The Red Sea Region between War and Reconciliation Shaul Shay, 2019-08-02 The Red Sea is one of the world's most important trade routes, a theater of power struggle among local, regional, and global powers. Military and political developments continue to impact on the geostrategic landscape of the region in the context of its trade thoroughfare for Europe, China, Japan, and India. Freedom of navigation is a strategic interest for Egypt and essential for Israel's economic ties with Asia. Superpower confrontation is inevitable. China, the US, France, Japan, and Saudi Arabia have military bases in Djibouti. US strategy seeks to curb Chinese economic influence and Russian political interference in the region through diplomacy and investment. And at the centre of US alliances is the war on terror, still prevalent in the Middle East and East Africa. Islamic terror groups, Al Shabaab in Somalia and Kenya, Al Qaeda of the Arab Peninsula in Yemen, and the Islamic State in Egypt. The civil war in Yemen has become the arena for Iran and Saudi Arabia's struggle for regional hegemony. Saudi Arabia's Sunni Arab coalition have been fighting Iranian-backed Shiite Houthi rebels to a stalemate. December 2018. In 2016, Egypt ceded Saudi Arabia the Tiran and Sanafir Islands, the narrow sea passages between the Sinai and Arabian peninsulas, giving control of the entire length of the Red Sea. This and other perceived positive geostrategic developments have to be offset by the nuclearization of the Red Sea basin, directed in part by Russian foreign policy, and the dangers of multiple country military deployments in the hubs of radical Islam and terrorism potential. A stable future for the region cannot be taken for granted. And as alliances shift and change, so will Israel's foreign policy and strategic partnerships have to adjust.
