American Politics and the Law

Introduction : Constitutional foundations.

1. Myths and realities

Many of the most widely held myths about American government concern the American Constitution and its Framers. Because the US Constitution plays such a significant role in the American system we can begin our exploration of American politics by focusing on the myths and the realities associated with this document.

There are many myths about the Framers of the Constitution, some are very flattering. For instance one commentator called the Framers "the most distinguished group which has ever gathered on this continent". Others have painted a less flattering picture of the Framers as a gathering of anti-Democratic and self-serving members of America's elite.

What is the reality behind these pictures of the framers? Who were these men? We know there were 55 of them, they began arriving in Philadelphia in May 1787, they are also called the Founding Fathers among them were merchants, physicians, bankers, planters and soldiers, their average age was 43, with the youngest at 26 (Jonathan Dayton of New Jersey) and the oldest Benjamin Franklin at 81. Over half were trained in the law and more than 2/3 had served in the Continental Congress which had governed the new nation during the Revolutionary War.

That summer they took part in a rare moment of decisive political creation they applied their knowledge and rare experience of government to the design of a new constitution.

The meeting in Philadelphia was convened because many of the country's political leaders saw the national government under the Articles of Confederation as not strong enough to cope with the young republic's problems.

Their goal was to revise the inadequacies of the Articles of Confederation. Written in 1777 and ratified in 1781 as America's first constitution the Articles of Confederation had established a loose union of States and a National Congress with few powers. By 1787 it was clear to many officials that the national government under the Articles could not conduct an effective foreign policy; even worse was the confederation's inability to deal with the nation's financial problems. (under the Articles the National Congress had no power to tax)

The delegates, mostly well-educated and wealthy, included at least two men of international reputation George Washington and Benjamin Franklin.

A popular and imposing figure, George Washington was unanimously elected to chair the meeting, he was a general of 50 years old and he contributed little to the conventions' debates but could enforce its strict rules because the delegates feared his anger.

Benjamin Franklin was well regarded by the other delegates and many constantly sought his opinions. At 81 years of age, even if his physical powers were failing him, and despite being well prepared for the meetings, he was not always attentive during the conventions' debates and rarely spoke. Nevertheless his influence helped in the eventual adoption of the document.

During the final days of the Convention he expressed his support by noting that "whenever a group of men are gathered to write a Constitution, you inevitably assemble with
