Robert Whitman Playback:

Robert Whitman Robert Whitman, 2003 Robert Whitman Robert Whitman, 2003 One of the pioneers of performance and multimedia work constantly cited as key to the burgeoning postwar genres now considered standard fare in art galleries and museums Robert Whitman's work of the 1960s and 1970s has long been inaccessible because of its ephemeral nature This publication and the exhibition it accompanies are the first to reexamine his seminal early work begun under the influence of Allan Kaprow in the late 1950s Early performances in conjunction with fellow artists Jim Dine and Claes Oldenburg paralleled exhibitions in some of the more influential experimental galleries of the time including Hansa Reuben and Martha Jackson The 1960s saw Whitman become highly interested in multimedia projections which he incorporated into installations as well as into his increasingly elaborate performances Together with Robert Rauschenberg Billy Klier and others Whitman later spearheaded the collaborations between artists and scientists that resulted in such landmark exhibitions as Art Technology at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art in 1971 and Pavillion E A T at the Pepsi pavillion Expo 70 in Osaka Japan An incisive volume for artists and scholars interested in the major movements of the 1960s and 1970s including happenings performance theater pop art multimedia installation work and interdisciplinary collaboration

Robert Whitman, 2005 Robert Whitman : Playback : March 5, 2003 - June 2004 Robert Whitman, 2003 Trisha Brown Susan Rosenberg, 2016-11-01 Trisha Brown re shaped the landscape of modern dance with her game changing and boundary defying choreography and visual art Art historian Susan Rosenberg draws on Brown's archives as well as interviews with Brown and her colleagues to track Brown's deliberate evolutionary trajectory through the first half of her decades long career Brown has created over 100 dances six operas one ballet and a significant body of graphic works This book discusses the formation of Brown's systemic artistic principles and provides close readings of the works that Brown created for non traditional and art world settings in relation to the first body of works she created for the proscenium stage Highlighting the cognitive kinesthetic complexity that defines the making performing and watching of these dances Rosenberg uncovers the importance of composer John Cage's ideas and methods to understand Brown's contributions One of the most important and influential artists of our time Brown was the first woman choreographer to receive the coveted MacArthur Foundation Fellowship Genius Award Soft Is Fast Meredith Morse, 2023-08-15 An innovative analysis of Simone Forti's interdisciplinary art viewing her influential 1960s dance constructions as negotiating the aesthetic strategies of John Cage and Anna Halprin Simone Forti's art developed within the overlapping circles of New York City's advanced visual art dance and music of the early 1960s Her dance constructions and related works of the 1960s were important for both visual art and dance of the era Artists Robert Morris and Yvonne Rainer have both acknowledged her influence Forti seems to have kept one foot inside visual art's frames of meaning and the other outside them In Soft Is Fast Meredith Morse adopts a new way to understand Forti's work based in art historical analysis but drawing upon dance history and cultural studies and the history of American social thought Morse argues that Forti introduced a form of direct encounter that departed radically from the spectatorship proposed by Minimalism and prefigured the participatory art of recent decades Morse shows that Forti's work negotiated John Cage's ideas of sound score and theater through the unique approach to movement essentially improvisational and grounded in anatomical exploration that she learned from performer and teacher Ann later Anna Halprin Attentive to Robert Whitman's and La Monte Young's responses to Cage Forti reshaped Cage's concepts into models that could accommodate Halprin's charged spaces and imagined interpenetrative understanding of other bodies Morse considers Forti's use of sound and her affective use of materials as central to her work examines Forti's text pieces little discussed in art historical literature analyzes Huddle considered one of Forti's signature works and explicates Forti's later improvisational practice Forti has been relatively overlooked by art historians perhaps because of her work's central concern with modes of feeling and embodiment unlike other art of the 1960s which was characterized by strategies of depersonalization and affectlessness Soft Is Fast corrects this critical oversight

X-screen Matthias Michalka, Museum Moderner Kunst (Austria), 2004 For several years now film and video have determined contemporary art and exhibitions on a scale unheard of since the 1960s and 1970s but rarely have these roots themselves been explored X Screen presents a comprehensive historical analysis of expanded forms of filmic projection arranging a complex constellation of films performances and installations according to three categories First is an exploration of the expansion of the field of projection understood as part of Happenings as well as Fluxus and Pop performances Work by Robert Whitman Carolee Schneemann and USCO is discussed Second is an interrogation of the screen in terms of media analysis anti illusionism or institutional critique in the context of Structural Film and Conceptual art Film installations and multiple projections are especially relevant here including work by Valie Export Michael Snow and Peter Weibel And third is a consideration of post minimalist explorations of the relationship between the media image and physical space as seen in the work of Dan Graham Bruce Nauman Dennis Oppenheim and others

The Experience Machine Gloria Sutton, 2015-02-13 An argument that the collaborative multimedia projects produced by Stan VanDerBeek in the 1960s and 1970s anticipate contemporary new media and participatory art practices In 1965 the experimental filmmaker Stan VanDerBeek 1927 1984 unveiled his Movie Drome made from the repurposed top of a grain silo VanDerBeek envisioned Movie Drome as the prototype for a communications system a global network of Movie Dromes linked to orbiting satellites that would store and transmit images With networked two way communication Movie Dromes were meant to ameliorate technology's alienating impulse In The Experience Machine Gloria Sutton views VanDerBeek known mostly for his experimental animated films as a visual artist committed to the radical aesthetic sensibilities he developed during his studies at Black Mountain College She argues that VanDerBeek's collaborative multimedia projects of the 1960s and 1970s sometimes characterized as Expanded Cinema with their emphases on transparency of process and audience engagement anticipate contemporary art's new media installation and participatory practices VanDerBeek saw Movie Drome not as pure cinema but as a communication tool an experience machine In her close reading of the work Sutton argues that Movie Drome can be understood as a programmable interface She describes the immersive experience of Movie Drome which emphasized multi sensory experience over the visual display strategies deployed in the work the Poemfield computer generated short films and VanDerBeek s interest unique for the time in telecommunications and computer processing as a future model for art production Sutton argues that visual art as a direct form of communication is a feedback mechanism which turns on a set of relations not a technology

Between the Black Box and the White Cube Andrew V. Uroskie,2014-02-27 Today the moving image is ubiquitous in global contemporary art The first book to tell the story of the postwar expanded cinema that inspired this omnipresence Between the Black Box and the White Cube travels back to the 1950s and 1960s when the rise of television caused movie theaters to lose their monopoly over the moving image leading cinema to be installed directly alongside other forms of modern art Explaining that the postwar expanded cinema was a response to both developments Andrew V Uroskie argues that rather than a formal or technological innovation the key change for artists involved a displacement of the moving image from the familiarity of the cinematic theater to original spaces and contexts He shows how newly available inexpensive film and video technology enabled artists such as Nam June Paik Robert Whitman Stan VanDerBeek Robert Breer and especially Andy Warhol to become filmmakers Through their efforts to explore a fresh way of experiencing the moving image these artists sought to reimagine the nature and possibilities of art in a post cinematic age and helped to develop a novel space between the black box of the movie theater and the white cube of the art gallery Packed with over one hundred illustrations Between the Black Box and the White Cube is a compelling look at a seminal moment in the cultural life of the moving image and its emergence in contemporary art
