REVIEWS An interesting and insightful collection of thoughts about the urgency of vision how audiences work together with artists to enact the bodily labour of seeing and understanding and how politics and the performative can be embedded in the material presence of art Dr FIONA BRADLEY DIRECTOR FRUITMARKET GALLERY In her observant close readings of artists practices and interviews with artists Sarah Lowndes shows how artists themselves have navigated this territory giving attention to the question of politics from the perspective both of theory and of the artwork itself

Dieter Roth souvenirs Dieter Roth, 2011. Art polymath extraordinaire Dieter Roth (1930–1998) maintained throughout his career an output so prodigious and various that art historians and fans are still struggling to keep up. Bringing innovations to media such as installation, sculpture, artist's books, jewelry, and writing, Roth also traveled and collaborated extensively, becoming one of the postwar art scene's most visible personalities. Roth kept a close circle of artist friends with whom he collaborated and to whom he made regular gifts of works that he named Souvenirs. These friends included Richard Hamilton, Dorothy Iannone, Hans Jörg Mayer, Martin Suter, and Jan Voss, and the gifts included works of mail art, which Roth would gleefully subject to the vicissitudes of the postal system. Has it arrived yet? Voss recalls Roth asking him of one such gift: Has it already been nicely destroyed? Dieter Roth Souvenirs is the first presentation of these works. Publisher description.

Psychology and Philosophy of Abstract Art Paul M.W. Hackett, 2016-05-25. This book examines how we perceive and understand abstract art in contrast to artworks that represent reality. Philosophical, psychological, and neuroscience research, including the work of philosopher Paul Crowther, are considered, and out of these approaches a complex model is developed to account for this experience. The understanding embodied in this model is rooted in facet theory, mapping sentences and partially ordered analyses which together provide a comprehensive understanding of the perceptual experience of abstract art. Modern Times: British Prints, 1913–1939 Jennifer Farrell, 2021-10-20. The bold graphic images made by artists affiliated with Vorticism, British Futurism, and the Grosvenor School of Modern Art capture the optimism and anxiety of early twentieth-century Britain. This richly illustrated volume features rare British prints from the Leslie and Johanna Garfield collection, dating between 1913 and 1939, a period marked by two world wars, a global pandemic, the Great Depression, and the rise of Fascism and Communism, but also new technologies, women's suffrage, and a growing focus on public access to art. Essays explore how artists turned to printmaking to alleviate trauma, memorialize their wartime experiences, and capture the aspirations and fears of the twenties and thirties. At the heart of the catalogue are the colorful linocuts made by artists associated with London's celebrated Grosvenor School. The visually striking compositions by Sybil Andrews, Claude Flight,

Cyril E Power and Lill Tschudi among others convey the vitality of quotidian life during the machine age
