Cultural Seeds: Essays on the Work of Nick Cave Tanya Dalziel, Karen Welberry, 2016-05-13 Nick Cave is now widely recognized as a songwriter musician novelist screenwriter curator critic actor and performer. From the band The Boys Next Door 1976-1980 to the spoken word recording The Secret Life of the Love Song 1998 to the recently acclaimed screenplay of The Proposition 2005 and the Grinderman project 2008, Cave's career spans thirty years and has produced a comprehensive and sometimes controversial body of work that has shaped contemporary alternative culture. Despite intense media interest in Cave, there have been remarkably few comprehensive appraisals of his work, its significance and its impact on understandings of popular culture. In addressing this absence, the present volume is both timely and necessary. Cultural Seeds brings together an international range of scholars and practitioners, each of whom is uniquely placed to comment on an aspect of Cave's career. The essays collected here not only generate new ways of seeing and understanding Cave's contributions to contemporary culture but set up a dialogue between fields all too often separated in the academy and in the media. Topics include Cave and the Presley myth, the aberrant masculinity projected by The Birthday Party, the postcolonial Australian-ness of his humour, his interventions in film and his erotics of the sacred. These essays offer compelling insights and provocative arguments about the fluidity of contemporary artistic practice.

Being Saved Marc Cortez, Joshua R. Farris, S. Mark Hamilton, 2017-10-30 With contributions from leading theologians and philosophers, Being Saved: Explorations in Human Salvation brings together a series of essays on the major topics relating to the doctrine of salvation. The book provides readers with a critical resource that consists of an integrative philosophical theological method and will invigorate this much needed discussion.

Residue Reviews Francis A. Gunther, 2012-12-06 Worldwide concern in scientific, industrial and governmental communities over traces of toxic chemicals in foodstuffs and in both abiotic and biotic environments has justified the present triumvirate of specialized publications in this field: comprehensive reviews, rapidly published progress reports and archival documentations These three publications are integrated and scheduled to provide in international communication the coherency essential for nonduplicative and current progress in a field as dynamic and complex as environmental contamination and toxicology Until now there has been no journal or other publication series reserved exclusively for the diversified literature on toxic chemicals in our foods our feeds our geographical surroundings our domestic animals our wild life and ourselves Around the world immense efforts and many talents have been mobilized to technical and other evaluations of natures locales magnitudes fates and toxicology of the persisting residues of these chemicals loosed upon the world Among the sequelae of this broad new emphasis has been an inescapable need for an articulated set of authoritative publications where one could expect to find the latest important world literature produced by this emerging area of science together with documentation of pertinent ancillary legislation

Wiley Blackwell Companion to Karl Barth George

Hunsinger, Keith L. Johnson, 2025-03-17 THE MOST COMPREHENSIVE SCHOLARLY SURVEY OF KARL BARTH'S THEOLOGY EVER PUBLISHED Karl Barth perhaps the most influential theologian of the 20th century is widely considered one of the greatest thinkers within the history of the Christian tradition. Readers of Karl Barth often find his work both familiar and strange; the questions he considers are the same as those Christian theologians have debated for centuries, but he often addresses these questions in new and surprising ways. The Wiley Blackwell Companion to Karl Barth helps readers understand Barth's theology and his place in the Christian tradition through a new lens. Covering nearly every topic related to Barth's life and thought, this work spans two volumes comprising 66 in-depth chapters written by leading experts in the field. Volume One explores Barth's dogmatic theology in relation to traditional Christian theology, provides historical timelines of Barth's life and works, and discusses his significance and influence. Volume Two examines Barth's relationship to various figures, movements, traditions, religions, and events while placing his thought in its theological, ecumenical, and historical context. This groundbreaking work places Barth into context alongside major figures in the history of Christian thought, presenting a critical dialogue between them. Features contributions from a diverse team of scholars, each of whom are experts in the subject. Provides new readers of Barth with an introduction to the most important questions, themes, and ideas in Barth's work. Offers experienced readers fresh insights and interpretations that enrich their scholarship. An important contribution to the field of Barth scholarship. The Wiley Blackwell Companion to Karl Barth is an indispensable resource for scholars and students interested in the work of Karl Barth, modern theology, or systematic theology.

Homeostasis and Toxicology of Non-essential Metals Chris M. Wood, Anthony Peter Farrell, Colin J. Brauner, 2012 Homeostasis and Toxicology of Non-Essential Metals synthesizes the explosion of new information on the molecular, cellular, and organismal handling of metals in fish in the past 15 years. These elements are no longer viewed by fish physiologists as heavy metals that kill fish by suffocation, but rather as interesting moieties that enter and leave fish by specific pathways which are subject to physiological regulation. The metals featured in this volume are those about which there has been most public and scientific concern, and therefore are those most widely studied by fish researchers. Metals such as Ag, Al, Cd, Pb, Hg, As, Sr, and U have no known nutritive function in fish at present but are toxic at fairly low levels. The companion volume Homeostasis and Toxicology of Essential Metals Volume 31A covers metals that are either proven to be or are strongly suspected to be essential in trace amounts yet are toxic in higher doses. Metals such as Cu, Zn, Fe, Ni, Co, Se, Mo, and Cr. In addition, three chapters in Volumes 31A and 31B on Basic Principles, Chapter 1, 31A Field Studies and Ecological Integration, Chapter 9, 31A and Modeling the Physiology and Toxicology of Metals, Chapter 9, 31B, act as integrative summaries and make these two volumes a vital set for readers. All major essential metals of interest are covered in metal-specific chapters. Each metal-specific chapter is written by fish physiologists, toxicologists who are recognized authorities for that metal. A common format is featured throughout this two-volume edition.

Ecological Impacts of Toxic Chemicals Francisco Sánchez-Bayo, Paul

J. van den Brink, Reinier M. Mann, 2011 Ecological Impacts of Toxic Chemicals presents a comprehensive yet readable account of the known disturbances caused by all kinds of toxic chemicals on both aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems. Topics cover the sources of toxicants, their fate and distribution through the planet, their impacts on specific ecosystems, and their remediation by natural systems. Each chapter is written by well-known specialists in those areas for the general public, students, and even scientists from outside this field. The book intends to raise awareness of the dangers of chemical pollution in a world dominated by industry and globalization of resources. Because the problems are widespread and far-reaching, it is hoped that confronting the facts may prompt better management practices at industrial, agricultural, and all levels of management from local to governmental so as to reduce the negative impacts of chemical contaminants on our planet.

Why and how do languages evolve? How do we understand a sentence? This book explores these questions using recent computational models that shed new light on issues related to language and cognition. The chapters in this collection propose original analyses of specific problems and develop computational models that have been tested and evaluated on real data. Featuring contributions from a diverse group of experts, this interdisciplinary book bridges the gap between natural language processing and cognitive sciences. It is divided into three sections focusing respectively on models of neural and cognitive processing, data-driven methods, and social issues in language evolution. This book will be useful to any researcher and advanced student interested in the analysis of the links between the brain and the language faculty. Evolutionary Biology of Naticid Gastropods Audrey Aronowsky, 2003 Field Guide to Owls of California and the West Hans J.

Peeters, 2007-10-09 Most owls are almost perfectly adapted to life in the dark. Their vaguely humanoid faces reflect the spectacular evolution of their hearing and vision, which has made flight, romance, and predation possible in the near absence of light. This accessible guide, full of intriguing anecdotes, covers all 19 species of owls occurring in North America. More than an identification guide, Field Guide to Owls of California and the West describes the biology and behavior of owls to make finding and identifying them easier and watching them more enjoyable. The guide also explores the conservation challenges that owls face and tells how owls provide insights to scientists working in fields from technology to health. Color plates illustrate each species. Range maps show the western distribution of North America's owls, 14 of which occur in California. Offers tips for finding and watching owls. Gives information on how to design, place, and maintain nest boxes. Describes human attitudes toward owls through history, including in Native American cultures of the West. The Living Soil Jean-Michel Gobat, Michel Aragno, Willy Matthey, 2004 This study looks at the fundamentals of soil science and soil biology, encompassing topics such as the building blocks of the soil system and bioremediation of contaminated soils
