- Effecting Change for Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Learners, 2nd Edition Almitra L. Berry,2021-07-01 Help teachers understand and close the provision gap for culturally and linguistically diverse learners effecting greater opportunities for academic success Written by Dr Almitra Berry this completely revised second edition introduces a new five step framework that focuses on academic achievement and equity for all students This professional resource guides you through a data driven approach to determine whether your curriculum and instruction are meeting the needs of culturally diverse students Educators will learn how to evaluate the effectiveness of curriculum identify and implement instructional practices that are proven effective monitor progress and provide intensive small group instruction to help learners succeed This timely book provides a collection of practical resources such as planning templates data analysis forms and reflective questions for each step of the process      Beginning to Read Marilyn Jager Adams,1994-02-03 Beginning to Read reconciles the debate that has divided theorists for decades over what is the right way to help children learn to read Beginning to Read reconciles the debate that has divided theorists for decades over the right way to help children learn to read Drawing on a rich array of research on the nature and development of reading proficiency Adams shows educators that they need not remain trapped in the phonics versus teaching for meaning dilemma She proposes that phonics can work together with the whole language approach to teaching reading and provides an integrated treatment of the knowledge and process involved in skillful reading the issues surrounding their acquisition and the implications for reading instruction A Bradford Book
- Instructional Models in Reading Steven A. Stahl,David A. Hayes,2013-04-03 This book started with a simple idea examine models of reading instruction that have emerged during the past 20 years These models span a wide range of instruction representing a continuum from highly structured task analytic instruction to child centered and holistic instruction Each model has its own epistemology or views on how reading and instruction are to be defined The different epistemologies indicate different principles of instruction which in turn indicate different practices in the classroom Each model is also supported by a different research base In this volume leading proponents of these different models discuss their ideas about reading instruction thereby encouraging readers to make their own comparisons and contrasts The chapter authors seem to adopt the editors eclectic approach to some greater or lesser extent incorporating aspects of other models into their instruction as they see other goals Thus models of reading instruction are complex Complicating matters further is the fact that teachers hold their own models of reading which may or may not be congruent with those discussed here Although academically developed models influence college preservice and in service instruction teachers own models of reading filter the information that they take from what they learn from these perspectives By carefully examining these variables this book makes a firm contribution toward disciplined inquiry into what it means to teach reading
