of portraits of imperial lives to rethink the history of the British Empire in the nineteenth century

The 1840 translation of the Gospel of Luke as a technology of power Itumeleng D. Mothoagae ,2024-07-26 In this book the author aims to explore the impact of 19th century translations of the Bible into indigenous languages with a specific focus on the Setswana translation The translations have had a profound effect on the religious cultural practices of the indigenous people leading to erosion and alteration of their traditions and identities I argue that it is crucial to consider the translator's intentions and the associated literature such as journals and letters to understand the translation process comprehensively The Setswana Bible was the first to be translated in Africa and tracing the intentions of Robert Moffat the first translator is imperative to understanding the impact of the translation on the receptor culture The methodology adopted is interdisciplinary drawing from linguistics African languages history English literature cultural studies black studies and theology I analyse the impact of the 1840 Gospel of Luke in the context of Setswana culture in South Africa and my findings demonstrate that translations cannot be distinct from the translator To gain a deep understanding of the implications of such texts I adopt a methodology that analyses significant historical literature and primary sources including the records and works of The British and Foreign Bible Society The History of the London Missionary Society and the journals letters and writings of missionaries such as Robert Moffat and John Campbell

Making African Christianity Robert J. Houle, 2011-09-16 In Making African Christianity author Robert J Houle argues that Africans successfully naturalized Christianity This book examines the long history of the faith among colonial Zulu Christians known as amakholwa in what would become South Africa As it has become clear that Africans are not discarding Christianity a number of scholars have taken up the challenge of understanding why this is the case and how we got to this point Where others have focused on the economic and political potential of conversion this book argues that we need to understand what was embedded within the faith that Africans found so appealing Houle argues that translation did not end with the bible but extended to Christian theology which needed to be fully appropriated before the faith was secure on the continent For Zulu the religion was not a good fit until converts filled critical gaps in the faith such as how Christianity could account for the active and everyday presence of the ancestral spirits a problem that was true for African converts across the continent in slightly different ways This book offers fresh insight into the history behind the contemporary success of Christianity on the continent and will be welcomed by African historians those interested in the history of colonialism missions southern African and in particular Christianity

Religions of South Africa (Routledge Revivals) David Chidester, 2014-06-27 First published in 1992 this title explores the religious diversity of South Africa organizing it into a single coherent narrative and providing the first comparative study and introduction to the topic David Chidester emphasizes the fact that the complex distinctive character of South African religious life has taken shape with a particular economic social and political context and pays special attention to the creativity of people who have suffered under conquest colonialism and apartheid With an overview of

African traditional religion Christian missions and African innovations during the nineteenth century this reissue will be of great value to students of religious studies South African history anthropology sociology and political studies Children of Hope Sandra Rowoldt Shell, 2018-08-20 In Children of Hope Sandra Rowoldt Shell traces the lives of sixty four Oromo children who were enslaved in Ethiopia in the late nineteenth century liberated by the British navy and ultimately sent to Lovedale Institution a Free Church of Scotland mission in the Eastern Cape South Africa for their safety Because Scottish missionaries in Yemen interviewed each of the Oromo children shortly after their liberation we have sixty four structured life histories told by the children themselves In the historiography of slavery and the slave trade first passage narratives are rare groups of such narratives even more so In this analytical group biography or prosopography Shell renders the experiences of the captives in detail and context that are all the more affecting for their dispassionate presentation Comparing the children by gender age place of origin method of capture identity and other characteristics Shell enables new insights unlike anything in the existing literature for this region and period Children of Hope is supplemented by graphs maps and illustrations that carefully detail the demographic and geographic layers of the children s origins and lives after capture In this way Shell honors the individual stories of each child while also placing them into invaluable and multifaceted contexts Mfecane Aftermath Carolyn Hamilton, 1995 The idea that the period of social turbulence in the nineteenth century was a consequence of the emergence of the powerful Zulu kingdom under Shaka has been written about extensively as a central episode of southern African history Considerable dynamic debate has focused on the idea that this period the mfecane left much of the interior depopulated thereby justifying white occupation One view is that the time of troubles owed more to the Delagoa Bay Slave trade and the demands of the labour hungry Cape colonists than to Shaka s empire building But is there sufficient evidence to support the argument The Mfecane Aftermath investigates the very nature of historical debate and examines the uncertain foundations of much of the previous historiography Africa's Hidden Histories Karin Barber, 2006 Africa s Hidden Histories takes a private and personal look into the world of everyday Africans as they put pen to paper As it explores the innovative intense and sociable interest in reading and writing the text opens new avenues for understanding a rich and hidden history of Africa s creative expression
