Birthing Autonomy Nadine Edwards, 2013-04-03 Birthing Autonomy brings some balance to the difficult arguments that arise from debates about home births and focuses on women's views and their experiences of planning home births It provides an in depth exploration of how women make decisions about home births and what aspects matter most to them Comparing how differently the pros and cons of home births are constructed and contemplated by mothers and by the medical profession the book looks at how current obstetric thinking and practices can disempower and harm women emotionally and spiritually as well as physically Written in an accessible style this book is enlightening for student and practicing midwives and obstetricians as well as researchers and students of nursing medical sociology health studies gender studies feminist practitioners and theorists It will also be invaluable to expectant mothers who want to be more informed about the choices they are facing and the wider context within which their birth options are considered The Politics of Maternity Rosemary Mander, Jo Murphy-Lawless, 2013-04-12 The evidence surrounding the skills and approaches to support good birth has grown exponentially over the last two decades but so too have the obstacles facing women and midwives who strive to achieve good birth This new book critically explores the complex issues surrounding contemporary childbirth practices in a climate which is ever more medicalised amidst greater insecurity at broad social and political levels The authors offer a rigorous and thought provoking analysis of current clinical managerial and policy making environments and how they have prevented sustaining the kind of progress we need The Politics of Maternity explores the most hopeful developments such as the abundant evidence for one to one care for women and sets these accounts against the background of changes in health service organisation and provision that block these approaches from becoming an everyday occurrence for women giving birth The book sets out the case for renewed attention to the politics of childbirth and what this politics must entail if we are to give birth back to women Designed to help professionals cope with the transition from education to the reality of the system within which they learn and practise this inspiring book will help to assist them to function and care effectively in a changing health care environment Women-Centered Care in Pregnancy and Childbirth Sara
