Re-Imagining Democracy in the Mediterranean, 1780-1860 Joanna Innes, Mark Philp, 2018-10-25 Mediterranean states are often thought to have democratised only in the post war era as authoritarian regimes were successively overthrown On its eastern and southern shores the process is still contested Re imagining Democracy looks back to an earlier era the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries and argues it was this era when some modern version of democracy in the region first began By the 1860s representative regimes had been established throughout southern Europe and representation was also the subject of experiment and debate in Ottoman territories Talk of democracy its merits and limitations accompanied much of this experimentation though there was no agreement as to whether or how it could be given stable political form Re imagining Democracy assembles experts in the history of the Mediterranean who have been exploring these themes collaboratively to compare and contrast experiences in this region so that they can be set alongside better known debates and experiments in North Atlantic states States in the region all experienced some form of subordination to northern great powers In this context their inhabitants had to grapple with broader changes in ideas about state and society while struggling to achieve and maintain meaningful self rule at the level of the polity and self respect at the level of culture Innes and Philip highlight new research and ideas about a region whose experiences during the age of revolutions are at best patchily known and understood as well as to expand understanding of the complex and variegated history of democracy as an idea and set of practices Prelude to Protectorate in Morocco Edmund Burke, III, 2009-02-15 At last we are beginning to learn as much about the French empire as the British so that generalizations about imperialism need not continue to be skewed as they have been in the past by drawing too many of our data from the British experience The present study makes a major contribution in this direction providing as it does the first nearly definitive account of a central series of episodes in the French African and Islamic experiences with imperialism Ransoming Prisoners in Precolonial Muslim Western Africa Jennifer Lofkrantz, 2023 Introduction Chapter One Islamic Discourse on Slavery and Ransoming before 1800 Chapter Two The Policy and Practice of Ransoming in the Maghrib Chapter Three Jihad the Sokoto Caliphate and Ransoming Chapter Four The Jihad of Umar Taal and its Ransoming Non Policies Chapter Five The Negotiation and Practice of Ransoming Captives Conclusion Jihad and its Interpretation in Pre-Colonial Morocco Amira K. Bennison, 2003-09-02 This book investigates the importance of waging jihad for legitimacy in pre colonial Morocco It counters colonial interpretations of the pre colonial Moroccan sultanate as hopelessly divided into territories of obedience and dissidence by suggesting that state society warfare was one aspect of a constant process of political negotiation Detailed analysis of state and society interpretations of jihad during the critical period of the French conquest of Algeria clearly shows this process at play and its steady evolution in the context of increasing European pressure which culminated in the imposition of the French protectorate in 1912 General History of Africa International Scientific Committee for the

Stahn,2024-05-23 The treatment of cultural colonial objects is one of the most debated questions of our time Calls for a new international cultural order go back to decolonization However for decades the issue has been treated as a matter of comity or been reduced to a Shakespearean dilemma to return or not to return Confronting Colonial Objects seeks to go beyond these classic dichotomies and argues that contemporary practices are at a tipping point The book shows that cultural takings were material to the colonial project throughout different periods and went far beyond looting It presents micro histories and object biographies to trace recurring justifications and contestations of takings and returns while outlining the complicity of anthropology racial science and professional networks that enabled colonial collecting The book demonstrates the dual role of law and cultural heritage regulation in facilitating colonial injustices and mobilizing resistance thereto Drawing on the interplay between justice ethics and human rights Stahn develops principles of relational cultural justice He challenges the argument that takings were acceptable according to the standards of the time and outlines how future engagement requires a re invention of knowledge systems and relations towards objects including new forms of consent provenance research and partnership and a re thinking of the role of museums themselves Following the life story and transformation of cultural objects this book provides a fresh perspective on international law and colonial history that appeals to audiences across a variety of disciplines This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations      British Books in Print ,1986
