Clarke,Annngret Simms,2017-07-14 This volume is based on possibly the biggest single Europe wide project in urban history In 1955 the International Commission for the History of Towns established the European historic towns atlas project in accordance with a common scheme in order to encourage comparative urban studies Although advances in urban archaeology since the 1960s have highlighted the problematic relationship between the oldest extant town plan and the actual origins of a town the large scale cadastral maps as they have been made available by the European historic towns atlas project are still necessary if we want to understand the evolution of the physical form of our towns By 2014 the project consisted of over 500 individual publications from over 18 different countries across Europe Each atlas comprises at least a core map at the scale of 1:2500 analytical maps and an explanatory text The time has come to use this enormous database that has been compiled over the last 40 years This volume itself based on a conference related to this topic that was held in the Royal Irish Academy in Dublin in 2006 takes up this challenge The focus of the volume is on the question of how seigneurial power influenced the creation of towns in medieval Europe and of how this process in turn influenced urban form Part I of the volume addresses two major issues the history of the use of town plans in urban research and the methodological challenges of comparative urban history Parts II and III constitute the core of the book focusing on the dynamic relationship between lordship and town planning in the core area of medieval Europe and on the periphery In Part IV the symbolic meaning of town plans for medieval people is discussed Part V consists of critical contributions by an archaeologist an art historian and an historical geographer By presenting case studies by leading researchers from different European countries this volume combines findings that were hitherto not available in English A comparison of the English and German bibliographies attached to this volume reveals some interesting insights as to how the focus of research shifted over time The book also shows how work on urban topography integrates the approaches of the historian archaeologist and historical geographer The narrative of medieval urbanization becomes enriched and the volume is a genuine contribution to European studies

Europe, Its Past and Present Condition, Being a Comprehensive Manual of European Geography and History ... Franz Heinrich Ungewitter, 1854 Peter the Great Paul

Bushkovitch, 2001-09-27 A narrative of the fifty years of political struggles at the Russian court 1671-1725 This book shows how Peter the Great was not the all powerful tsar working alone to reform Russia but that he colluded with powerful and contentious aristocrats in order to achieve his goals After the early victory of Peter's boyar supporters in the 1690s Peter turned against them and tried to rule through favourites an experiment which ended in the establishment of a decentralized aristocratic administration followed by an equally aristocratic Senate in 1711 The aristocrats' hegemony came to an end in the wake of the affair of Peter's son Tsarevich Aleksei in 1718 After that moment Peter ruled through a complex group of favourites a few aristocrats and appointees promoted through merit and carried out his most long lasting reforms The outcome was a new balance of power at the centre and a new European conception of politics The Sketch , 1901 revised updated and extended to include the momentous developments of 2020 this fourth edition of Peter Rietbergen's highly acclaimed Europe A Cultural History is a major and original contribution to the study of Europe. The book examines the structures of culture in this part of Eurasia from the beginnings of human settlement on to the genesis of agricultural society of greater polities of urban systems and the slow transitions that resulted in a post industrial society and the individualistic mass culture of the present. Using both economic and socio political analytical concepts the volume outlines cultural continuity and change in Europe through the lenses of literature the arts science technology and music to show the continent's ever changing identities. In a highly readable style it expertly contextualizes such diverse and wide ranging topics as Celtic society the Roman legal system the oppositions between elite and popular culture in pre industrial Europe Michelangelo's world view the interaction between the Enlightenment and Romanticism the growth of a society of time and money the appeal of fascism and other totalitarian ideologies and the ways the songs of Sting express late twentieth century thinking. Structured both chronologically and thematically the text is distinctive in the attention consistently paid to the many ways Europe has been formed through its contacts with non European cultures especially those of Asia and the Americas. This edition concludes with an epilogue that discusses the ways Europe's recent past including the long term efforts at further unification and the various forms of opposition against it has been both interpreted and misinterpreted the importance of globalization and the major challenges facing Europe in the present amongst which are the consequences of the pandemic of 2020. With a wide selection of illustrations maps excerpts from primary sources and even lyrics from contemporary songs to support its arguments the text remains the definitive cultural history of Europe for both the general reader and students of European history and culture.
