Psychiatric Care, from Pregnancy to Adolescence: Beyond the Endogenous-Exogenous Dichotomy Olivier

Putois, Bernard Golse, Veronique Delvenne, Miri Keren, 2024-06-26 Child and adolescent psychiatry hosts a range of diverse epistemological positions regarding the origin of psychical suffering from fully endogenous e.g. genetic to mostly exogenous e.g. family trauma etc. The complexity of clinical situations generally precludes such epistemologies to require exclusive therapeutic strategies. Psychodynamic psychotherapy can be fruitful in the context of monogenic genetic illnesses at the family or individual level while pharmacology can be a necessary tool in a variety of difficult relational contexts or personality issues e.g. in adolescence. Thus nowadays the most promising therapeutic perspectives in child and adolescent psychiatry attempt to do justice to the polyfactorial complexity of mental suffering notably by refining their psychopathologies by drawing on e.g. biopsychosocial or epigenetic models even more so as prevention policies ask for longitudinal studies to help with the early detection of potential future troubles.

The Earliest Relationship T. Berry Brazelton, Bertrand G.

Cramer, 2018-05-08 Never before has research on newborn behavior and parent-infant interaction been fully integrated with psychoanalytic insight into parents' emotions and fantasies. This book provides a vivid glimpse of the parents' daydreams and narcissistic wishes which grow into a desire for a child and they show how these feelings develop into important attachments to the unborn infant during pregnancy. The power and competence of the newborn then challenges parental fantasies, desires, wishes, and expectations, creating the beginnings of the bond between parent and child. Using the latest research, the authors clarify all the ways the infant participates in the dawning relationship and the ingredients of very early communication and interaction. They then unveil the imaginary interactions which lend meaning and drama to each gesture and expression. We see the baby as Tyrant, as Savior, or as the reincarnation of lost relationships. Everyone who cares for mothers and babies, pediatricians, developmental and clinical psychologists, psychiatrists, early childhood specialists, nurses, and social workers, as well as interested parents, will find this book of immediate value.
