alternative identities and their oscillation between remembered and anticipated states Graham Huggan offers a provocative account of what is happening to travel at a time characterized by extremes of social and political instability in which adrenaline filled travelers appear correspondingly determined to take risks It includes discussions of the links between tourism and terrorism of contemporary modes of disaster tourism and of the writing that derives from these but it also confirms the existence of more responsible forms of travel writing that demonstrate awareness of a chronically endangered world Extreme Pursuits is the first study of its kind to link travel writing explicitly with structural changes in the global tourist industry The book makes clear that travel writing can no longer take refuge in the classic distinctions traveler versus tourist foreigner versus native on which it previously depended Such distinctions which were dubious in the first place no longer make sense in an increasingly globalized world Huggan argues accordingly that the category travel writing must include experimental ethnography and prose fiction that it should concern itself with other kinds of travel practices such as those related to Holocaust deportation and migrant labor and that it should encompass representations of travelers and traveling cultures that appear in popular media especially TV and film Graham Huggan is Professor of Commonwealth and Postcolonial Literatures at the University of Leeds He is the coauthor with Patrick Holland of Tourists with Typewriters Critical Reflections on Contemporary Travel Writing University of Michigan Press and coauthor with Helen Tiffin of Postcolonial Ecocriticism Routledge Illustration Shadow Wall 2006 Shaun Tan
