Precarious Balances The Middle Ages Of The Next Millenium:

Precarious Balances Charles Stewart Goodwin, 1999-04-15 Precarious Balances The Middle Ages of the Next Millennium explores a comparison of the present century and the next with the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries as a period of transition from one type of civilization to another Goodwin compares the present socio political trends with those of medieval Europe that developed the philosophy and the institutions that have dominated the last 500 years He portrays the struggle between the choices that can be made and the potential effects they can have discerning between what can and cannot be controlled Goodwin proposes plausible alternatives to short term policies that may avoid the long term adversity he envisions now He points out the downplayed realities of the twentieth century a period dominated by technological achievement and the affluence of some that actually was dominated by violence and a widening of wealth gaps This pattern he predicts will lead to a new feudalism if action is not taken to redirect the socio political tendencies now in place Tocsin Charles Stewart Goodwin, 2001-04-18 As the twentieth century became the twenty first we inexorably entered the new middle ages The tocsin tolls to awaken us all to a sense of urgency concerning the need for remedial measures If our culture and even our civilization is to withstand the most malevolent of the medieval expressions these measures must be timely and comprehensive In Tocsin Charles Stewart Goodwin discusses the attitudes interactions and institutions that will be required to prevent this from becoming a malignant condition Medieval Latin Frank Anthony Carl Mantello, A. Kohl,2007-01-22 This book provides an overview of Bronze Age societies of Western Eurasia through an investigation of the archaeological record The Making of Bronze Age Eurasia outlines the long term processes and patterns of interaction that link these groups together in a shared historical trajectory of development Interactions took the form of the exchange of raw materials and finished goods the spread and sharing of technologies and the movements of peoples from one region to another Kohl reconstructs economic activities from subsistence practices to the production and exchange of metals and other materials Kohl also argues forcefully that the main task of the archaeologist should be to write culture history on a spatially and temporally grand scale in an effort to detect large macrohistorical processes of interaction and shared development

Rowlands,Mogens Larsen,Kristian Kristiansen,1987-10-22 This collaborative volume is concerned with long term social change Envisaging individual societies as interlinked and interdependent parts of a global social system the aim of the contributors is to determine the extent to which ancient societies were shaped over time by their incorporation in or resistance to the larger system Their particular concern is the dependent relationship between technically and socially more developed societies with a strong state ideology at the centre and the simpler societies that functioned principally as sources of raw materials and manpower on the periphery of the system The papers in the first part of the book are all concerned with political developments in the Ancient Near East and the notion of a regional system as a framework for analysis Part 2 examines the problems of conceptualising local societies as discrete centres of development in the context of both the Near East and prehistoric Europe during the second millennium BC Part 3 then presents a comprehensive analytical study of the Roman Empire as a single system showing how its component parts often relate to each other in uneven even contradictory ways Social Change Christopher Chase-Dunn,Bruce Lerro,2016-01-08 From the Stone Age to the Internet
