Robert Ryman Suzanne Perling Hudson, 2009 In this first book length study of Robert Ryman Suzanne Hudson traces the artist's production from his first paintings in the early 1950s many of which have never been exhibited or reproduced to his more recent gallery shows Ryman's largely white on white paintings represent his careful working over of painting's conventions at their most radically reduced Through close readings of the work Hudson casts Ryman as a painter for whom painting was conducted as a continuous personal investigation Ryman's method an act of learning by doing as well as his conception of painting as used paint set him apart from second generation abstract expressionists minimalists or conceptualists Hudson's chapters Primer Paint Support Edge and Wall named after the most basic elements of the artist's work eloquently explore Ryman's ongoing experiment in what makes a painting a painting Ryman's work Hudson argues tests the medium's material and conceptual possibilities It neither signals the end of painting nor guarantees its continued longevity but keeps the prospect of painting an open question answerable only through the production of new paintings From publisher description Robert Ryman , Robert Ryman Robert Ryman, Stedelijk Museum (Amsterdam), 1974

Robert Ryman Robert Ryman, Peter Blum Gallery, 2004 The works in this exhibition catalogue record the time when Robert Ryman then in his early twenties was formulating his disciplined approach to painting On off white and translucent materials including wallpaper a circular coffee filter newsprint and mylar Ryman drew tooled brushed and pressed his marks using a flat table to support the work His decision to use the square as a consistent format for non narrative work was set and while he sporadically used color in these earliest works he subsequently chose white almost exclusively in the process of eliminating all that was superfluous to a painting Robert Ryman Pace Gallery, 2013 Robert Ryman Robert Ryman, Dieter Schwarz, Jeffrey Kastner, 2024-11-19 An extensive look at Robert Ryman's formative work from the early 1960s as well as his last series of paintings In the 1960s Robert Ryman began to firmly establish the broad parameters of his radical and inventive practice While he initially gained recognition for work he made in the late 1960s and early 1970s his earlier paintings have remained less widely seen This publication includes representative works of all facets of Ryman's painterly practice during this time influenced by his career as a jazz musician including his use of thick impasto brushstrokes on both stretched and unstretched canvas heavily or sparsely worked paintings in both small and large formats and a group of rarely seen works on raw linen each featuring one or several seemingly complete independent compositions Many of these works feature subtle suggestions of colorful underpainting that leave an outsized effect on the viewing experience while in other works Ryman's assertive use of green red and blue intensifies the visual presence of the various white tones Revealing the breadth of Ryman's work this catalogue also includes a selection of drawings many of which were made concurrently with the early works as well as his last paintings The final canvases demonstrate the inexhaustible and probing nature of Ryman's singular approach to painting over his five decade career The details reveal the visual presence of various white tones
